THE FACES of the UNIVERSITY

We have come to college to form a new identity

To engrave our name on a sidewalk

Trying Desperately to Understand

We create with sensitivity and precision.

We approach the challenge with determination, plunder its riches,

and then leave it to meet and exploit the new ones.

Turning from our intellectual chaos, we transform our academic energies into something that also gives us a deep satisfaction —

And that is . . .

Performance and Participation

We compete.
And though a score may deny it,
we never lose —
For we have pocketed just one more experience that will help us grow.

A Precious Moment is Snatched, and we are alone with our thoughts.

Our tarnished individuality seeks light in a place of seclusion.

Dwelling in one corner of our hearts are the refreshing moments of college days.
These are the ones that we memorize,
And relive again and again and again.

But through our good times and our struggle for depth,
we are lonely, and

Oneday

Somehow

We met — and we knew.

Yesterday, Today, Tomorrow . . .

with only a dream and the winds of time,
we can fleet back these hoisted memories —

These hours of today . . .

Division 1

Administration

Governor Orval E. Faubus reviewed with Governor-Elect Winthrop Rockefeller the progress made in education during his 12-year tenure of office.

Win Rockefeller Elected Governor

Winthrop Rockefeller, Arkansas' first Republican governor in 94 years, is perhaps best known as a cattleman and for his work as first chairman of the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission.

Thousands of Arkansans have visited his Winrock Farms atop Petit Jean Mountain near Morrilton. When he resigned after eight years as AIDC chairman in 1964 to run for governor, more than 600 new industrial plants had been established and some 90,000 new jobs had been created.

Through scholarships of the Rockwin Fund and the Arkansas Opportunity Fund, and through direct grants to various colleges and schools throughout the state,

Mr. Rockefeller has given millions of dollars to education in Arkansas.

Citing the need for a two-party system, he never stopped campaigning between his unsuccessful race for governor in 1964 and his election two years later.

Governor Rockefeller's first legislative session was stormy, but productive. The groundwork was laid for sweeping reforms through establishment of commissions to study the State Constitution, the penal system and governmental efficiency. Approval of a new Department of Administration and enactment of what is probably the nation's most far-reaching Freedom of Information Act were among important measures approved during the first months of his administration.

WINTHROP ROCKEFELLER — GOVERNOR OF ARKANSAS

Orval E. Faubus
Governor of Arkansas
Six Terms

“I Have Fought The Good Fight . . .”

I am pleased to have had a part in the progress made by the University (and Education in general) during my administration. In that 12-year period, improvements included the following:

- University budget tripled
- Enrollment more than doubled
- Budget for Medical center approved
- Creation of Graduate Institute of Technology

Construction included:

- Modern dressing rooms for Athletic Department
- Animal Science Center
- Science Center (which alone added 25% to the floor space of the Fayetteville campus)
- Acquisition of new land, building of new dormitories, etc.

- New seats and new press box at stadiums Fayetteville and Little Rock

Best wishes for continued progress of the University of Arkansas.

New Building Program Approved

The political overtones of a state university were evident as President Mullins talked with State Representative Rossco Brown.

This year's Board of Trustees was composed of ten members, appointed by the Governor of the State of Arkansas for terms of ten years, on a staggered basis. Board members served without pay, except for per diem on traveling expenses. Every month members arrived at the University from all points of the state to attend their meetings. They spent a great deal of time away from their own businesses and devoted up to a third of their own time to the University.

The Board was composed of many prominent leaders in business and professional occupations, including physicians, lawyers, and agriculturalists. Members approved all major policy decisions of the University. All present members of the Board were appointed by Governor Faubus during his terms in office.

Robert A. Young, Jr., D. P. Raney, Chairman, Fred M. Pickens, Jr., Roy C. Ritter, and Leon B. Catlett.

Mullins Plans Increased Construction

David Wiley Mullins was born in Ash Flat, Arkansas and graduated with honors from the UofA in 1931. He earned his M.A. degree at the University of Colorado and his Doctor of Education Degree at Columbia University. He also received an Honorary Doctor of Laws Degree from Hendrix College.

Dr. Mullins has led a distinguished career in the field of education as both teacher and administrator. Before returning to the University in 1960, he held various positions at Alabama Polytechnical Institute, College of Education. He served as Research Professor of Education and as Executive Vice President at Auburn University for eleven years.

During his past six years of service to the University, President Mullins has done much to improve the institution. Enrollment has increased steadily, the school has embarked on a $50 million expansion program, and extensive growth has occurred in many other areas. For the future, the outlook is even brighter. In his annual report, the President revealed that during 1967 a graduate education building, an undergraduate science building, and the University's first administration building will be placed under construction.

One of the crucial problems of the future with which Dr. Mullins will deal will be "attracting and holding an outstanding faculty," even though the majority of faculty members recruited last year had their doctorate degrees.

James E. Pomfret
Vice-President for Business
Secretary to the Board of Trustees

Acting Vice-President for Academic Affairs, Virgil W. Adkisson.

Dr. James W. Green

Storm Whaley
Vice-President for Health Sciences

Vice Presidents Direct Expansion

Five Vice-Presidents assisted Dr. Mullins in the execution, direction and administration of the University. They were the Administrative Vice-President, and the Vice-Presidents for Academic Affairs, Business, Agriculture, and Health Sciences.

The Administrative Vice-President, Dr. James W. Green, assisted the President in the general administration of the University. He developed the budget in cooperation with the Vice-President for Business, he coordinated campus planning, and he developed and conducted institutional wide studies.

James E. Pomfret, Vice-President for Business, was the Secretary to the Board of Trustees. He was responsible for the financial and business operations of the University.

The Vice-President for Health Sciences was Storm Whaley. His responsibilities were for the administration of the University Medical Center, and for instruction, research, and public service programs in medicine, pharmacy, nursing, and x-ray technology.

The responsibilities of the Vice-President for Agriculture, Dr. John W. White, were for the development and administration of the instruction, research and public service programs in the field of Agriculture. Through Dr. White the University fulfilled its responsibilities in Agriculture as the land grant institution for Arkansas.

Dr. Virgil W. Adkisson, Acting Vice-President for Academic Affairs, was responsible for the instruction and research programs of the University.

Dr. John W. White, Vice-President for Agriculture.

Registrar—Focal Point of University

Carter A. Short, Registrar, opened the doors to the University.

The Office of the Registrar was the focal point for all academic objectives of the University. General rules and regulations were not formulated in this department, but were applied and enforced by it. It was the responsibility of this Office, for example, to require that each graduate have credit for courses in American History and Junior English.

The duties of the Registrar were divided into three divisions: Admissions, Registration, and Records. Through its admissions function, the Office acted on all applications from freshmen, graduate, and transfer students. It maintained a close relationship with high schools throughout the state in order to articulate the change between high school and college. The Office was also responsible for registration each semester.

Another main duty of the Registrar was record-keeping. All transcripts have been recorded since 1871. They have been microfilmed and locked in various locations so as to eliminate the complete destruction of such records by fire or theft.

The Office of the Registrar was headed by Carter A. Short. He was assisted by Wally Ingalls, director of all phases of graduation, by Dr. E. E. Lee, director of freshman and transfer admissions, and by J. B. Kellar, director of registration, graduate admissions, and veterans.

Assisting in the evaluation of a student's transcript were the Assistant Registrars, J. B. Kellar, E. E. Lee, and Wallie Ingalls.

Heading the Division was George A. Yourick, Acting Dean of Students.

Anne G. Thompson, Dean of Women, directed and coordinated all phases of the co-educational activities held on the campus.

The Division of Student Affairs

Acting Dean of Men, Frank C. Michel, planned and implemented a program to supplement the classroom experiences of men students.

Under the supervision of the Dean of Students, The Division of Student Affairs was responsible for all activities of students outside the classroom. The department sought to coordinate these student activities with those of the University as a whole, through its direct association with all phases of student government and through its operation of the Student Counseling Service, Food Services, Placement Office, Book Store, Infirmary, Student Union, financial aid, and part-time employment service.

Student government was emphasized and assisted by all members of the Division of Student Affairs. Participation in such aspects of government as the Student Senate, Associated Students, Inter-Fraternity Council, Panhellenic Council, Men's Interhall Council, Inter-House Congress, Women's Interhall Council, and Off Campus Men and Women was encouraged. The Division desired that student government take its rightful position on campus, to enable all students to have as much a voice as possible in all student affairs.

In addition to the above duties, the Division was also responsible for working with all student organizations on campus in terms of student morale, welfare, and discipline.

Staffed with many highly qualified personnel, the Division of Student Affairs included, among others, the Acting Dean of Students, George Yourick, the Acting Dean of Men, Frank C. Michel, the Dean of Women, Anne G. Thompson, the Coordinator of Student Aid, Ralph T. Simpson, and some of the best looking secretaries in the entire University.

Assistant Dean of Men, Thomas Wyrick, discussed programs with Assistant Dean of Women, Miss Grace Vineyard.

Coordinators of Campus Activities

John Shockley, S.U. supervisor, coordinated all activities.

"Among the most important years in a person's life are those spent at college. Attitudes and standards of behavior are formed, and future plans are made. The Division of Student Affairs strives, through group and individual counseling, to assist students in establishing and working toward meaningful goals. An effort is also made to assist students who have exhibited problems of adjustment so that they might restructure their values, attitudes, and behavior and become productive individuals," stated Acting Dean Frank C. Michel.

In carrying out its duties, the Division of Student Affairs employed many well-qualified personnel. Acting Dean of Students, George Yourick, received his degrees from the University of New Mexico and came to the University from the University of California, at Berkeley, where he was Assistant Dean of Students. This year he headed the Division and was the coordinator of religious affairs.

Assisting Dean Yourick was Dean of Women, Anne G. Thompson, who received her M.S. and Ed. D. degrees from Indiana University. She directed and coordinated all phases of the coed campus activity, ably assisted by Assistant Dean of Women, Grace Vineyard.

Acting Dean of Men, Frank C. Michel received his B.S. from Washington State University and his M.A. from the UofA. He had the responsibility for the fraternity program, the foreign student program, and all programs for male students outside the classroom. He was assisted by Assistant Dean of Men, Thomas Wyrick.

Coordinator of Student Aid, Col. Ralph T. Simpson, assisted by Mrs. McAllister considered all requests for financial aid.

Much scenery was found in the Division of Student Affairs: for example the secretaries, Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Mitchell, and Mrs. Doughty.

Glenn W. Hardy, Dean of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics, was a favorite among his students and an asset to the college.

Agriculture and Home Economics

This teacher gained much experience from reading to the children — "See Spot run!"

Technology Provides Future Food

As Arkansas' leader in the field of agriculture and home economics, the Division of Agriculture played a major role in the economic development of the state through resident teaching, research, and extension.

Situated within this division, the College of Agriculture had a steady increase in enrollment. Agriculture students of the college were exposed to basic training in the physical, biological, and social sciences, humanities, communications, and technical courses. Students in home economics enrolled in either electives or the teacher-education curriculum.

Increasing emphasis was placed upon research and experimentation. In the new Animal Sciences Building and Plant Physiology Lab, much evidence of the very technical nature of agriculture was seen. New equipment was continually added to the existing facilities, making possible scientific experimentation, such as the measuring of plant respiration. Not all research was performed in the lab, however, for the operation of the farm by the Division of Agriculture afforded additional opportunities for study.

With a highly qualified staff (of which no member held below a Master's Degree) and excellent research facilities, the education available in this college was one of the finest in the nation.

It was "udderly" amazing to watch this cow give her daily milk.

Continually emphasizing research and experimentation, the College encouraged instructors and students to use the modern facilities available.

The College of Arts and Sciences

As I sat there nothing happened. So I concentrated, yet nothing happened. Then I moved and it came to me.

Through a wide variety of fine arts courses, the students learned to express themselves in music, art, dramatics and dance.

The college with the largest number of students and problems was the College of Arts and Sciences. Under the able administration of Dean Robert F. Kruh and his assistant, Robert S. Fairchild, the college trained students in areas of scientific and cultural learning.

The greatest problem faced by the College of Arts and Sciences was that of growth. The staff and the budget did not grow at the same rate. However, steps were constantly made to relieve the growing pains of the college.

One of the most outstanding features of the College was its Honors Program. This program enables superior students to study with other honor students in small groups. In these sections, students dealt further and more deeply into subject matter than in regular sections.

The College of Arts and Sciences offered a four-year curricula leading to the degrees of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, Bachelor of Music, and a five-year curriculum leading to the degree of Bachelor of Architecture.

With a student increase of seventeen percent over last year's eight percent increase, the College of Arts and Sciences will be looking forward to a new building program in the near future.

Assistant Dean Robert S. Fairchild carefully explained the advantages of registering correctly the first time to an attentive student.

Increased Enrollment By 17 Percent

Dean Robert F. Kruh, an asset to the college, announced he would resign effective June 31.

Acting Dean Merwyn G. Bridenstine was continually busy throughout the day but always found time to discuss a student's problems.

College of Business Administration

The purpose of the College of Business Administration was to prepare the student to enter positions of responsibility and leadership in the business world. As a member of the American Association of Collegiate Schools of Business, the college promoted the highest standards of business education. It offered a variety of courses in the fields of marketing, management, accounting, taxation, labor, transportation, insurance, statistics, economics, finance, and business education, and the college boasted of its well equipped laboratories and up-to-date library of financial, economic, and business publications.

Incorporated in BA were two research bureaus. The Bureau of Business and Economic Research dealt with improving the teaching effectiveness of the college and with bettering the economic conditions existing in the state. Another part of the college, the Industrial Research and Extension Center, worked closely with the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission in research directed towards assisting the industrial development of Arkansas. This agency being established within the College of Business Administration was a new approach to solving the problem of state industrial development, and because of its effectiveness this procedure has been copied by other states throughout the nation. The Center has become a major educational and fact-finding arm of the College.

Seniors and graduate students kept a close watch on job placement bulletin boards.

Educated Future Business Leaders

During the year, the necessity of learning to type accurately became apparent to many B.A. majors, but few males enrolled in the course.

Assistant Dean Robert M. Roelfs discussed the many facets of practice teaching with this coed, who will soon be faced with the job.

The College of Education

Dean Henry W. Kronenberg donated much of his time to the betterment of Education.

Today's Educated = Tomorrow's Educators

Under the direction of Dean Henry W. Kronenberg and assistant Dean Robert M. Roelfs, the College of Education strived to prepare students for the teaching profession. The college offered certification in the areas of counseling, supervision, and school administration.

In cooperation with the Graduate School of the University, the College of Education offered advanced work in education leading to degrees of Master of Education and Doctor of Education.

The Teachers' Placement Bureau was another advantage offered to students through the college. This bureau cooperated with the faculty in filling vacancies with qualified teachers.

Kappa Delta Pi was an honor society of special interest to the students in the College of Education. Through this society, high scholarship was rewarded. Other departmental organizations included the Elementary Club, P.E.M. Club, the Secondary Club and Student N.E.A.

The Teacher Education program at the University has been accredited by the State Board of Education. The program of the College has also been accredited by the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education.

Bewilderment was a common emotion of most practice teachers.

These kids were eager to learn all of the "Facts" but, for some reason, they remembered only the four letter words.

The College of Engineering

Atop the Science Engineering Building was a radio "shack" where the men went to work and the girls went to "?".

Always emphasizing research and experimentation, the College encouraged students to use the modern facilities available.

One of the fastest growing colleges of the University has been the College of Engineering, due to the fact that engineering has become one of the most important and most rewarding professions. The University has many plans for expansion of this college in the near future to meet the demands of more students. The enrollment in the College of Engineering increased by ten percent this year.

Curriculums accredited by the Engineers Council for Professional Development were offered by the College of Engineering. Bachelor of Science degrees were offered in areas of Agricultural Engineering, Electrical Engineering, Mechanical Engineering, Industrial Engineering, and Chemical Engineering.

Some students in engineering arranged with the Fayetteville Flying Service for flight training to accompany their work in engineering.

The Engineering Experiment Station, established by an act of the Board of Trustees of the University, made investigations and studied engineering problems of general interest to the people of Arkansas. The station collected technical data and supplied information which aided in the development, use, and conservation of the state's natural resources and which perhaps will increase the efficiency, safety, and economy of the industries of the state. The Dean of the College of Engineering was George F. Branigan.

Backs Flight Training Programs

Robert F. Branigan has served the College of Engineering as Dean since 1941.

Assistant Dean James J. Hudson discussed the Fellowship Program with a graduate student, who was working on her Ph.D. in English.

The University's Graduate School

Since its organization under the Land-Grant Act, the Graduate School has increased more in proportion than any other school of the University. Since 1956 the enrollment has increased almost six times over what it was previously, and in order to maintain this high enrollment, plans have been formulated to strengthen the Ph.D. program. This year twenty Ph.D. degrees and a doctor of Education degree were offered. Within the next three years a Graduate School of Social Work will be added.

This year's Graduate faculty was drawn from the regular faculty, members who qualified for graduate teaching. The Graduate Council was made up of one member from each major division of the University.

Fellowship programs offered to University graduate students included those under the National Science Foundation, the National Defense Education Act, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration and the Humanities Foundation Program.

Virgil W. Adkisson was the dean of Graduate School and also served as research coordinator and Acting Academic Vice-President. The Assistant Dean was James J. Hudson.

Master's degrees offered in the Graduate School's program of advanced study were: Master of Arts, Master of Fine Arts, Master of Science, Master of Music, Master of Business Administration, and Master of Education.

Dean Virgil W. Adkisson served as Acting Academic Vice President.

Research played a major part in the science program of the Graduate School.

Strengthens the Ph.D. Program

Many hours of intensive training in lab were required of those graduate students working toward a masters degree in Science.

Dean Ralph C. Barnhart contributed much of his time and talents to make the School of Law one of the finest in the country.

The University's School of Law

Students reviewed Arkansas statutes in preparation for law classes.

Examines Love, Larceny, and Escebedo

Established in the fall of 1924, the School of Law offered a course of study designed to prepare the student for the practice of law, or to seek employment with the government or private business. It also offered a program of continuing legal education to practicing lawyers which informed them of the newest developments in law.

Students enrolled in the School were offered a three year course leading toward a Bachelor of Laws degree. They were assisted continually by pre-law advisors under the pre-law advisory committee. Many modern facilities were available to the student. Included among these were the modern library and spacious classrooms of Waterman Hall.

Much practical experience was offered by the Law School through its operation of the Student Court, Moot Court, and third-year practice court. All law students were required to complete assignments in the preparation of appellate briefs and in oral arguments of appellate cases. Additional experience was gained through participation in the trial of jury cases. Various stages of the trial were demonstrated with students participating under the guidance of an instructor. In the future, more emphasis will be placed upon this useful experience and the Moot Court will be more improved for the law student to gain experience.

Like all law students, Denver Thornton was a library "book-worm."

U of A Medical Center at Little Rock

Eat, Sleep and Study were the main pastimes of the students at the University Medical School in Little Rock.

Students spent what seemed to be a lifetime, with their eyes peering into a microscope, watching tiny molecules.

The University of Arkansas Medical School, located in Little Rock and composed of a completely modern multi-million dollar complex, included the School of Medicine, the School of Pharmacy, and the clinical and practical divisions of the School of Nursing. It provided a 450-bed teaching hospital, an out-patient clinic, and a medical education wing. Research programs were housed in the T. H. Barton Institute for Medical Research.

In affiliation with the Veterans Administration Hospitals in Little Rock and North Little Rock, the medical school students were able to utilize the beds for teaching purposes. This year thousands of patients were examined and treated.

Also included in the School of Medicine were the School of X-Ray Technology and the School of Medical Technology.

The Dean of the School of Medicine was Dr. Winston K. Shorey.

A "home-away-from-home" for all med students was this complex, composed of a hospital, dormitory, cafeteria, and student union.

Two students, just out of anatomy class, searched through the Student Union for specimens.

Division 2

Personalities

Personalities endured long cold winter months. U of A. coeds take a break from monotonous class schedule to frolic in a crisp snowball fight.

Student Government Lays Foundation

It was a period of transition for student government at the university.

Tom Lea was elected as President, Kent Burnett was elected as Vice-President, Jack McNulty as Treasurer and Susan Matthews as Secretary. The four attempted to fulfill the campaign platform promises that they had made. How well did they fare?

Some called Lea's administration a failure; some said that he came close to establishing an effective student government. Perhaps it is most accurate to say that Lea laid a foundation for succeeding administration to build on.

The Campus Radio Station didn't go on the air but the only major obstacle remaining to be solved is the lack of space. Much of the credit for development of the plan belongs, of course, to Bill Keadle — a virtual one-man committee.

Many felt the same frustration as "Poor Ol-Charlie" who couldn't get off the MTA, except that students never could get on any transit system (unless they rode on Mack McLarty's mini-train during the campaigning). But, again, the essential preliminary work has been done, although some barriers — finances, administrative approval, faculty resistance — still remain to be overcome.

On the other hand, Lea did make some solid gains in certain areas. A long-needed office for student government was finally acquired. The discount committee, headed by Chuck Banks, convinced four Fayetteville firms to sign contracts which allowed 15% price reduction for students. The entertainment committee returned $2,000 to the student government budget. Lea and McNulty won an additional $2500 appropriation from the administration.

The housing department, headed by Jamie Newton, initiated a survey on apartments. Lea supported a bill in the state legislature to lower Arkansas' voting age requirements — a bill which was narrowly defeated in committee.

Some of the major gripes heard about Lea's administration was that there was a lack of communication among all the group concerned with student government, inactivity on vital issues dealing with student riots, and lack of leadership in key areas.

It was a year of evolution for student government. Nearly all changing forms of government bring much criticism — some deserved, some not. Perhaps it would be better to wait until after Mack McLarty's administration runs its course, before leveling in final judgment upon Lea's.

Perhaps the changes made this year in student government will, after all, spell progress.

Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities was the high honor bestowed on 36 students this year for their outstanding contributions to the U. of A. campus.

A student-University nominating committee and the academic deans nominated 136 students to be considered for selection. The nominating committee, after many hours of discussion, sent their choices to the National Who's Who. The National Who's Who confirmed the choices.

Criteria in selecting the students was based on leadership, scholarship, and activities. All of the choices are well known by a large group of people on campus and are well respected by the faculty.

The Razorback staff adds their congratulations to this outstanding group of students.

Division 3
Publications

Editors Sylvia Spencer, John Dacus, Jon Keel, Bill Ebbert, Tom Rakes, Beth Bryson, Kaneaster Hodges, and Kent Rubens congratulated each other on making it through the year. Deadlines and printer headaches made grades come second as they gave their best for student body.

1967 RAZORBACK

Although it is traditionally the editor's task to use this page to comment on his staff and book, I was requested to describe what it has been like to work on the 1966-67 RAZORBACK. Breaking tradition hasn't bothered us up to this point anyway.

I feel sure that I speak for the staff when I say that Bill has been one of the most efficient and hardest-working editors the RAZORBACK has ever had. In his presentation to the Board of Publications last spring, he proposed to balance the budget, to increase the quantity and quality of four-color pictures, to use as many new pictures as possible, to change the layout of the organization section, to meet deadlines early, to sell extra copies of the book in order to increase the revenue, to remove the 18½ pages of advertisements, and to number as many pages as practical. All of this we have done, and much, much more.

Never having worked on the book Bill walked into the RAZORBACK office in September with a staff full of people who had never even been inside Hill Hall, much less ever worked on a student publication.

We began working with plenty of hecklers and not many well-wishers. However, we got the last laugh every time we set a new record for meeting a yearbook deadline.

Judy Johnson
Associate Editor

We always ended up having more laughs and fun than anyone else on campus. If the staff members were working late, Bill treated us to dinner or a trip to the Deluxe for our faithful efforts. This is why he has had no complaints about the low or no staff salaries. We got paid in experience, fun and the opportunity to be on the inside of campus activities and politics.

Oftentimes, we felt like we were in a three-ring circus, but Bill always enjoyed the show more than anyone else. Some people didn't like our show at all, but at one time or another it seemed that everyone on campus, friend or foe, had wandered into the office to see what the latest act was. Some of the acts were pretty funny, like the time Sylvia came in to let us know what she thought about some of our material, but some were down right spine-tingling, as when Bill had to chase the bus all the way to Fort Smith so we could meet a deadline.

One of the best things about this year for us was knowing that there would be another year. Bill is the first person in the history of the school to edit the book two years in a row. This is sort of a bond between us all to do better next year in things like meeting our printing deadlines, starting the index before the very last minute, and having better communication between the staff.

Yet, despite our mistakes and inexperience, we have a book that we hope will provide you with a record of 1966-67. Perhaps it will bring you a laugh or a tear; nevertheless, "They said it couldn't be done," and here it is.

As the student newspaper at the UofA, the TRAVELER has been interpreted by some as the students themselves. In a sense it is, for it is printed and written for them. But to the student body, the TRAVELER is an impersonal object which they pick up, read, and throw away. To those of us who have worked on it, it is a very personal thing, which demands whole-hearted, time-consuming devotion. So in this respect, the TRAVELER belongs to its staff.

The staff who published the TRAVELER? There was Libby Ingram, who transformed the inside pages from the "vast wasteland" to an interesting, informative section; Chuck Hemingway, a very talented and imaginative journalist who wrote some of the best editorials that appeared in the paper; Russell Williams, next year's editor, wrote excellent interpretative articles, buttoned every morning except one (for which he deserves many medals), and encouraged me to print every editorial aimed at provoking the administration or some campus politician.

Lina Davis gets the award for being the most valuable staff member. She edited copy, read proofs, and kept the staff together. Ann Pride, the "pride of the staff," covered campus politics with a degree of objectivity that surprised everyone.

Carter Hardage and Bill Wright managed to make good layouts, add Sports World, and cover all sports better than they've ever been covered. Kay Carson represented the UofA well at SWJC conventions, and she is a highly competent writer and copy editor.

There were others too — Susie Mosley, digging up scoops; Susan Liles and Pete Gordy always around being helpful; Jerry Cowee, politicking, flirting, and writing; Mary Nancy Council and Jacque Smith keeping students informed about UA society and World News.

Don Henry

Sue Liles, Wesley Glassell, and Joe Jeffery crowded around the Features Desk to hear witty Ann Pride tell how great Reid Hall was, how great Sigma Chi was, how great the TRAVELER was — you could just never tell with Ann.

At the Copy Desk, Kay Carson, Bill Wright, Jerry Cowee, and Pete Gordy tried to remove all the gross errors made by staff writers of the TRAVELER to avoid law suits and Dean Thompson.

An Exciting Part

Mike Barkley and Kenn Maples did most of the photography for us. Tom Rakes filled in when those two were no where to be found. There are two groups that work behind the scenes, without whom there would be no TRAVELER — the Business Staff and the men in the University Printing Plant. Don Henry, Steve Harper, and Mike Bowers pulled us into the black with advertising. Wesley Glassell faithfully mailed papers to the subscribers on time. The men in the printing plant are the most wonderful people on this campus. They came in early and stayed late, and without this dedicated help, there would have been no paper.

The TRAVELER staff has been described as being underpaid, underpraised, and overworked. That's all true, but there's something about working on the TRAVELER that compensates for all this and more. Maybe part of it is the knowledge of the memories we'll have to look back on . . . the Salem cigarettes; the secret compartment in my desk; the "No Sex Before Marriage Club"; the co-ed head; our slogans; "it's great," "it's funny!" or "I'm neutral!"; the red office; the dynamiting in early fall that broke windows, shook people, and cracked buildings; facing Mr. Blake at 7:30 a.m. when copy wasn't in and the layouts weren't down; the anxiety over the NCA report being published; and many more . . . Maybe it's the memories, maybe it's just the idea of working on a newspaper . . . maybe it's being an exciting part of our University. — Sylvia

Tom Rakes
University Directory Editor

With the editor working the entire summer on advertising, the 1966-1967 UNIVERSITY DIRECTORY had the largest Buyers' Guide section to date. The money received from advertisers made it possible for the DIRECTORY to be distributed free of charge to students and faculty, making it the second self-supported DIRECTORY in UofA history. A profit of over $900 was realized above the 40% increase in printing costs for the account.

Probably the only phone book with a central theme, the 66-67 DIRECTORY followed an Early American theme from the cover through the Buyers' Guide section in pictures, lettering, and historical notes on the University.

Because of registration mix-ups, slow data processing, and printer difficulties, the Directories were not distributed until early November.

Given to the entire student body for the first time, the "A" BOOK was completed during the summer months and distributed at fall registration. Because of late changes in the copy made by the Administration and an increased number of pages in the book, the exact status of the budget became a controversial subject. With a cover from a fraternity brother and pictures from everywhere, the "A" BOOK published all the abstract and changable rules of the University. The student body had hoped to finally get some concrete guide lines, but the administration came through in true style again.

Board Directs Controversial Year

The Board of Publications had a difficult year, but somehow plowed through the major business of editor selections and budget approvals as well as threats of lawsuits over character defamation in the TRAVELER and copyright infringement in the DIRECTORY, editor versus business manager areas of responsibility in the RAZORBACK, and the disputed deficit on the "A" BOOK.

Besides the seven regular members of the Board, the editors and business managers of the four campus-wide publications were allowed to sit in on meetings with no vote, but a definite voice. The RAZORBACK and TRAVELER editors, renowned for their verbosity, dominated the majority of the discussion. As a result, more editorial freedom was granted, and more salaries were raised—both for the ultimate good of publications.

This year the Board, and through them, the administration, became more nearly aware of the many problems associated with a campus publication. The results are evident in improved publications at the University of Arkansas.

Ferrell Ervin gave an excellent presentation to the Board for the "A" BOOK editorship, but politics won again.

Agri Magazine Circulation Up

A student magazine in the true sense of the word, the ARKANSAS AGRICULTURIST has been devoted to informing University students, potential students, and alumni of the activities of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics.

The efficient staff has worked hard for a successful year for the publication. The students of the college have contributed ideas to the staff concerning the type of publication they desired and the articles they wanted to read.

Circulation rose as the staff put out 4500 copies each semester. These issues went to students, Arkansas high schools, and extension workers. This efficiency has created new interest in the publication for many potential UofA students. Offering journalistic opportunity to interested agriculture and home economics students has been a goal for this publication. Much valuable experience was gained from work on its pages.

Acting through a non-profit corporation founded in 1947 for this purpose, the UofA School of Law and the Arkansas Bar Association publishes quarterly the ARKANSAS LAW REVIEW and BAR ASSOCIATION JOURNAL.

The majority of the articles appearing in the REVIEW are written by students under the supervision of a Faculty Advisor. Additional articles are prepared by prominent judges, lawyers, and law professors. The Arkansas Law Faculty is the leading professional contributors.

Student members of the editorial board receive staff credit hours toward graduation for work on the LAW REVIEW; each article published is awarded a fractional credit hour. Students seeking membership must meet grade point requirements and submit one or more articles of acceptable quality. Student articles are classified into three categories, according to length: Recent Decisions, Casenotes, and Comments.

Every member of the Arkansas Bar Association receives a copy of each issue, and other subscribers reach as wide an area as from Belgium to Australia. The LAW REVIEW is cited by text writers and courts, especially the Arkansas Supreme Court.

New Pin-Ups Published for Campus

Jon Keel
Editor

Published quarterly, the ARKANSAS ENGINEER is the official publication of the College of Engineering. The highlight of the year was the March issue, which was devoted almost entirely to the celebration of St. Pat's Week at the UofA. This special issue included two page spreads of each of the six candidates for St. Patricia. Most of these pages soon became pin-ups in rooms all over campus.

Along with the usual technical articles, the ENGINEER delved into research projects being carried on in the various departments in the College this year. For the first time in three years, the editor retained his position for the entire school year, seemingly bridging the gap that has existed between previous editors and the Engineering administration.

To promote interest and enrollment in the College of Engineering, the magazine was sent to most of the high schools in the state. Again, the March issue got the most results.

Some people liked the PREVIEW poems, but some seemed to disapprove. Staff members Janis Geyer, Ross Mace, Woody Pirtle, Gregory Beck, Caroline Bagby, John Dacus, Tommy Whalen, and Carla Reames also looked divided on the issue.

Arts Magazine Combines Two Issues

It is hard to talk about this year's PREVIEW without talking about last year's PREVIEW, and if I talk about last year's PREVIEW, I must talk about the newly formed creative writing department. Let me then begin in the proper place. Two years ago Mr. William Harrison came here to teach creative writing and begin to organize a creative writing department. Suddenly, with seemingly no effort, appeared John C. Holmes, author of several novels. Workshops and form and theory classes appeared almost at the same time — suddenly, with seemingly no effort.

Mr. James Whitehead rose up from the dark eye of Mississippi, and suddenly the creative writing department was strong in poetry as well as fiction. Poetry workshops appeared — form and theory classes continued — seemingly with no effort. Suddenly it's spring 1967 — Mr. Robert Huff joined the staff for one semester as visiting poet. Books began to be read. The Theologian, Get Home Free, Domains, Southern Writing in the '60's, Colonel Johnson's Ride, The Course. Suddenly, with seemingly no effort, the creative writing department was established at the U of A.

What does this have to do with PREVIEW 1967? Everything! Thanks to Dr. Claude Faulkner, William Harrison, and James Whitehead, all of these effortless appearances were brought about — with a GREAT DEAL OF EFFORT, and this year's PREVIEW was a literary landmark for the University of Arkansas.

Army ROTC Prepares Cadets

Military training has been an active part of life on the University of Arkansas campus since the University was founded in 1871. The Army Reserve Officer Training Corps, ROTC as we know it today, was authorized by the National Defense Act of 1916 and is now represented on 240 campuses throughout the nation. The importance of ROTC to the security of our nation was clearly demonstrated during World War II when more than 100,000 ROTC graduates answered the call to serve as commissioned officers in the Army. General of the Army George C. Marshall, an ROTC graduate himself, stated that "without these officers the successful rapid expansion of our Army would have been impossible. They made the difference between defeat and victory."

The continuing importance of ROTC on this and other campuses was emphasized in January this year when General Harold K. Johnson, Chief of Staff, U.S. Army, in addressing the graduating cadets at this university, stated that "no other officer procurement program can surpass the ROTC for the quality and quantity of the officers that it produces." Today nearly 50 percent of the Army's entire officer corps and about 77 percent of its lieutenants received their military training through ROTC. Approximately 1000 Distinguished Military Graduates of the ROTC program are commissioned each year in the Regular Army.

Pershing Rifles Attend Mardi Gras

Pershing Rifles, founded in 1894 by General John J. Pershing, is a national military society for cadets in the military science program. Its purpose is to further excellence on the drill field. Members are selected for leadership characteristics, proficiency in drill, and participation in ROTC activities.

This year, as in years past, one of the highlights of the year was the annual trip to the Mardi Gras Parade in New Orleans. Other high points of the year included participation in various drill competitions, providing the honor guard for the visit of the Chief of Staff of the United States Army, General Harold K. Johnson, and the sponsoring of a conference for Pershing Rifle commanders in the Arkansas, Oklahoma, and Kansas area.

One of the company's prized assets each year is its sponsor. This year the company was fortunate in having a former Commerce Queen, Kathy Kendall, as its sponsor.

Army Cadets eagerly look forward to leadership lab which is held in front of Old Main. This year something new was tried. Army only drilled once a week instead of the traditional two days a week.

Air Force ROTC Trains Leaders

Over eighty per-cent of all recent Air Force junior officers are products of the one hundred and seventy-seven Air Force Reserve Officers Training Corps similar to the Department of Air Science on our campus. To attain the AFROTC mission, eight hundred cadets were educated this year at the University of Arkansas "for informed citizenship in an Aerospace Age."

First-year cadets are taught military aviation history, principles of flight, and opportunities of the Aerospace Team. Sophomore cadets study aerial warfare, military history, and man's exploration of space. Many sophomores are given minor assignments on the drill field to prepare them for future responsibilities as cadet officers when they enter the advanced AFROTC program.

Having met the physical and mental requirements of the advanced corps, the junior and senior cadets, guided by detachment officers, are charged with fulfillment of the Cadet Wing mission which is the training of cadets. As advanced cadets, these students study the techniques of navigation, weather, tactics, and the principles of military law. Between their junior and senior years the cadets attend Summer Training units for a four-week intensive program of officer training. Following graduation these men are commissioned as second lieutenants in the United States Air Force.

Angel Flight Ranks Top Nationally

The Angel Flight is a national organization of college women selected to represent the Air Force ROTC. It is sponsored by the Arnold Air Society and was founded at the University of Omaha in 1957. The Silver Wing Flight was initiated at the University of Arkansas in 1964 by Col. Bryden Moon and Capt. Carl Rose.

The main function of Angel Flight is representation of the Air Force ROTC as a service organization. There are presently 120 flights at colleges and universities throughout the United States, including the University of Hawaii and the University of Puerto Rico. The Angels act as hostesses and co-sponsors for many Air Force, Arnold Air Society, and university functions.

Their activities for this year include working at the Washington County School for Mentally Retarded Children, Operation Warmheart, hostessing the area conclave held in Fayetteville, assisting at the Red Cross Blood Drive, holding a campus candy sale for the mentally retarded children's school, giving a party for the boys at Boyland of Arkansas, a field trip to Tinker Air Force Base, sponsoring a pancake supper for community projects, and sending delegates to the National Conclave in Miami, Florida.

These activities were rewarded by the Silver Wing Flight's being selected as Area G-1's nominee for Purdue Cup, given to the Most Outstanding Flight in the nation, and by winning the Scrapbook Award at Area Conclave. The flight Commander, Carolyn Freyaldenhoven, was selected as the Most Outstanding Flight Commander in Area G-1, and Jan Harris was the first runnerup to Little Colonel and an Area nominee for a national Angel Flight Scholarship.

Arnold Air Society Honors Grades

The Arnold Air Society was founded as an honorary military society for Air Force ROTC cadets who distinguished themselves scholastically. The national organization was founded in 1947 to "further the purpose, mission, tradition, and concepts of the United States Air Force as a means of National Defense; promote American citizenship; and create a close and more efficient relationship among Air Force Officer Training Corps Cadets."

Membership is by invitation, and scholastic requirements include a 2.00 overall grade average and a 3.00 in Air Science courses.

The local squadron sponsors the Drill Team which participates in numerous competitions and public events in a three state area. New members are pledged to this unit in the spring. They are rapidly integrated into the group activities among which are the sponsoring of the Band, the Air Police, and the Air Force Drill Team.

Scabbard and Blade Improves Drill

The National Society of Scabbard and Blade, an honorary organization for advanced cadets of the Army and Air Force ROTC, had its beginning on the University of Arkansas campus in 1916 with the establishment of "B" Company of the Second Regiment. Each fall cadets are selected on the basis of scholarship, leadership, and interest in the military program. The organization strives to raise the military standards in American colleges and universities, to unite a closer relationship between their military departments, to encourage and foster the essential qualities of efficient officers and to promote friendship among cadet officers. These cadets enter an impressive "tapping" ceremony on the drill field. After being chosen, the inductees must go through a trial period, culminated by formal induction into the Society.

The Society meets twice a month to discuss problems occurring between the army and air force units, and to suggest improvements in drill procedure. In this way, the best ideas of each group are available for use.

Sheri Savage served as this year's sponsor.

Division 5

The Year

Concerts from such nationally known groups as the KINGSMEN filled the year with the much needed entertainment in thrilling Fayetteville.

The Year's Beginning Rushes In

Bonady tried to appear cool, while other rushes knew it was hopeless.

Rush week '66 — a frantic time for the bleary-eyed Greeks and the teary-eyed rushees; warm smiles and friendly handshakes open the year at the UofA.

Sororities entertained 370 rushees with ten open houses, four skits ranging from Mary Poppins to My Fair Lady, and two preferential parties. At each, they tried to convince the rushees that "our group is best."

Fraternity men had a surprisingly successful summer rush with activities centering around Hot Springs at pageant time. On campus, members chauffeured 190 rushees from hall to house and offered a variety of "colorful" talent in a hectic week. Bid day crowds in front of the Union proved all was not in vain.

As Rush Week closed September 9, 229 women pledged nine sororities while 125 men pledged thirteen fraternities. During summer rush, 165 men pledged before July 31.

On Bid Day some boys flew out of the Union on their own wings.

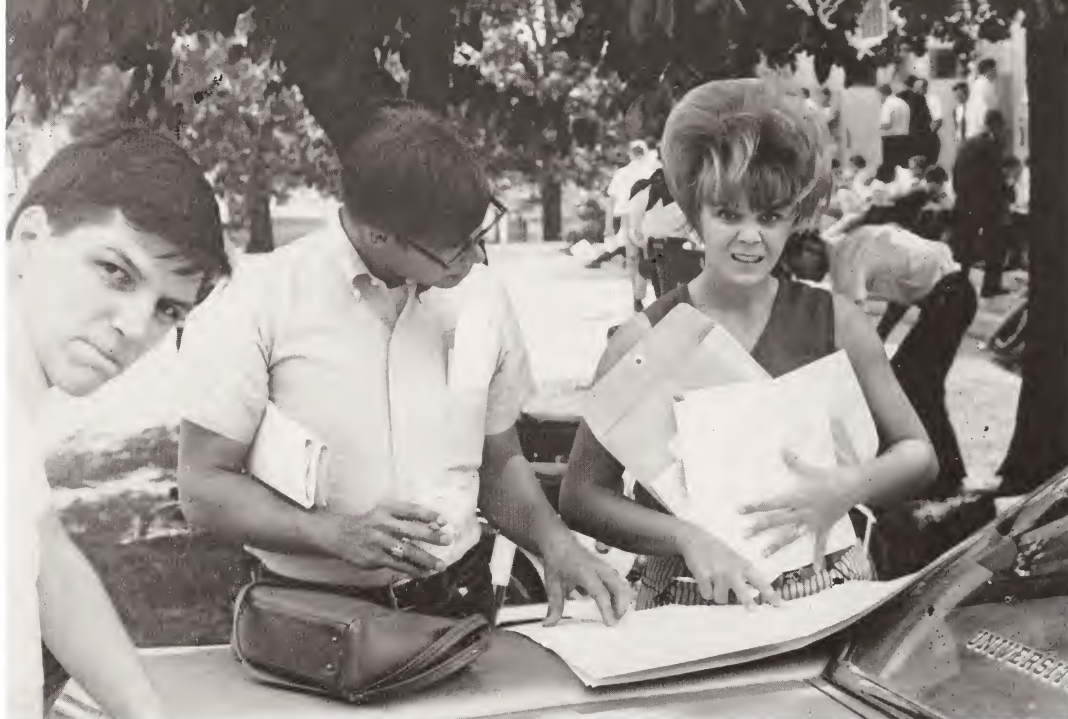

Don't let the one in the suit scare you. She's a real good boy once you get to know him.

Smiles couldn't camouflage the vacant windows on the second floor of the Kappa's house. But then, rules were made to be broken . . .

Ooooh! That pin feels good.

"I have to have a packet, too?"

"If I play my cards right, I'll get this apartment permission signed before she knows what happened."

And With It Comes Red Tape

A record number of students battled the professors at the Men's Gym to complete registration for the fall semester. Afterwards, the 9,976 students literally raced to get a place in the "mile" long line at the bookstore, which is still startling students with its prices.

Meanwhile, boys moved into Holcombe Hall for the first time, while the girls got settled in Reid Hall, Hotz's new twin dorm.

The students kept themselves entertained with getting gypped at the county fair and holding daily outings. Friday, everyone left campus descending on Little Rock to watch the Razorbacks trounce OSU 14-10 in their season's opener.

To construct a new library, at the University, workers found it necessary to build first. Across the street, the Men's Gym seemed to frown back at registering students.

Once you're close enough to see these steps, you are only two hours from being $50 poorer.

Leaders Organize Activities

Campus leaders enjoyed the comfort of Lake Wedington's facilities while plotting their course for the coming school year.

While freshmen excitedly went to their first classes, upperclassmen had an air of detached weariness about the whole thing.

Acting deans this year directed the campus scene. George Yourick took over as Dean of Students, and Anne G. Thompson moved into the Dean of Women's place. Dr. Merwyn B. Bridenstine became the Dean of B.A., and Frank Michel moved up to the Dean of Men's place. Jim Lee Morgan, last year's vice-president of Associated Students, was named assistant Dean of Men in charge of fraternities.

Off-Campus Women and Davis Hall found out that they had the top scholarship averaged for the spring semester last year. Chi Omega and Alpha Gamma Rho took the top scholarship trophies for the Greeks.

Everyone had gripes about the new switchboard system for the dorms, and the freshmen complained about being left out of ABC membership for the first time.

More than 500 high school seniors invaded the campus for Razorback Day and the first Fayetteville game. They and other fans were delighted when the Hogs smashed Tulsa 27-8.

All year Susan Matthews, secretary of Associated Students suffered painfully from a chronic facial disorder — political paralysis.

Some people have no respect for position or SIZE. Note sneer at Pomfret's right.

This picture could have been in color, but Razorback Day was mostly black and white.

"Oooh! Quick! Open your sack! It's bread sandwich, carrot stick, celery stick, potato chips, cold baked beans and greasy fried chicken!"

ROTC-AWS Tradition

Starting off the second week of school, Associated Students held their second annual Leadership Orientation Conference at Lake Wedington with about sixty campus leaders in attendance.

AWS held a mass meeting in the Chi Omega Greek Theater with free food, entertainment, and the girls could wear shorts WITHOUT RAINCOATS. Sorority girls took off their pins and mingled with the freshmen as Panhellenic watched suspiciously.

President Tom Lea announced his committee appointments with a noticable lack of Sigma Chi appointees. A unique event on campus, the ROTC sponsor contest, was held with the girls in fine form.

TCU hosted the Razorbacks and were beaten 21-0.

Generous deans lifted raincoat rule for Fall Festival. Check improved scenery.

Typical Weather, Typical Politics

And they promised my new fall wouldn't lose its curl!

President Mullins sparked a campus controversy when he announced a possible merger of the UofA and LRU. Although he gave his reasons for the merger, students seemed split on the question.

During the third week of school, women students pulled for their candidate for Pershing Rifle Sponsor, and Kathy Kendall came out on top. The mock divorce suit between Janice and Jim Wright amused students with its false accusations of adultery. Not amused at all with the blasting behind Hill Hall for the new library were journalism students. The Traveler made repeated pleas for silence, which were ignored for progress' sake.

Throughout the week plans were made for the seventeenth annual Dad's Day game. Mike Thomas grossed the dads out at the Friday night pep rally, but living groups made it up the next day by entertaining the dads with luncheons, dinners, and open houses. However, no one was prepared for the upsetting defeat that Baylor handed Razorbacks with a 7-0 score. Many students didn't even notice the rain as they watched the Hogs go down to their first defeat in three years in conference play. Some wiped away tears, and all UofA students left the stadium in stunned silence. The dances that night at the fraternities, the Roller Rink, and the Shamrock were subdued while students made an effort to have a good time. It was a sad day in Razorback land.

Coach Broyles tried a sun dance. It backfired and so did the game.

Hat in hand, Faubus momentarily regressed to his campaign handshake.

Some fans came disguised as TV sets, plastic bags, and chairs!

Robyn Gannaway shared her cool calm secret with competition Thelma Holland before they sweated it out in Pershing Rifle interviews.

Football Spirit Reaches Annual Peak

Bart Lindsey and Jim May couldn't get dates for the Texas Pep Rally so they emceed to show the girls what they missed.

The traditional "Beat Texas" week kept students busy. Panhellenic announced that the grade requirement for pledging and initiation had been raised to a 2.25 from the previous 2.125. The infirmary announced that it was cracking down on giving out medical excuses. The frequent classcutter was especially panicked by this.

ABC finally announced their 51 new pledges after a series of three smokers to look over prospective members. Blue Key tapped twelve new members, and Angel Flight selected eleven new upperclass cadettes after a tea and two interviews were held.

AKL fraternity announced that they had initiated Governor Faubus as their first honorary member while he was on campus for Dad's Day.

Eric Hawkins presented his company in four numbers in an unusual modern dance concert.

Fine Arts instructors searched diligently for the hands that created the art work in the Poster Design Contest.

Camera caught the Beat-Texas Week street dance in the stadium parking lot. Real action was a few feet away.

Curiosity seekers turned out to sample the meat of our opponents. Few went away hungry.

Coed slipped up carrying the torch for Hogs.

"Boy, I can hardly wait to see who's in the parade of virgins."

"Ladies and gentlemen, we regret that the parade of virgins has been canceled — one broke her leg and the other one wouldn't go alone."

Decked out in their new outfits and calling the Hogs, our majorettes lent their encouragement to the Razorbacks.

Porkers Bounce Back Big

Two's company and three's a crowd. Who's going to get lost — Janice?

Students picked up their spirits after their loss to Baylor by making plans for a long trip to Austin or planning apartment parties to watch the game on national TV.

Wednesday night ABC sponsored a street dance in the stadium parking lot. Thursday afternoon, a crowd gathered in front of Old Main to watch girls in football jerseys pass out small meat patties which were nicknamed Bevo Burgers, in honor of Texas' mascot. Building school spirit became the motto of the week.

Thursday night was the big pep rally with Bart Lindsey and Jim May supplying the cuts during roll call. Each living group sponsored a poster for a contest during the rally that was judged by several teachers. Carnall Hall and SAE won the trophies, with Reid Hall and Sigma Chi placing second. Afterwards, a torch light parade made its way to Wilson Sharp House.

Saturday afternoon all activity stopped so students could cluster around TVs or radios. After the Hog's exciting victory of 12-7, everyone in Fayetteville wished that they could be in Austin to celebrate in full style.

This father was unable to control his exuberant son at one of Arkansas' football games. This was apparently the reason we lost the sportsmanship trophy for the twenty-third consecutive season. A triviality of drinking in the stadium was also mentioned.

Student trampled by parade of virgins had to receive transfusion.

While attending one of the Arkansas pep rallies, little boys had a Big Moment with toilet paper.

Election, Concerts Offer Distraction

The weekly news of October 16-22 was the mock election on campus. Rockefeller and his ticket swept the ballot with Rockefeller winning over Johnson 4 to 1.

The Outsiders and Shadows of Knight drew a crowd of 1,755 in the Men's Gym for the first concert of the season.

Dr. Ashley Montagu, noted anthropologist and author, lectured on "Education and Human Relations." The IFPC elected Johnny Hearnberger to its presidency. Walter Slaughter angered the cast of the "Twelfth Night" with his cutting review in the Traveler. Rounding out the week was the Hogs' victory over Wichita State in Little Rock, 41-0.

Kent Ruben's thumb and forefinger shown with screwdriver, repairing ballot box. Some say ballot boxes have screwed him before.

A Variety of Campus Events

Newly elected Homecoming Queen Bobbe Dykes anticipates kiss, as "Toe" Paul Connors reverted to football tactics and punted.

Kappas had an exciting week near the end of October. The penalty imposed on them during rush week which allowed them to take only fifteen pledges was lifted, and they were able to fill their house. A little sweetness goes a long way.

ODK announced that thirteen men had been tapped for membership, and IFC selected Gerald Ponder as rush book editor. Panhellenic decided to let sorority women visit Reid Hall if they stayed away from the freshmen.

The football players selected Homecoming Queen Bobbe Dykes and a court of six coeds, who were all good-looking for a change.

Students were generous with their blood in the Red Cross drive with 526 pints contributed. Sigma Pi, Theta, and the Air Force ROTC collected trophies for giving the most. Justice William Douglas lectured to a large crowd about the Supreme Court, while everyone strained to see his young bride.

The Razorbacks hit the road again to play Texas A&M. Student once more became confident when the Hogs took a 34-0 victory.

Witch cast spell to turn emcee into a cull.

It has been said many times many ways that the Sigma Nu's are stereotyped. But here they prove they are all individually degenerate.

Eminent Speakers Leak Wisdom

Sidekick looks on hungrily while Ashley Montague gnaws on finger.

Halloween and the Great Pumpkin brought a cold wave to the campus that made many students wish they hadn't left their overcoats at home. Living groups had Halloween parties that featured costumes and apple-bobbing. Who said college students were too old for such things?

The Thetas had their first initiation and their Delta Nu chapter was installed as the ninth national sorority on campus. Panhellenic honored the 21 new members at a tea in the Union. Their first year on campus was successful, and no one could have been happier about it. (than whom?)

Freshmen senatorial elections were held, and once again, the independent men pushed their candidates into office. Terry Dunlop, Ann Block, Mark Myers, Allen Odum, and Marty Davis were victorious in an election in which only one third of the freshman class took time to vote.

Students journeyed to Little Rock for the third and last game, there to watch the Razorbacks stun the Rice Owls, 31-20.

Kappa Alpha Theta proudly displayed first initiates in formal attire before their mantle. Rumor has it that the men of Holcombe have seen them displayed less formally in other areas of their house.

Justice Jim Johnson supporters crawled out of woodwork to watch election returns, then crawled back in.

Sigma Chi dropped the ball on Gold Rush party. MIHC got it rolling again with Casino Carnival.

Justice Douglas pleaded to University of Arkansas students not to jump into marriage but wait until they are more firmly established.

United Effort Yields Homecoming

Would you believe next week, or the next week, or the next week . . . ? Happily Tom Rakes finally distributed the DIRECTORY in early November.

"Talkin' 'bout Jamie" — the record sold better than she did.

Activities for Homecoming, a battle for the Cotton Bowl bid, began with a pep rally emceed by Sandy Ladage, president of ABC. Then followed another torch-light march to the intramural field where the traditional bonfire was lit, as were many of the marchers.

Alums were entertained with the colorful parade which featured numerous floats, the homecoming court, and Senator J. W. Fulbright. The game put the Razorbacks a step closer to a New Years in Dallas with a 22-0 victory. Bobbe Dykes, homecoming queen, and her attendants were presented at halftime.

Many hours of hard work were rewarded as trophies were presented to the AKLs and the Zetas for prize house decorations, and the Sig Eps and Chi Os in the float division.

After the dorms announced all of their new officers, the Student Union Committees listed 44 new members to work on entertainment, special projects, and talent committees.

Young Republicans were delighted as moderate Winthrop Rockefeller defeated segregationist Jim Johnson to become Arkansas' first Republican governor in nearly a century.

Tom Rakes finally made his Student Directories available, and the TRAVELER celebrated its 60th anniversary. Many people wonder just how much it has progressed since 1906.

Homecoming crowds forced some parkers to abandon their cars.

AKL was first place — in homecoming decorations.

Court focused attention on Queen Bobbe while Mullins focused attention on camera. Good thing he wasn't Moonin'.

The agony and ecstasy of defeat and victory . . .

Texas Tech Busts Our Crusts

Student gripes about high prices in the city were to no avail. The Army ROTC and several living groups collected goods for Viet Nam refugees.

Tom Lea proposed a tax plan in the Senate which would build his transit system and radio station. Much to his surprise, students didn't protest.

Texas Tech stunned the campus by defeating the Razorbacks 21-16, knocking them out of the Cotton Bowl. The campus was further saddened with news that Arkansas defensive tackle Claude Smithey died, two weeks after collapsing in the dressing room following the Texas A&M game. Smithey, a student from Searcy, Arkansas, had been listed in critical condition since October 29.

Boy on right paid ten dollars not to have his name in the RAZORBACK — for obvious reasons.

The lilting hand of Richard Brothers led Schola Cantorum in practice session. Class met five times a week for one hour credit and trip to Europe.

The Gondoliers, staged by the Music Department, well expressed Gilbert & Sullivan's music, but it was received unfavorably by audiences.

Cancellation of the Four Seasons concert delayed announcement of Razorback Beauties and disappointed both students who had bought tickets and Beth Washburn and Bart Lindsey, chairmen of the Student Union Entertainment Committee. Refunds were offered on the tickets, but once again lack of entertainment on campus became a problem.

University debaters won eight trophies in competition against 84 colleges and universities.

Bill Ebbert, Razorback editor, received word that the RAZORBACK has broken all previous deadline records and saved the annual over $800. Nothing makes Ebbert happier than saving money and proving that his staff's inexperience doesn't matter.

Sigma Nu won the AAA intramural football championship while their friends, the SkiBees, took the AA crown. Holcombe Hall downed Humphreys for the residence league championship.

"Tis better to have loved and lost than never to have loved at all."

Singfony Opens Yule Season

Physics problem: Can armpit odor really repel a ball that far?

Who's Who was announced in the TRAVELER, although plans had been made to announce them at the Four Season's concert. As usual, there were several surprises, but all in all it was an outstanding group. Donna Kay Cochran was selected as the 1967 Panhellenic Rush Book editor.

Angel Flighters and ROTC men from 13 schools were on campus for the weekend. After the typical registration, tour, and business meetings the real fun began with a banquet and dance.

Dr. Jacqueline Sterner, former dean of women, and Hal C. Douglas, publisher of the Northwest Arkansas TIMES, were married in Washington, D. C.

Law students, in a mock trial, used a fake sorority which had violated fake rush rules at a fake university. The satire failed to fool anyone.

Debaters from 36 colleges participated in the 14th annual Razorback Forensic Tournament. In other university competition, the Razorback round ballers lost their season opener 73-56 to Kansas.

Anonymous knee goosed Diane Short, Co-chairman of Singfony.

Coed primped for parade of virgins.

Special guests showed up at Singfony. It was a Mary occasion.

After a severe attack of the blahs, this Kappa Sig steadied his head.

Needy kids received gifts at party after party after party after party.

Improved (?) ID's Late

The Student Senate passed a motion approving an increased budget and an amendment calling for a one dollar activity tax from students if the administration failed to approve the budget.

Due to theft and damage of paintings in the Fine Arts gallery, the Art Department began to lock the building at night.

Pershing Rifle pledges were finally initiated to the delight of students who are always amused by their loud activities. Phi Beta Kappa selected twelve senior members and Phi Eta Sigma, men's honor fraternity, initiated eleven new members.

OSU was downed by the Razorbacks 51-46 in the Hogs first victory of the basketball season. UofA swimmers were beaten by Alabama 61-34.

Distribution of permanent I.D.'s marked the formal close of Fall registration — in December.

Parties Insure Fling Before Finals

Hotz reflected its Christmas spirit by adding decoration to the campus during the holiday season.

The University Players presented The Physicists and for once the play was liked by reviewers and audiences. Singfony was presented by living groups in an annual Christmas song fest. Alpha Chi Omega and Holcombe Hall walked off with the first place trophies.

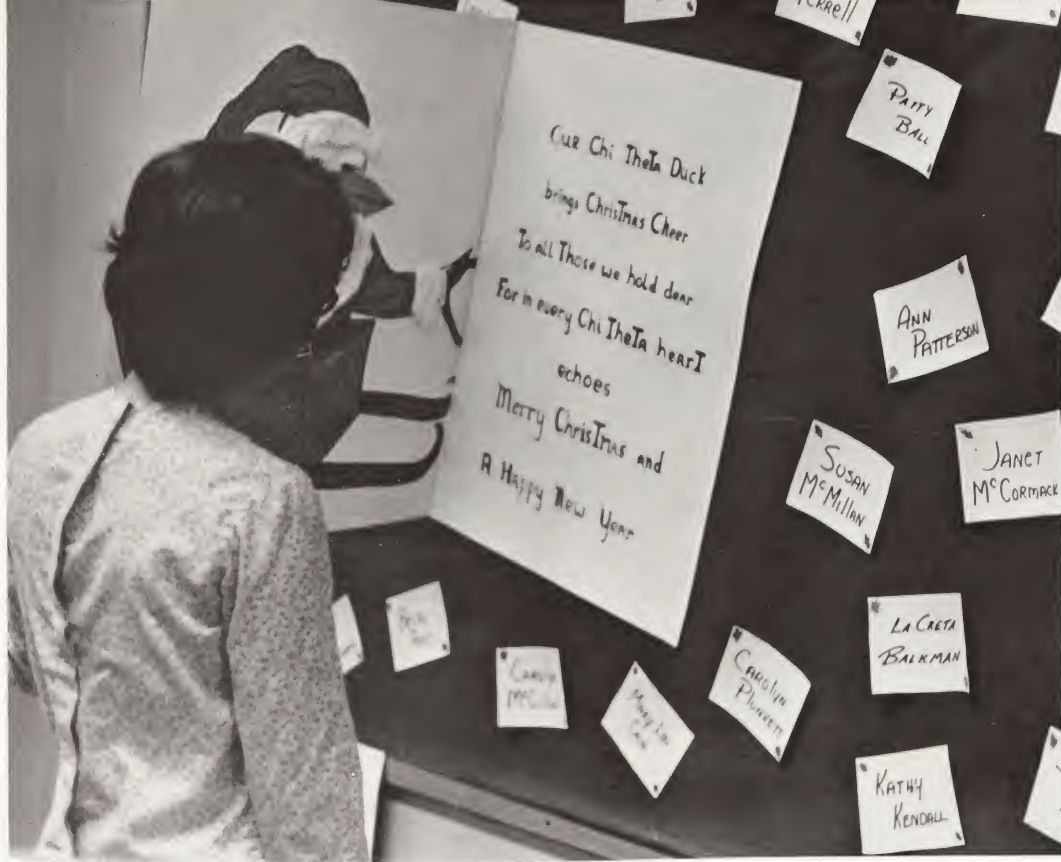

Students were surprised to find that their permanent ID cards actually came after being repeatedly delayed. The color pictures on them weren't as bad as expected.

Mack McLarty, chairman of the transit committee, announced that the survey taken by marketing research classes showed student approval of the long-talked-about campus transit system. All hoped that action would follow approval.

Centenary managed to edge past the Razorbacks 81-80 in the week's basketball contest. Arkansas' first swimming team also lost 68-34 in a splash contest with Kansas State.

With no bowl game to train for, even Wilson Sharp turned social. It's easier to play games with girls anyway.

Chi Theta accomplished its only project of the year — decorating the halls of BA.

Kappa Sig shined bright — just a little too early.

Humble Alph prayed for Christmas spirit. It was delivered in full and quickly drained.

Unidentified boy makes transit system report to Senate; he later decided to run for something . . .

Dr. Richard Worthington throws hands up in disgust as champagne music makers degenerate to flat beer.

The Quiet Before the Storm

Students arrived back on campus from the Christmas holidays with nothing to look forward to but exams. For many, the prospect of hitting the books for the first time was gruesome.

Sigma Chis were upset and rebellious when the Administration slapped social probation on them as a result of their Ski Lodge Party. The IFC announced that they were disappointed that they had not been able to discipline one of their own members. Despite reasonable protests of the charges by Skis, Dean Yourick shut the case with the comment "I think it's great — it's funny." Sigma Chis promised further appeals on the case.

Charity — inspired coed searches for worms for a needy robin.

Walter Slaughter leaked out reviews whenever the campus was void of news. Notice Ann Pride leaning down the tube.

The End Draws Nigh For Lucky Few

Pre-final study group turned to many diversions — even milk? — to postpone actual reviewing. Could this be Simmon's secret brain food?

All we Air Force group were teetotalers.

Fraternities received more bad news when the Administration announced that they would enforce their policy on pledge grade requirements. Now a fraternity pledge only has one semester to make his grades (a 2.0).

Arkansas legislators voted to give Arkansas State College university status. U.ofA. officials, against the change, knew they had lost when the Traveler came out with a full-page endorsement of the change. No one can accuse the Traveler of reflecting University policy.

Young Republicans on campus were jubilant when Governor Winthrop Rockefeller took office. At last YRC wasn't a minority club.

The Razorback Beauties were finally chosen by the Four Seasons. The winning houses and dorms were justifiably proud as two Chios, two Tri-Delts, one Zeta, one Pi Phi, one Hotz and one Reid were named.

The Razorback roundballers captured their first Southwest Conference win over the Texas Tech Red Raiders, 70-65.

All too soon, exam week arrived and studying became the rule rather than the exception. Pills and coffee took the place of sleep and beer as students went through the longest week of the semester. For a few, it was the last such experience as they donned caps and robes to make the graduation march.

Ski lodge left the Sigma Chi's at the end of their slide, as well as at the end of their rope. Dean Michel tied the noose.

Sniffing aroma of film and flash, Dr. Mullins peeked around to greet the camera — again.

Chuck Matthie and Sue Williams, not UofA students, started their peace walk to Washington, D.C. by holding a silent vigil at the end of Campus Drive. More than 20 students and faculty members joined advocates of peace in Viet Nam.

Thetas bought a lot and announced plans to build a new house across the street from Fulbright. They must be planning to ride Lea's transit system to class with the rushees.

Sylvia Spencer, TRAVELER editor, was chosen next year's A-Book editor, and announced plans to do away with features and pictures in the book.

Sororities rejoiced at the news that the University's new grade policy would not affect sorority pledges with under a 2.00.

Seniors Planned Ahead

Tom Lea announced that the Administration agreed to provide an additional $4,500 for the second semester Senate budget. The money is to go toward Senate projects, such as the radio station. Bill Keadle presented a thorough report in which he said that a station can become a reality with space and money.

Peggy Hipp was chosen Best Dressed Coed, and Kay Works moved up to the Miss UofA's spot. Lambda Chi, ever seeking publicity, announced their choices for 18 Crescent Girls chosen from the sororities.

The Kingsmen made the Men's Gym rock with their lively concert on Friday. Earlier in the week, the Razorback roundballers were handed a 60-53 loss by Texas A&M.

Eager students packed ballroom for annual Arkansas Career Day . . . as usual. Next year, crowds will have to move to stadium for open-air sessions.

"Hey baby, let me see you shake a tail . . . feather."

Roy Head was the first "big name" to grace campus this year.

Some of these Miss YRC candidates hoped that no one would find out that they were also members of Young Democrats.

Entertainment Bombarded Campus

Roy Head played longer at the Wilson-Sharp dance than at the Roller Rink, but then the audience was larger.

Razorback roundballers started this week out right by beating Rice 66-63 and thus ending a five-game losing streak. Bill Ferrell, Razorback trainer, was named to the Helm's Foundations' National Trainer's Hall of Fame.

Bill Ebbert was unopposed in the selection of the 1968 RAZORBACK editor. He is the first in the school's history to succeed himself. He also was chosen business manager for the annual.

Jose Greco and his company of Spanish dancers appeared in the fieldhouse to a capacity audience. Fine Arts students for once liked a required performance. On the other side of the campus, the Young Democrats liked Carol Campbell and selected her as Miss Young Democrat.

The Administration came out with two announcements — one good and one bad. Students were happy to find out that there will be individual room phones in some of the dorms next year. However, students were turned down in their plea for the extra dead day during exams.

Jack Coleman, public relations manager for the Pikes' had a party that kept Coleman and everybody else talking all the way through court after it was raided.

Humphrey's sophomore counselors gamely tried a few political tricks. Bernard's were more successful.

Snows Initiated Spring Semester

(Typical) Sigma Nus snowed each other.

A record number of 9,107 students enrolled for the spring semester, according to the Administration. As new dorms went up, the class room shortage remained a problem.

The state legislature upset students when it defeated the bill permitting nineteen-year-olds to vote, and passed the bill outlawing the serving of communion wine to minors.

The Sigma Chis and Kappas captured the fall scholarship trophies. Sigma Chis couldn't even have a party to celebrate.

Anthony and the Imperials performed after getting in town late, and despite Anthony's case of laryngitis. Date call was extended for the first time in two years due to the late concert.

Razorback basketball season ended with a 68-55 loss to Baylor.

In spite of their exhausting efforts, some people failed to snow anybody.

Even those with innate rhythm practiced before a performance.

Fine Arts students finally "made" a date.

Arriving an hour late, Li'l Anthony discovered he left his voice in Fayetteville, North Carolina, and resorted to other talents.

The Kingsmen helped to make Fabulous February an entertaining and economical success. Big names make big money.

Fabulous February-Biggest Hit Yet

More classrooms, housing, parking, and recreation were called for by a member of the Florida architectural firm hired by the University to develop an expansion plan. One CCHEF representative summed it up by saying, "The money simply isn't here (in Arkansas)."

The campus was snowed in for the third time this year, and students finally learned how to keep from falling in their faces.

Campus honoraries, Blue Key and ODK both tapped their new members. AGR's dedicated their new house located on Razorback Road.

"Color me swing!"

March: More Concerts, Warm Days

The great Jose Greco performed for . . . Fine Arts 1003.

Engineers' Week began with a conspicuous absence of green paint; however, the events took place with the usual amount of enthusiasm. Judy Worsham and Doug Loberg were named St. Patricia and St. Pat after a wicked rally. The Agris once again defeated the Engineers in the tug-of-war, but Engineers did succeed in having their dance off-campus.

Deside Under the Elms opened to rave reviews for Kernodle and the University Players.

The debate team captured the state debate championship for the second year. This year's team has won more trophies than ever before.

Election time and spring weather hit the campus at the same time, with AWS candidates vying for offices. Carolyn Holcomb walked off with the president's gavel unopposed.

Holcombe and Phi Delt captured the intramural basketball titles in close play-offs with Yocum and SAE respectively.

A new twist — Lambda Chi's had a project.

Tri-Delt won with boxes of cans for the needy.

Spring Gimmicks Begin

Nine weeks tests hit students right before they packed to go home for spring break. The only bright spot in the week was the Dionne Warwick concert, which many students termed the "best concert of the year." It was a joint effort between the RAZORBACK staff and SU Entertainment committee.

Shirley Franzmeier was elected Agri Queen, and the twenty most outstanding freshmen women were tapped by Chimes.

Dr. William Denman was appointed to replace Dean D. Whitney Halliday as Dean of Students. Denman will take over in July when Halliday leaves to become president of East Texas State University.

Best-dressed Tri-Delt is quizzed by best-dressed interviewers. We think coed came out on top.

Engineers Have First “Week”

Those students unable to give their life for their country offered their blood to gain ROTC merits.

Spring vacation provided students with a chance to rest and party either at home or at more exciting places, such as Florida. When they hit classes on Monday, the Traveler shocked the school with stories on Mullins being fired, a rule closing the parking lot at 6:30 p.m., Broyles resigning, and a rule prohibiting freshmen from bringing cars to school. After the initial panic, students finally noticed the dateline which was April 1 — April Fools Day.

John Kenneth Galbraith criticized U. S. Foreign Policy during his speech on campus sponsored by the Senate Distinguished Lectures Committee. Galbraith had high praise for Senator Fulbright, “who would have been an extremely good Secretary of State.”

The Senate announced that 70 clubs and organizations had not met the requirements for Senate supervision. Some clubs didn’t want to be supervised in the first place.

New Angels received their wings at initiation ceremony.

A large crowd filled the SE auditorium to hear the U. of A. debate team challenge Harvard's debate team on the Warren Report. Both of Harvard's debaters were from Little Rock.

U. of A.'s Angel Flight was named the best in Area G-1 which includes 13 schools in Texas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, and Arkansas. Carolyn Freyaldenhoven was named outstanding G-1 commander and Jan Harris was nominated for the national scholarship award.

Brough Commons acquired a new snack bar that will cater to students' appetites between meals. Judging from Brough's meals, the snack bar will do a booming business.

The Skis once again appealed to the deans to be taken off of social probation. Once again, the deans turned them down.

The Commerce Guild spent an entire year planning Commerce Day, and attendance was poorer than ever. Nevertheless, Celestine Leding polled enough votes to become Commerce Queen.

Jeannie Cobb was named the third Miss U. of A. for the year. Any girl who enters the pageant now can keep the hope that she will eventually win.

Despite strong opposition from some of the Traveler staff members, Russell Williams was named the 1967-68 Traveler editor. Stark Ligon, a dark horse candidate, was named business manager.

Extra-Curriculars Divert Scholars

Carnall Hall residents protested vigorously when the Administration announced plans to convert Carnall into a men's dorm next year. The girls complained that the men were being given all of the less expensive, "homey" dorms while they were left with dorms with only hotel appeal.

Dr. Robbin C. Anderson, Associate Dean of the Graduate School at the University of Texas, was named the new Dean of Arts and Sciences for next year. He will replace Robert Kruh, who will be Dean of Graduate School at Kansas State University.

Phi Beta Kappa selected 41 new members, and Danny Durning was named winner of the Fulbright scholarship.

Jackson cast magic spell over bewitched Scabbard & Blade candidate.

Leaders Open Pre-Campaign Frenzy

Residence Hall Week, called Hallabaloo, provided Independents with a week of entertainment and glory. Lamar Pettus and Kathy Jones were chairmen of the activities. In order to get more publicity, they even had Governor Rockefeller proclaim April, "Residence Hall Month." The first of the week's events was the Four Seasons concert, at which the RAZORBACK beauties were presented. Later in the week, Paul Harvey, prominent commentator, spoke on America's strengths and weaknesses. On Saturday the dorms competed in the Hallabaloo Relays which featured such events as the bed race. That night Independents danced to the music of the McCoys. Despite the large crowd, many were not satisfied with the McCoys' performance.

Razorback cheerleaders were finally selected after a series of postponements. Sigma Pis, Zeta, Sigma Chis, and ChiOs as usual got one or two. Living groups scraped up their pennies and cast their votes for Campus Lover and Sweetheart. David Alphin and Mary Jackson won.

Just a little bit to the right, that's it, right in the eye.

It was a long, hard pull, but Futrall finally dragged Reid through the mud.

Better late than never — even four seasons late.

Economist and former Ambassador Galbraith paid liberal visit to campus.

Spring Election Fever Hits Campus

Independents tried but couldn't fly as high as Sigma Chi. You might say they hit a down wind.

While the memory of Hallaballoo still lingered, Greeks began their second annual Greek Week. Stark Ligon and Simone Seamon were co-chairmen of the events which started with an Honors Banquet on Friday night. Governor Faubus told the banquet crowd that he "might return", but didn't state how or when. Sigma Nu won the Pan Olympics held Saturday afternoon. That night the Roller Rink admitted only Greeks for the Irma Thomas Dance. On Thursday of the next week, Senator Fulbright spoke to a large crowd on his opinion of the U. S. foreign policy.

Women's living groups went to the AWS Spring Festival with fingers crossed, then cheered as their friends were tapped for Mortar Board and other positions of leadership.

Honors flowed freely this week as Journalism Day and Agri Day were both on the same day. Ten journalism students received scholarships and Agri students participated in the annual rodeo and tug-of-war.

The SU Talent Show had great talent but poor attendance. Carol Soule won the hearts of the judges and first prize with her singing.

Coed had doubts about going up, but none about going down.

The push-up field was a little crowded.

Overt Campaigns Open

Election time finally rolled around to the relief of candidates who had been making plans and contacts all year. Mack McLarty and Lamar Pettus filed for president to the surprise of no one. To the surprise of everyone, Bill Keadle filed a week before the election to give voters a variety of choice.

Charles Stubblefield and Kent Rubens filed for vice president with both stressing improvements in publications and entertainment. Simone Seamon and Jamie Newton applied for secretary with the usual secretary's platforms to have wider distribution of Senate minutes. Jack McNulty, Neal Thomas and Bill Strickland filed for treasurer.

Kappa Sigma's did fairly well at the Greek Relays, but their team didn't scratch during the primary the following Monday.

Greek Week Briefly Slows Politics

Orval Faubus, Honorary AKL from Huntsville, threatened to return.

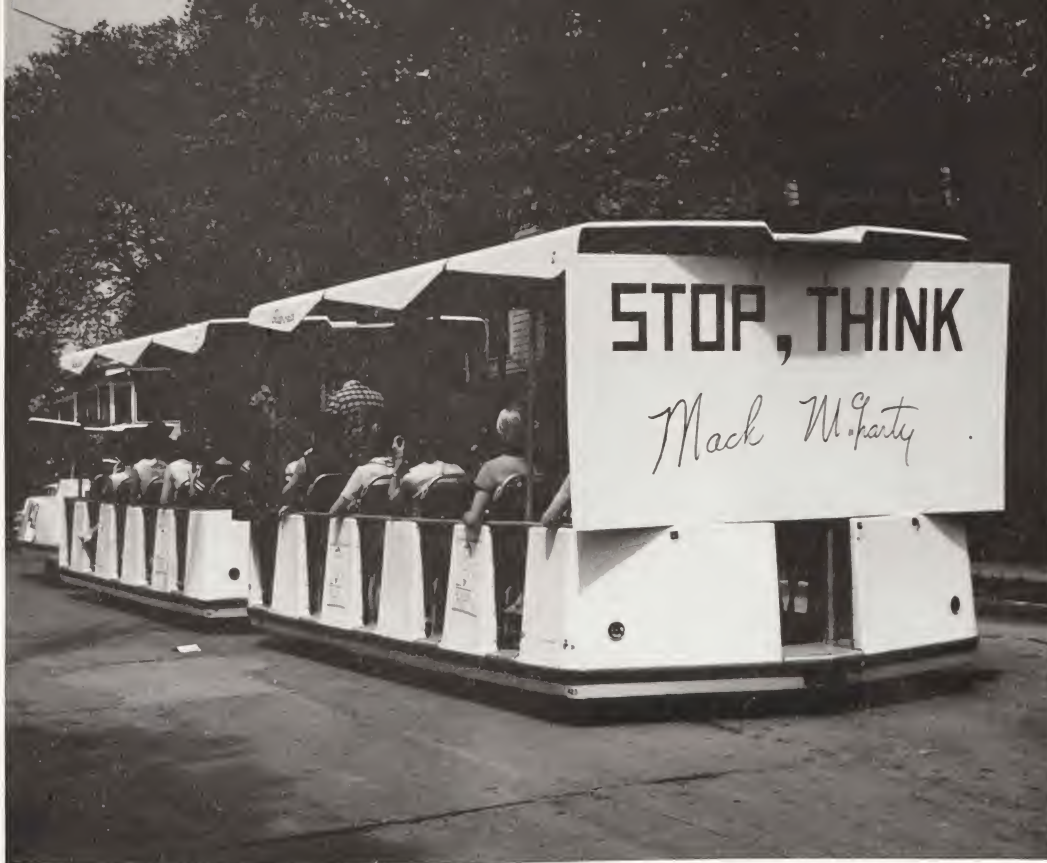

The University Reform Party, referred to as URP, ran their usual group of unknowns on a platform designed to do away with Administration rules.

Election day arrived with hundreds of campaign cars carrying voters to classes. The campaigning went on all over campus since there were polls at the Union, Reid, and Brough Commons.

Campaign material was more abundant than the votes, but a large crowd filled the Union to hear the election returns. Ten minutes before datecall, McLarty, Stubblefield and McNulty were announced as winners in their races without even a run-off. Cheers of victory echoed in the losers' ears as they left the Union with only memories and some torn campaign posters. Living groups with candidates in the run-off rushed back to make new plans.

Stark Ligon wistfully held Outstanding Greek Award before yielding it to David Harper, Sigma Nu.

Candidate proved his Dream Plank was a tangible reality.

Write-In routine sharpened dull campaign.

Traveling salesman hopped on his own bandwagon.

Pettus, a non-believer in "There's safety in numbers," preferred talking to small groups instead of speaking to large crowds.

Mentally and physically, election day was all wet. Bored Greeks spent most of day riding from poll to poll wondering where voters were.

Annual "Dirty Politics" Cry Arises

The final election day on Wednesday had a noticeable lack of excitement since the secretary's race was the only major race still in the running. Because of this, senatorial races had more emphasis on them than in the past.

Rain provided another dampener to the campaigners' spirits as they crowded under the nearest shelters. These reasons combined to make the voter turn-out one of the poorest in recent years.

Election returns were the only bright spot in the day for some. Simone Seamon won the secretary's race and the senatorial races had some close results. Elections were over and the planning started for next year.

Specially-trained honor group worked long and hard checking names.

"I'd rather do it myself," or so election tellers thought until they tried it without the assistance of the automatic Voting Machine Corporation.

Primary Closes Race, Gaebale Nears

Workers waited two hours to learn fruits of their labors. A few miscarried.

Suspenseful lull was opportune time for next year's aspirers to start hand-shaking.

The TRAVELER printed the North Central Accreditation Report concerning the U of A and its facilities. The TRAVELER said they had "no wish to embarrass the school" by printing the report, but said they thought the public had the "right to know".

President Mullins was elected vice president of the Southern Universities Conference consisting of 57 colleges in 13 states.

Pi Phi celebrated its 100th birthday by throwing a party for the campus in their backyard.

Bomb scares hit the campus regularly and everybody knew it must be spring. However the weather sure didn't know it as the temperature forced students into sweaters and jackets.

Cardinal XX members were selected, and Greg Brown, Artie Gregory and Mike Fitzhugh were chosen Gaebale directors for next year.

The campus beatniks staged a Gentle Thursday on Tuesday in front of Old Main. They called it a human be-in whose purpose was to "re-humanize a push button society".

The Honors Day Convocation presented awards to various scholars on campus.

The U of A golf team came in fourth in the Southwest Conference.

Newly tapped Mortar Boards smugly adjust tassels after picking thorns out of their eyebrows. No one ever noticed the scratches.

Queens Jeanie and Mary beamed to nervous contestants on stage.

For a $3.50 concert ticket, thousands heard non-famous "Illusions" kill time until Mitch came on.

Pike rats, thinking of their profits, greedily looked on while gay crowds gambled skins on mouse game.

Crowds, Laughter, Tears Close Year

Astounded Queen Robyn gasped with awe as she prepared to greet her applauding subjects. No one was surprised but Robyn.

Georgia Hornor and Cal Biggers served as co-directors of Gaebale, the annual party weekend at the University of Arkansas. The festivities arrived accompanied by perpetual rain storms. The rain postponed the annual Red-White game until the following Monday, when the White team upset the Big Red 33-21. The Coaster Classic was postponed to the following Saturday morning. Alpha Kappa Lambda won the speed division while Sigma Alpha Epsilon won the prize for design. Due to the heavy rains, the carnival was moved into the Men's Gym.

However, a large crowd attended the Miss University of Arkansas pageant and watched Robyn Gannaway win the title. Her alternates were Pam Norwood and Carol Soule. Pam also won the Miss Congeniality award.

Saturday afternoon, an overflow crowd filled the fieldhouse for the Gaebale concert. Mitch Ryder and Carla Thomas entertained with their singing and Mitch's off-color humor.

That night was the big carnival in the gym with some of the living groups sponsoring booths ranging from cake walks to a Playboy Club. The Junior Parker Show and the Bar Kays provided music for dancing and wandering from booth to booth. Once again Gaebale gave students a final fling before finals started and school ended.

Mitch Ryder, monkeying around with microphone, pretended it was juicy, ripe banana. No one else was hungry for fruit.

Palm-reading gypsy held hand of gullible customer who begged for more—

Division 6
Beauties

The RAZORBACK staff presents nine of the most beautiful girls on the U of A campus. Mary Craig reigned as Miss Arkansas. The other Razorback beauties are Thelma Holland, Darra Dismuke, Mary Craig, Jan Ellis, Susi Gough, Rosalind Holt, Celia Thompson, Patty Jones, and Donna Wolf.

Miss Arkansas

Mary Craig

Fulbright Hall

Mary is an Arts and Sciences freshman from Batesville. She is majoring in sociology. While serving as Miss Arkansas she has also been selected to membership in Chimes and the AWS Roles of Women committee. She has held the titles of Miss Batesville and Miss Arkansas Valley. Mary's talent for the Miss Arkansas Pageant was a song and dance routine.

Razorback Beauty

Darra Dismuke

Zeta Tau Alpha

A junior in the College of Education, Darra is from Bossier City, Louisiana. She transferred to the University of Arkansas from East Texas State University. Darra would like to travel as an airline hostess after graduation or follow her major in the field of special education. Darra is a very active member of Angel Flight.

Razorback Beauty

Jan Ellis

Chi Omega

A senior in the College of Arts and Sciences, Jan is from Hope. She is a speech major with public relations as her special field. Jan attended Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Georgia, her freshman year. She has served as both Rush and Activities Chairman of Chi Omega, IFPC Secretary, and as Class Editor of the RAZORBACK. After graduation Jan would like to enter the field of television. Her special interest is reading.

Razorback Beauty

Susie Gough

Residence Halls

Yocum and Humphreys Halls, housing respectively 539 and 440 male students, represented practically 30% of University's residence housing.

Carnall Hall

Unity Exemplified by Activities

Unity was the keyword in Carnall this year. Enthusiasm reigned as the girls participated in such activities as the ABC Poster Contest, Homecoming house decoration, Hallaballoo and the St. Patricia contest. Their efforts in the poster contest brought them the first place women's trophy.

Kathy Jones served as one of the co-chairmen of Hallaballoo, the first annual residence hall week. Cindy Woodson was selected as an alternate Razorback cheerleader. Lavada Bolt was copy editor of the Arkansas Engineer. Rhonda Carperter was named to Phi Beta Kappa.

Carnall sponsored one of the foreign exchange students, Birgitta Askeberg, from Sweden. Social activities for the year included a welcoming tea for Dean Anne Thompson and a Christmas party for underprivileged children.

Dean of Women, Anne G. Thompson, talked to Carnall women about the fate of their hall. Next year it will become a men's dorm.

Fulbright Hall

Fulbright Wins Hallaballoo Trophy

Fulbright Hall was not only the home of Mary Craig, Miss Arkansas, a place of study, and a resting place for many pins and drops; but also a residence hall for 400 freshmen women, who took part in every walk of University life.

Maratha Whiddon was selected as a ROTC sponsor while Pat Borkert was first runner-up to the Pershing Rifles sponsor. Pam Hamm was singled out to reign in the Homecoming court. Jan Whitmore represented Fulbright well when she was selected as Scabbard and Blade sponsor.

Fulbright had the largest number of women selected for Alpha Lambda Delta. They also took the lead by having 11 women chosen for Chimes.

The 1966-67 officers of Fulbright were Charlotte Leonard, president; Nancy Fesler, vice-president; Lynne McNabb, secretary; and Anne Black, treasurer.

Social activities commenced with a Halloween Party and ended with the annual spring formal, "Moonlight and Roses." Drop-ins, candellights, and exchange dinners were on the calendar regularly. Fulbright won the women's first place trophy in Residence Hall Week Relays.

During student body elections in the spring Fulbright Hall was nicknamed "Fort Knox" by the Sigma Chis. Keeping the "little gold bricks" happy was Jchnny Jackson — another one of those talented Skis — working for Mack.

Futrall Hall

AWS Scholarship Trophy Winner

Futrall Hall received as its greatest honor the AWS scholarship trophy for the largest grade point improvement. Futrall women participated in many campus activities including Student Union committees, Senate committees, campus publication, Chi Theta, and ABC. Pat Bowers was elected secretary of WIHC, Evelyn Bowen was tapped for Angel Flight, Peggy Jo Cullom was a member of the Homecoming court and Toni Ross was chosen as a ROTC sponsor.

They were under the leadership first semester of Kathy McKenzie, president; Nancy Blake, vice-president; Teresa Lewis, secretary; and Brenda Shelton, treasurer. Second semester officers were Pat Morrison, president; Tawanna Phillips, vice-president; Jerry Cornwell, secretary; and Mary Loveless, treasurer.

Functions within the dorm included a Halloween party featuring the head resident dressed as a college "kid," a discussion on birth control led by a Fayetteville physician, a Christmas party for orphans, and a hat show. Competition in the Hallaballoo relays brought a second place trophy.

Scampering through the line, this coed exhibits classic form while scrimmaging in preparation for "Hallaballoo's" powder puff football.

4-H House

Ranks Highest in Scholarship

The women of 4-H House had a successful year under the leadership of Diane Formby, president; Rosemary Gaines, vice-president; and Nancy Bratton, social chairman.

The 4-H House led University women's residence halls in scholarship. Those representing the house in organizations on campus were Kay Drennan, vice-president of AHEA; Judy Garrett, AWS Finance Committee chairman with Carol Reeves as her sophomore secretary; Judy Hersey, treasurer of WIHC, and a member of Angel Flight; Linda Smith, Agri maid; Barbara Harris, Farmhouse Sweetheart. Marilyn Harlan and Peggy Warnock were members of the freshman honorary fraternity, Alpha Lambda Delta.

There were drop-ins and listening parties in the fall. During Christmas 4-H women held a tree trimming party and the traditional Pollyanna banquet. Social functions for the spring included a faculty tea, Founder's Day, a Luau, and a square dance honoring prospective residents.

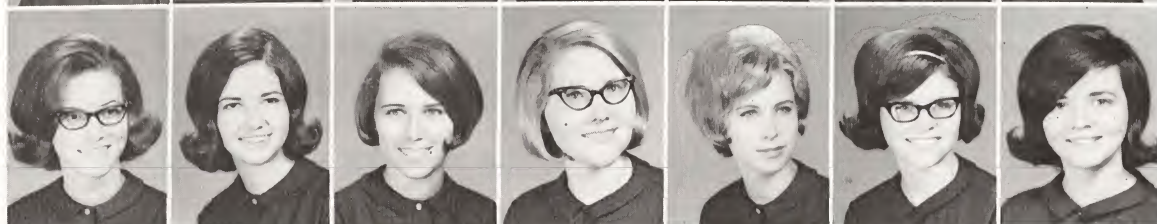

The 4-H House Luau, the highlight of their year, was held in the spring. There were food and fun aplenty.

Razorback Hall

Individuals Join Many Activities

The women of Razorback Hall enjoyed a very successful year in many phases of campus activity. Officers for the year were Janie Shepherd, president; Elizabeth Hawk, vice-president; Nancy Short, secretary; Sharon Lukes, treasurer.

Active in campus affairs, many girls brought recognition to Razorback. Judy Graves served as vice-president of WIHC, while Teena Mitchell was publicity chairman. Nancy Northcutt was president of SNEA. Judy Boyer was selected to serve on the Student Union Talent Committee. Several girls were active on campus publications.

Honors this year were numerous. Elizabeth Hawk was chosen for Phi Beta Kappa. A member of Mortar Board, Jane Hodges was listed in Who's Who. Several girls served as members of Alpha Lambda Delta and many more were sophomore counselors. Blanche Locke and Carol Vance sang in Schola. Freddie Silva played one of the lead roles in the musical production, "The Gondoliers." Ginger Shiras was elected to the Student Senate.

Social activities included a Christmas party and a Senior Breakfast, held in May.

Hallaballoo's duck stuffing contest created another contest — stealing ducks. Razorback women managed to hold on to eight of them.

Reid Hall

Newest Dorm Dedicated in April

After almost a full year of activities, the University's newest dorm was dedicated in late April. The residence hall was named in honor of the late Martha McKenzie Reid, who served as Dean of Women for seventeen years, and was responsible for bringing Mortar Board to the University of Arkansas.

Reid's women were active in all phases of campus activities including ABC, TRAVELER staff, University Theatre productions, Angel Flight, the debate team and the Marching Razorbacks. Thelma Holland was selected Razorback beauty. Patsy Hobbs was named TKE sweetheart.

Officers for the year were co-presidents, Linda Boen and Lyn Baker; Jackie Irvin, treasurer; Mary Bell, secretary.

Activities for the year included a toy drive and party for underprivileged children, art show, bridge tournament, holiday parties, smarty party, and working on a homecoming float and Gaebale booth.

Reid has already added several trophies to its new trophy case including one from ABC's "Beat Texas" poster contest for second place and an intramural badminton trophy.

House Council managed to keep cigarettes, cokes, candy and girls in slacks out of the formal living room, but they couldn't keep such perennial favorites as "Chopsticks" and "Heart and Soul" off the Piano.

First Row: Dorothy Diane Adler, Marilea Adney, Sandra Kaye Aikman, Ann Albright, Cyndy Allen, Lynne Louise Allen, Nancy Alice Alstadt.

WIHC Helps Create New Traditions

Carolyn Holcomb
President

New traditions were started this year for residence halls. Residence Hall Week, a joint project of Women's Inter Hall Council and MIHC, was held for the first time. The Week was highly successful and will be held again next year. WIHC was also of help in establishing Tau Alpha Upsilon, an honorary fraternity for selected residence hall members.

All women's residence halls and 4-H House send representatives to WIHC, which serves as a governing body. Officers for the year were: Carolyn Holcombe, President; Judy Graves, Vice-President; Pat Bowers, Secretary; Judy Hersey, Treasurer; Teena Mitchell, Publicity Chairman.

Projects for the year included giving a tea for Dean Anne Thompson, sponsoring foreign students, and giving a health film on the dangers of narcotics. Early in the fall WIHC and MIHC co-sponsored both the annual Casino Carnival and an all-residence halls dance. WIHC selected an outstanding senior girl in the residence hall program and presented a scholarship trophy to 4-H House at the AWS Spring Festival. WIHC also sent a large delegation to the NACURH convention, which was held in Lawrence, Kansas.

MIHC Co-Sponsors "Hallaballoo"

Men's Inter-House Congress is composed of representatives from all men's residence halls and is designed to organize and coordinate student activities in the residence hall area.

MIHC cooperated with WIHC in sponsoring Residence Hall Week, "Hallaballoo." Lamar Pettus served as co-chairman of the Week, which featured a "Four Seasons" concert and a speech by Paul Harvey, a nationally known news commentator. Other activities included "powder puff" football games, a "bed race" and the Hallaballoo Relays. The Resident Hall Week was climaxed by a dance featuring the "McCoys."

Other MIHC projects and social activities included a Victory Dance, the annual Casino Carnival, free entertainment films for residence hall men, and free athletic equipment. MIHC offered awards to residence hall men for academic excellence. The MIHC Political Commission sponsored forums for candidates for student body offices. MIHC sent a large delegation to the NACURH convention, held in Lawrence, Kansas.

Officers for the year were Darrell Rippy, President; Hollis Reed, Vice-President; Tom Eans, Secretary; Larry Wright, Treasurer; and Bill Cameron, Social Chairman.

Gladson House

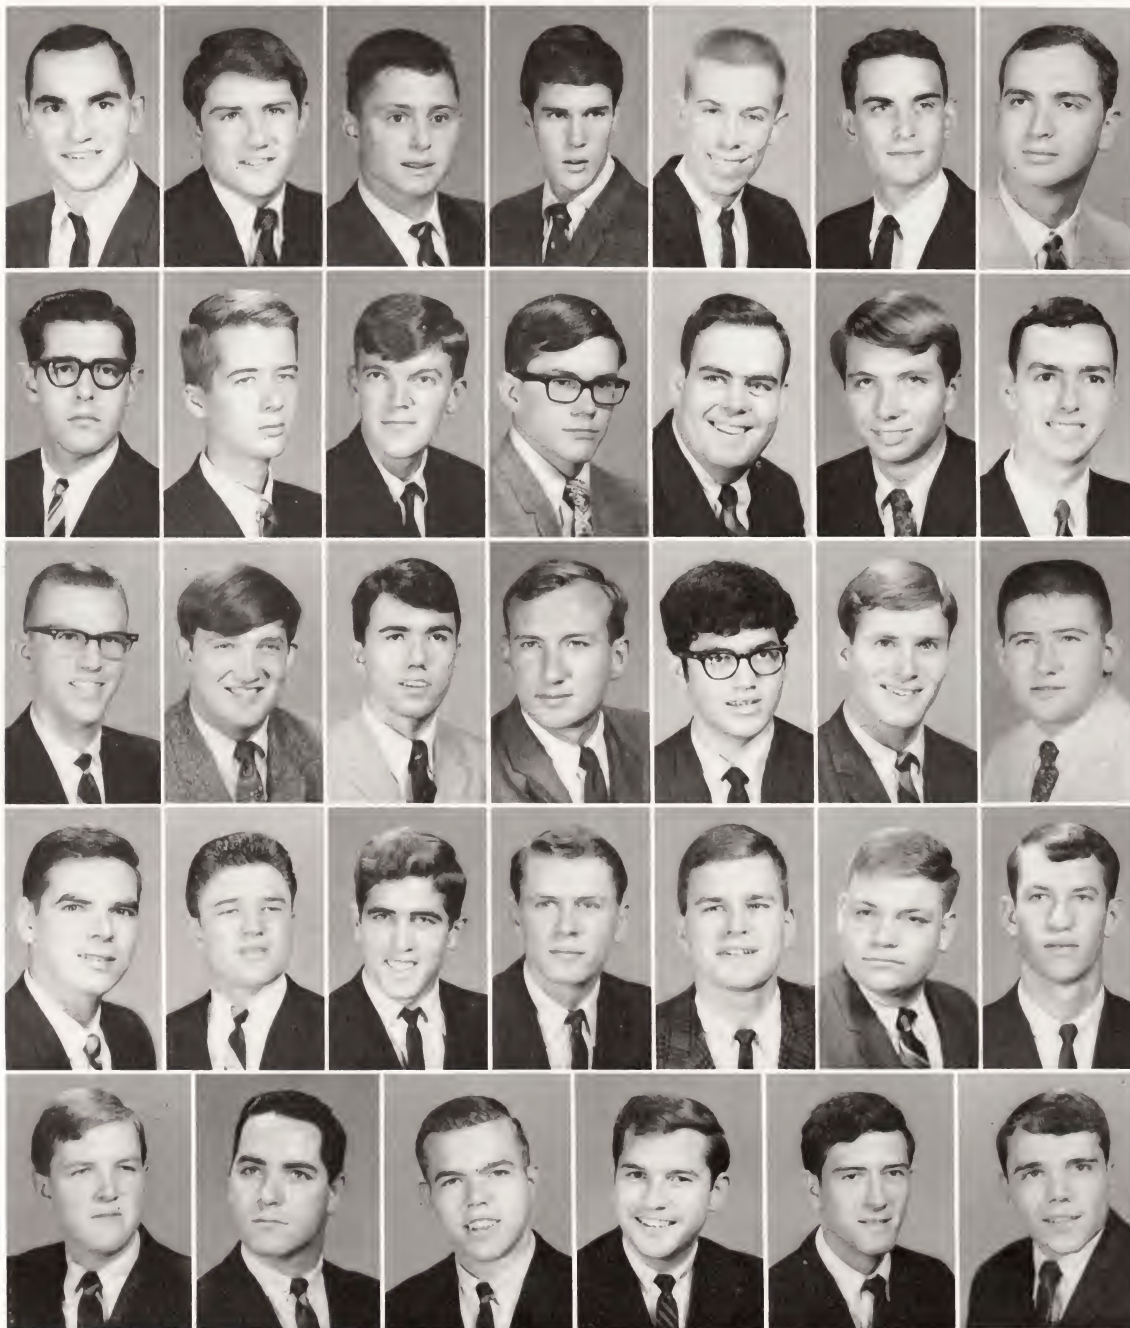

Still maintaining their part on the University of Arkansas campus are the upper-class residents of Gladson House. This school year, 1966-67, was filled with participation in many of the campus organizations and various social activities.

Besides being active in intramural sports, the men of Gladson were represented in Civic Club, M.I.H.C., various professional fraternities and several church organizations during the regular school year.

Social activities included exchange-dinners, Christmas party and several informal drop-ins.

The officers for Gladson for the year were Sam Harper, President; Edward Morgan, Vice-President; Alan Fabrycky, Secretary; Mike Crist, Treasurer; Carl Davis, Social Chairman; and Eddie Hargis, M.I.H.C. representative who served the house well.

Holcombe Hall

Super Dorm Has Exciting Year

For the first time in its history Holcombe Hall housed men and what a year they had! Leading Holcombe through an active and prosperous year were the officers: Presidents, Phil Reece and Tom Kresse; Vice-President, Terry Green; Secretary, Don Roberts; Treasurer, Ken Coleman and Jim Brown; Social Chairman, John Boyle and Mike Matthew; Intramural managers, Bob Billingsley and Bill Barnes.

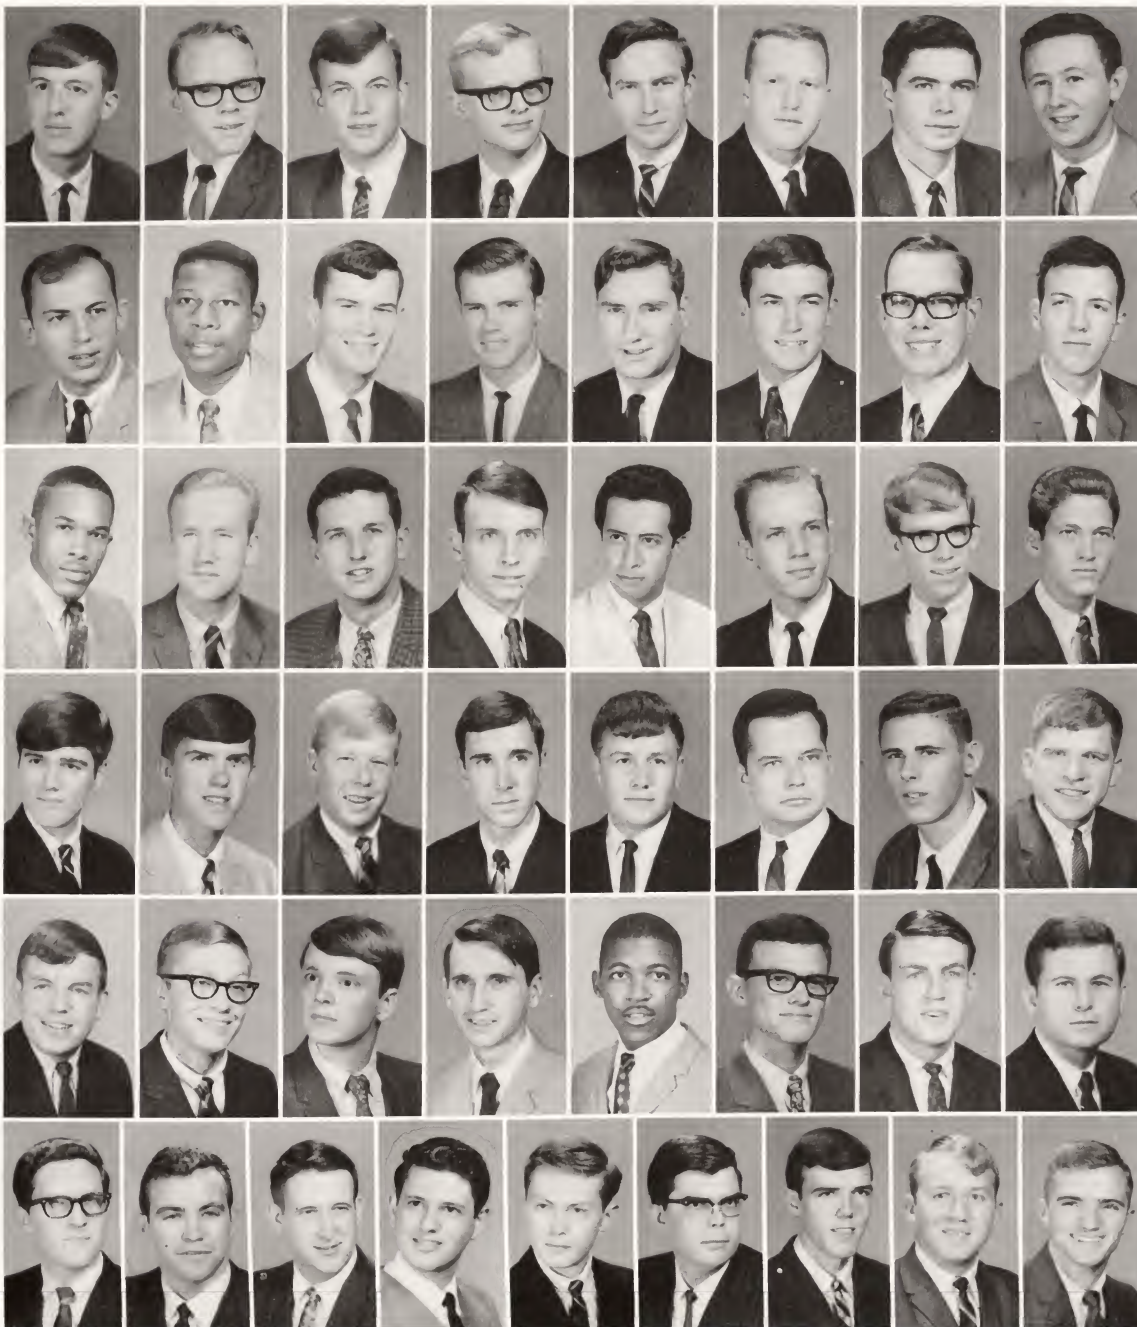

An extraordinary intramural season resulted in Holcombe literally running away with the Resident Intramural Championship, winning first place in golf, football, tennis, basketball, volleyball, and baseball.

Although intramurals were an important facet of Holcombe's extracurricular activities, numerous social functions also highlighted the year. Among them were a Texas Watch Party, Christmas Orphan's Party, several drop-ins, some memorable outings, and the big "Super Dorm" Spring dance.

Holcombe also took honors by winning the annual Singfony and by accumulating the second highest Resident Hall grade point. On numerous occasions the men of Holcombe were privileged to hear from some outstanding U. of A. professors.

The enthusiasm of the men of Holcombe Hall was evident during Homecoming as finishing touches were put on house decorations.

Humphrey's Hall

Humphrey's Stages Political Forum

Scholastically, there were seventy-four men who received scholarship awards from the Men's Inter-House Congress. In the fields of intramurals many people participated in various activities.

Humphrey's pep was seen at the pep rallies and in the Homecoming house decoration. A red pig with the remains of a mustang illustrated our war-like feelings toward SMU at that time.

On the social calendar, a Hall dance, several exchange dinners and dances, and two drop-ins were prominent events. A Christmas dinner party was given for many needy children this year.

Excellent leadership came from its first and second semester officers in the Senate. The first freshman forum was initiated. The Hall constitution was revised this year also. The Fall semester officers were: Doak Sullivan, President; John Williams, Vice-President; Ed Barten, Secretary-Treasurer; Bruce Sass, Social Chairman; and Greg Reed, M.I.H.C. representative and Marty Davis who was the representative for Humphreys in the Student Senate.

The boys shown below, from the fifth floor Humphrey's, were a good example of the fine participation Humphrey's had in intramurals.

William House

William House — First In Grades

The men of William House experienced another successful year with participation in all phases of campus activities. Hollis Reed served as Vice-President of M.I.H.C. and Larry Wright served as Treasurer. Judon Fambrough was a member of Student Senate, tapped for Blue Key, and selected for Who's Who. Various organizations were represented: Tau Beta Pi, Phi Eta Sigma, Alpha Kappa Psi, Alpha Phi Mu, Alpha Zeta, Pi Mu Epsilon, and Kappa Kappa Psi.

Scholarship was a primary concern of the men of William House as they ranked first in grade point averages among men's residence halls.

A Christmas party for underprivileged children was given; other social events included a "Beat SMU" Homecoming dance and other dances, outings, and M.I.H.C. functions. Coordinating these activities were the officers who were, Darrel Rice, President; Warner Smith, Vice-President; Roy Pattons, Secretary; and Gene Cogbill, Treasurer. For the Spring semester Warner Smith, Vice-President; Bob Dahms, Secretary; Jess Curtis, Treasurer; President, Darrel Rice.

During Resident Hall Week these boys from William House got in the bed race, but a problem arose when they tried to take their bed partner back to their house for a course in personal persuasion.

Sedgewell Hall

Sedgewell Men Sponsor Drop-in

The men of Sedgewell House were under the leadership during the fall semester of Joe Martine, President; Wes Barton and Marvin Wilson, Vice-Presidents; John Watkins, Secretary; and Jack Neal, Treasurer. The officers during the spring semester were Wes Barton, President; John Watkins, Vice-President; Herschel Cast, Secretary; and Arthur Bowie, Treasurer.

Sedgewell was active this year in all campus activities, such as Homecoming and open houses. They helped sponsor a Homecoming dance for upper-classmen and a Christmas party for under-privileged children. Other social functions included coffees, drop-ins, and M.I.H.C. and M.U.R.C.H. functions. The men were also active in intramural sports.

Ranking high on campus scholastically, the men of Sedgewell were active in many honorary fraternities and service groups.

At a drop-in Sedgewell had with Razorback during this past year, these boys seemed to wonder how it was that no matter what efforts they tried to make, they saw the same girls day, after day, after . . .

Wilson Sharp

Hogs Host Prospective Athletes

As the campus home of the Arkansas Razorbacks, Wilson Sharp House has seen more than its share of excitement over the years. Whether planned or not, its social season often comes to a climax with an important football or basketball victory. Although a Bowl game was not on the agenda during 1966-67, the Porkers had more than their share of glory.

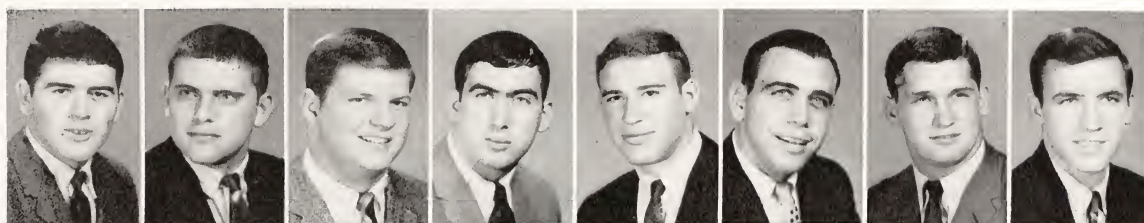

A carefully-planned social schedule is worked out every year with House Mother Mrs. Karle Smith. These plans include drop-ins after each home football game — with special decorations for Dad's Day and Homecoming; a gala Christmas party; a festive Spring Dance; and invitations to a series of banquets at each of the sorority houses. The leadership of Wilson Sharp House encourages participation in as many campus activities as possible. Elected to serve as officers for the coming year were Larry Watkins, president; Joe Paul Daves, vice-president; and Ernest Ruple, social chairman. Although some 120 athletes live in Wilson Sharp House, all scholarship athletes (including the married ones) are invited to take part in its program.

Standing in the receiving line are the house mother, house officers, and guest, who welcomed the visiting prospects from a large number of high schools.

Ripley House

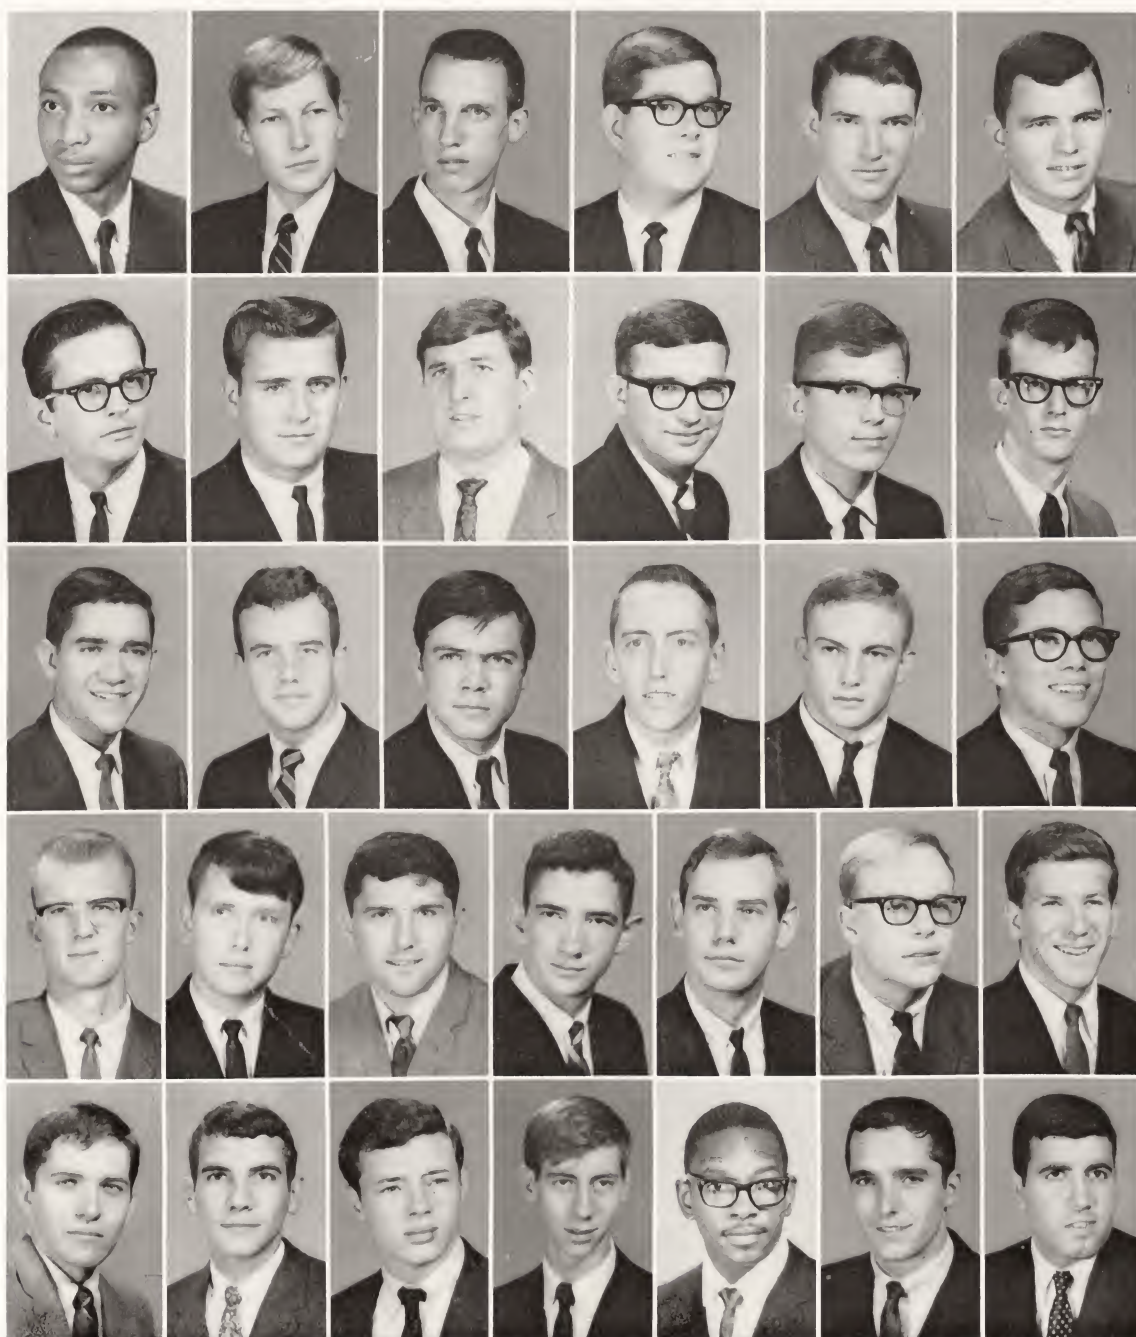

Intramural sports were the spotlight of Ripley House activities during the year. Ripley placed fourth in residence hall football, and gained berth in the basketball tournament.

Officers for the year were Paul Rainwater, President; Richard Pearson, Vice-President; Bill Dixon, Secretary; Jerry DeJarnett, Treasurer; Doug Scott, Social Chairman; and Brad Firestone, Intramural Manager.

Residents of Ripley were active in such activities as M.I.H.C., Board of Publications, Student Senate Executive Cabinet, SAM, Marketing Club, and the Razorback Marching Band. There were also many men recognized by honorary organizations such as Eta Kappa Nu, Tau Beta Pi, Theta Tau, Blue Key, Who's Who, Pi Mu Epsilon, and Kappa Kappa Psi.

Yocum Hall

Yocum Freshmen Clinched Honors

By far, this has been the most successful year in the history of Yocum Hall. Scholastically, the men of Yocum had the fourth highest grade point average among men's residence halls with approximately twenty-five percent of the men compiling a 3.0 or better.

Mark Meyers and Alan Odum represented the men of Yocum Hall in the Student Senate. Under the supervision of Fred Hill, Yocum won second place in the Homecoming float competition; also under the direction of Tony Davis, the men of Yocum took the second place trophy in Singfony. Members of the Yocum Senate were very active this year. The Senate worked on a Hallaballoo '67, entered a booth in Gaebale and, in conjunction with the Humphreys Senate, sponsored a leadership lab for members of the Senate.

Participation in intramural sports was also an important extracurricular activity for the men of Yocum. In the dorm division, Yocum seven placed second, while one and six also placed in the ten.

An active social life by the men of Yocum Hall was highlighted by Homecoming and Dad's Day dances and a Christmas party for sixty children.

The officers for this year were Bob Harp, President; Ed Halk, Vice-President; Gary Reed, Secretary-Treasurer; and Larry Bearden, Social Chairman. Tom Sacken was Senate Advisor.

This group was the product of a distinct minority to maintain the image of the whole, but they did capture second place honors in Singfony, which was some compensation for the time and effort put into their presentation.

Panhellenic Works for Greek Unity

Charles Mary Webb, Panhellenic President

The U of A Panhellenic Council strives to maintain harmonious Greek life and inter-sorority relationships among the sororities on campus. Major emphasis is placed on cooperation with the administration in their efforts to maintain high social and scholastic standards.

Activities of the council are to make and enforce all rules that govern rush and pledging. Each spring the council gives a coke party for all freshman girls interested in participating in fall rush.

Two scholarship cups are given each year for the highest grade point average of a pledge class and sorority chapter, respectively. Panhellenic also awards three scholarships annually at the AWS Spring Festival.

Panhellenic gives awards each spring to the Outstanding Greek Faculty Woman and the Outstanding Senior Greek Woman. These are presented at the Greek Week banquet. In cooperation with Greek Week, Panhellenic also sponsors the Pan-Olympic games in which all fraternities participate.

IFC Plans For New Fraternity

The Interfraternity Council is an organization designed for the purpose of regulating and co-ordinating the activities of the social fraternities at the University of Arkansas. It is composed of the president of each fraternity and two elected representatives from each house. The Dean of Men serves as an advisor, and the officers are elected from the membership itself.

I.F.C. was very active this year. Legislation included a much needed revision of the by-laws, establishment of chartering and colony requirements for new fraternities coming on campus, and a revision of the rush rules. This spring the I.F.C. established four $200.00 scholarships to be awarded each year beginning in the fall of 1967. In addition, definite plans were made for a new fraternity to colonize at Arkansas next fall.

Other activities included several workshops held during the year for fraternity officers. These workshops dealt with such topics as finances, scholarship, and rush. Also, much work was done in the area of public relations in an effort to improve the fraternity system's image both locally and statewide.

The year 1966-67 once again saw Acacia increasing and bettering its brief sixteen-year record at Arkansas by diligently seeking achievement in scholarship, leadership, and social life. Among the campus positions held by Acacia were: Pres. of the Senior Class, Richard Stubbs; Co-director of Gaebale, Cal Biggers; President of the American Chemical Society, Steve Loibner; Student Senate, Harry Bjornberg, Charles Stubblefield, and Cal Biggers; IFC Public Relations Chairman and Associate Editor of the IFC Rush Book, Greg Brown; RAZORBACK Military Editor, Roger Giles and Charles Stubblefield, ARKANSAS ENGINEER Staff, Paul Douglas, who also maintained a 4.00 scholastic record. Also Acacia was well represented by five members in Scabbard and Blade: Richard Stubbs, Jim White, Cal Biggers, Charles Hill, and Charles Stubblefield. Arnold Air Society tapped Jim White and Mike Johnson. Charles Stubblefield represented Acacia in ODK.

Socially, the year was highlighted with many fall and spring outings, dropins, and the traditional "End of the World" party. Concluding the Social Calendar were the Sack Dance and the Black and Gold Formal.

Alpha Gamma Rho

A New House For AGR

Alpha Iota of Alpha Gamma Rho moved into its new house this past fall. The dedication was held on March 12, in which all AGR National Officers were present.

Individual achievements, based on academic and extracurricular activities, were won by many AGR's this year. Dan Kennett served as secretary of IFC, Vice-President of ASA, and Business Manager of the Arkansas Agriculturist. Len Cotton, tapped for membership in ODK and Alpha Zeta, served as Co-Editor of the Arkansas Agriculturist. Mickey Wilbur and Bill O'Bar were AGR's men in Blue Key. Stan Wingert and Jim McCoy were selected for membership in Phi Eta Sigma.

In the College of Agriculture, Bill Green was President of ASA and David McNeal was treasurer. Alpha Zeta had Roy Runyan as President and Stan Wingert as treasurer, as well as nine other members. Galen Bryant served as President of Alpha Tau Alpha, James Aikman treasurer, and Wayland Holloway secretary. Ken Hurst was elected President of the Agri Economics club.

Social events included the Pledge Dance, the Pink Rose Formal, and the Spring Outing.

Farmhouse

Farmhouse Stresses Scholarship

Farmhouse Fraternity was organized as an agricultural brotherhood in Columbia, Missouri in 1905. The fraternity strives to further develop character, leadership, and scholarship among its members and also to provide a service and a proud dignity to the agricultural professions.

The men of Farmhouse carefully choose prospective members for their potentialities in these same concepts. For one member can do no action that does not reflect upon his chapter and his brothers in Farmhouse across the nation.

Farmhouse men are active leaders in clubs and campus organizations: holding offices, serving as committee chairmen, and working as effective members of the team. Scholastic leadership of Arkansas Farmhouse is unquestioned, being highest academically for twenty-four of twenty-five semesters.

Farmhouse also strives to develop a well-rounded life for its membership. This is done by parties, outings, and athletic competition in intramural sports.

SAE Captures AAA Intramurals

Throughout the year the Alphas participated in various campus activities. Jack McNulty was elected Student Body treasurer and Tommy Massey vice-pres. of B. A. school. SAE contributed eight of the thirty-five member National Blue Key organization with J. J. Scroggin as vice-pres. Three SAE's were named to Who's Who. Cardinal XX claimed three Alphas of which Robert Patton was treasurer. Allen Lee served as vice-pres. of AED. Noel Nash was president of both Theta Tau and I.E.E.E. Organizational officers included: Sandy Ladage, pres. of ABC; Mac McBryde, vice-pres. of I.F.P.C.; Bart Lindsey, co-chairman of Student Union Entertainment Committee; Stark Ligon, Co-Director of Greek Week. In addition, Hank Weaver served as Business Manager of the Razorback, and Walter Slaughter was feature editor of the Traveler.

SAE's spring and fall semesters were highlighted by spaghetti dinners and dances following every football game, dropins, the Christmas formal, exchange dinners, the annual "Hell's Angel" pledge party, and the famous "Jungle Party." However, not all was play for SAE, as this year's hard work culminated in the Alphas winning Triple-A Intramurals for the third consecutive year.

As he swung around, one Alpha's attention was caught by the broad rhythm of a slender ribbon.

Sigma Pi

Sigma Pi Has Senate V. Pres.

Alpha Sigma Chapter of Sigma Pi celebrated an outstanding year of accomplishments in every phase of campus life this year. Topping the list was the completion of a 57-man addition, making it one of the largest and most modern fraternity houses on campus. It's fall pledge class led all fraternity pledge classes in scholarship. Rounding out its social calendar were the fabulous Singapore Sling, the Orchid Spring Formal, the Founder's Day banquet, dance and open house, and several other house parties, exchange dinners, and dropins.

In leadership Kent Burnett served as vice-president of the student body, president of Theta Tau, Engineering Council, and Who's Who; Joe Sing served as Cheerleader captain and member of ODK and Scabbard and Blade; Jon Keel was editor of the Arkansas Engineer, a cheerleader, and pledge trainer of Theta Tau; and Ray Vester was elected treasurer of IFC. Kent Burnett, Ray Vester, and Jon Keel were tapped for Blue Key, and Jon was elected as secretary for the next year. Sigma PIs were prominent in nearly every other campus activity including: Razorback photographer, IFC rush chairman, and three Razorback football players.

Tau Kappa Epsilon

Tekes Active In Publications

The Theta Xi chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon upheld the TKE image at the University of Arkansas. As Theta Xi's membership grew, there was a corresponding rise in the number of TKEs active in student government, publications, and sports.

Represented on two of the three major student government committees, TKE held the chairmanship of the Traveler Expansion Committee with Laverne Holifield. Mike Norton also served on this committee, and Tripper Cronkite worked on the Transit System Committee. Mike Sullivan served on the IFC Judicial Board and on the Fraternity Expansion Committee.

In Publications, Lannie Winberry was an assistant Sports Editor of the RAZORBACK, while Tripper Cronkite wrote columns for the TRAVELER. Kenn Maples was an assistant photographer for the TRAVELER and the RAZORBACK.

In other activities, Terry Jones made the Debate Team, and Mike Sullivan was tapped for Scabbard and Blade.

On the social side, TKEs kept busy during the fall with outings, pre-game luncheons and post-game parties. The Come-As-Your-Favorite-Hero party was the highlight of the fall semester.

Theta Tau

Theta Tau Excels In Leadership

Theta Tau is a professional fraternity open only to engineers. The Taus were very active in the organizations of Engine School, including several officers in engineering societies, honor societies, and the Engineering Council. Members of Theta Tau have also continued to show leadership ability in the many phases of campus life by placing John Keel, Stan Mattison, Steve Freeman, Bruce Eley, and Floyd Murphy in Blue Key and Randy Murphy in ODK this year. Officers in Blue Key for the spring included Jeff Kennington as Vice-President, Jon Keel as secretary, and Stan Mattison as treasurer. Ray Owen served as president of IFC, and along with Gus Vratsinas and Kent Burnett, was chosen in Who's Who. Kent Burnett also served as Vice-President of Associated Students.

Although scholastic achievement is an important phase of Theta Tau's life, the social calendar was well filled. In the fall, the Founder's Day Banquet was held, and in the spring, the St. Patricia Banquet and Local Founding Day Banquet were held. Interspersed among these events were several infamous outings.

Engineers sponsor their Rally each year in March. The characters below desperately attempted to capture the St. Pat crown for their candidate.

ABC Encourages Campus Spirit

The Arkansas Booster Club was formed for the purpose of organizing spirit on campus to support the various athletic teams at the University. This year they helped with many activities such as Homecoming, Dad's Day, 'Beat Texas Week,' and the pep rallies preceding each of the football games. Basketball received more emphasis this past season as the ABC did more and more to promote attendance at these games. Another change in ABC's format was the elimination of freshmen as members and the pledging program. Two representatives from each living group on campus were selected through 'smokers' held during the fall semester.

Groups Share Interest in Science

Alpha Epsilon Delta and Alpha Chi Sigma are pictured together here because of their mutual interests in the sciences, notably chemistry. Alpha Chi Sigma, an honorary chemistry majors' fraternity, was founded on this campus in 1928. This year they sponsored the Science Fair and provided tutoring in chemistry for undergraduates. After graduation, members of the college section may be affiliated with the professional branch.

Alpha Epsilon Delta is an international pre-medical society whose membership is based on leadership, character and grades. This year they brought speakers from the American Medical Association and also programs of interest to pre-med students. As special projects, they collected samples of medicine to send overseas, helped in the blood drive and sponsored a "Pre-Med Day."

The American Society of Agricultural Engineers is open for membership to all engineering students who are especially interested in the advancement of agriculture. This year, ASAE was active in providing Agri Engineers with ideas about the profession and in giving them a chance to meet and talk with prominent members of the profession. Industrial interviewers visiting the campus, and men within the Department spoke at their bimonthly meetings. The members also participated in the events of the Engineers' Week and Rally.

Alpha Epsilon is the honorary group of ASAE and is composed of the top fifth of the junior and senior students. Members of this group cooperated with the members of the larger group in their projects and meetings during the year.

The Agronomy Club is composed of agronomy majors in the College of Agriculture. In their meetings lecturers and programs of interest were presented. This year their purpose was to encourage interest in their field. Members of the Agronomy Club sponsored outings in the spring and fall, cotton picking contests and soil judging contests. The club also collected money to send one of their members as a delegate to the National Convention.

AHEA Sponsors Social Functions

The University of Arkansas' chapter of the American Home Economics Association draws its members from the College of Home Economics. This year they sponsored a civic and money-making project as well as bringing speakers to the campus. One of AHEA's functions this year was to promote more unity within their college. Towards this goal, they gave a tea for their faculty members at Christmas and sponsored a "Drop-In" for all the students in Home Economics.

AIA Features Noted Speakers

The local chapter of the American Institute of Architecture is composed of all students of architecture. During the years, the AIA has tried to help the students learn more about their role in the national group. The national organization is the professional group for the nation's architects and composes the voice and governing body of the architects. This year the club sponsored several 'get-acquainted' parties and 'listening' parties for the members. Noted architects such as Bruce Goff, Bob Church and Bob Shaheen were brought to the campus to lecture. AIA also sponsored a series of films and the annual field trip to New York City during the end of March.

AZ, ATA Aid Agri Students

Alpha Zeta and Alpha Tau Alpha are both organizations which are sponsored by the College of Agriculture. Alpha Zeta is an honorary group whose members have been chosen on the basis of leadership, personality and character. They must also have been ranked in the upper two-fifths of their class. This year their major function was the tutoring of other students.

Alpha Tau Alpha is composed of students of Agriculture planning to teach vocational agriculture. All members must have completed forty-five hours and have a "C" average or better.

Both groups worked with the rest of the College of Agriculture to plan Agri Day.

Animal Industry Sponsors Teams

The Animal Industry Club is an animal husbandry group which is open to students in the fields of animal and poultry husbandry. This year their main project was to raise money to sponsor judging teams and inter-collegiate contests of livestock expositions. They also promoted interest in their college by setting up five annual Senior Awards which are to be given to Animal Science majors. Working with other groups in the College of Agriculture, they helped with the Agri Day.

AWS Suggests Rule Changes

The Associated Women Students' Legislative Board is a group consisting of the chairmen of various standing boards and elected representatives from each woman's living group on campus. The object of this organization was to give women students a representative form of government and a voice with the administration. The board made several rules suggestions to the Deans this year. The most noted proposal was the 'Senior Key.' This meant that the Administration would consider giving house and dorm keys to all Senior women thus relieving them of date call. A questionnaire was distributed to all houses concerning this and other possible changes in house and dorm administration. The AWS newsletter, "The Coed Courier," was published each month.

Baptists Hold State Convention

The Baptist Student Union is a religious organization on campus centered around student-led devotional meetings. This year they had many different types of programs bringing in various speakers and sponsoring a Denominational Dialogue Team. Also, they had a very successful State Convention in Russellville. Mission work was stressed this year, and many of the members applied for missionary work during the summer months. The BSU welcomed all students to participate in its program.

OFFICERS: First Row: Kay Helms, Corresponding Secretary, Carolyn McCulloch, First Vice President, Second Row: Lesley Howe, Treasurer, Wallace Borgeson, Vice President, Norman Pool, Recording Secretary, Dick Wyatt, President.

Beta Alpha Psi is a national accounting fraternity which is both an honorary professional and scholastic organization whose aim is to strengthen the accounting field. This year Alpha Iota chapter of Beta Alpha Psi brought in many speakers, representatives of the accounting profession, to lecture to them. The members also published a directory of the chapter alumni for their members.

Blue Key Sponsors Razorback Day

Blue Key is an honorary organization taking its members from men of the junior and senior classes. Selection is based on grades and leadership. This year the group sponsored the annual Razorback Day for high school students on the weekend of the Tulsa game. The day drew the largest attendance since the program was started. In the spring, the group sponsored the very successful "Arkansas Career Days" which brought more than fifty Arkansas firms to interview students for jobs. At the end of the year, they had the Alumni banquet during which they presented awards to three outstanding faculty members. As a final project, Blue Key began work on their "Dollars for Scholars" drive which will eventually result in the awarding of scholarships to outstanding students.

OFFICERS: First Row: Tom Rakes, Secretary, Bob Harriell, President. Second Row: J. J. Scroggin, Vice President, Robert Shetty, Alumni Secretary.

OFFICERS: Robert Patton, Treasurer, Jim Johnson, Vice President, Al Hanby, President, Don Gibson, Secretary.

Cardinal XX is a service organization of sophomore men chosen as outstanding freshmen at the end of the previous year. As indicated in the name, twenty are selected for membership each year. This year, their functions consisted of helping out in all phases of registration. They also assisted in the fall orientation program and worked with other honorary groups on campus including their sponsor group, ODK, in the faculty and course evaluation survey that was made. Chosen by interviews and on various qualities such as leadership, scholarship, personality, and campus activities, membership in this group has started many a freshman on the road to campus prestige.

AICHE Convention Held at UofA

The local chapter of the American Institute of Chemical Engineers was founded on this campus in 1935 with the purpose of encouraging interest in the field of chemical engineering. On December third this last fall, the American Institute of Chemical Engineers convention was held on the University campus. A speaking contest was held to discuss the problem of whether to get a Masters or to go directly into business after graduation. Throughout the year, speakers were brought here from various fields of industry to lecture.

Tau Sigma is the honorary fraternity for chemical engineers. Its members must have a 2.5 accumulative with 60 hours and at least 6 hours of chemical engineering courses. This year, the members helped tutor undergraduates in engineering and aided the department in various ways, as in the Engineers' Open House. Together, the two groups worked along with the rest of the college of Engineering in the organization of Engineers' Week including the Engin Rally and contest and Engineers' Open House.

Chimes Help with Campus Activities

OFFICERS: First Row: Beth Williamson, President, Ellen Pinkerton, Treasurer, Kim Davey, Social Chairman. Second Row: Glenn Ann Blakemore, Secretary, Miss Ruth Cohoon, Faculty Sponsor, Robyn Cannaway, Historian, Jean Woodell, Vice President.

Chimes is an honorary service organization for girls who are chosen during the second semester of their freshman year. During their sophomore year, these twenty outstanding women assisted in many aspects of University life. They acted as hostesses many times and conducted numerous high school students on guided tours around the campus. During registration they helped in several ways and also made the confusing process of getting new, modernized ID cards much easier. Working with other honorary groups on campus, especially their brother organization, Cardinal XX, they aided in the proceedings of "Arkansas Career Days" and Razorback Day. Chimes also published the annual edition of "On The Hill," a booklet of information which is distributed to all incoming freshmen in their packets at registration.

Chi Theta Women Aid in BA

Chi Theta is an honorary organization which promotes the role of women in business. Their members are taken from sophomores, juniors, and seniors with a 2.5 accumulative grade average in the College of Business Administration. At Christmas time, the members of this organization were responsible for decorating the BA building for the holiday season. In a more serious line, they published a definitive book on the various organizations to be found in the business school. To recruit new members, they gave a coke party for their freshman women interested in becoming members of Chi Theta. In their meetings, speakers and discussions on women in business were presented.

Circle K, the college branch of Kiwanis International, is composed of undergraduate men. A service organization, it sponsored the Red Cross Bloodmobile once each of the semesters. Its members also had other service projects, among which was acting as ushers at the Razorback football games. In its weekly meetings, interesting programs and speakers were presented, along with a short business session. Circle K's sponsors came from the instructors on campus who were members of the Downtown Kiwanis Club. Many of the projects that Circle K worked in were in conjunction with the Fayetteville Kiwanis Club.

Civic Club Heads Charity Drives

The Civic Club, whose members are drawn from each living group on campus, is representative of the entire student body. Representatives are elected by their own living group for one year. Last fall Civic Club sponsored Singfony, and in the spring it held the annual Campus Chest project featuring the Campus Sweetheart and Campus Lover Contests. These two fund-raising projects were similar in many respects to the workings of the United Fund, since the two events took care of all charitable donations for the entire year at the University. As a result, the individual living groups enjoyed immunity from numerous requests from various organizations for donations. The members of the Club itself decided in their meetings how the money should be distributed. At the end of the year, all money collected was portioned out to the United Fund, Boy Land of Arkansas, and the World University Service.

CE's Help Sponsor 'Engin' Rally

The American Society of Civil Engineers is composed of students majoring in civil engineering in the College of Engineering. This organization served to set up professional contacts and provided speakers from the varied fields of civil engineering for its members. Activities of ASCE included field trips, projects for Engineers' Week Open House, and a spring banquet and outing for all its members.

Chi Epsilon is the honorary civil engineering fraternity. Its membership was drawn from the top third of the junior and senior classes. Its purpose was to recognize and aid outstanding students in their pursuit of an engineering career. Chi Epsilon participated in Engineers' Week and jointly sponsored several speakers with ASCE.

Guild Sponsors Day and Banquet

The Commerce Guide is an elected body of men and women who represent the entire student body enrolled in the college of Business Administration. The officers of each class form the Guild in their meetings held every other Tuesday. On Commerce Day this spring, the Commerce Guild was responsible for the business seminars and the Commerce Banquet. They have worked to promote the aims of business on the campus by assisting BA freshmen and by bringing guest speakers to lecture on various fields in business. Members of the Guild, as students of Business Administration, were responsible for the publication of "The Guild Ticker," the official yearly publication of the College. The magazine was distributed on Commerce Day, April Sixth.

IEEE's Help with Open House

The Institute of Electrical and Electronics Engineers, Inc. is the largest professional engineering society in the world. Student branches of the IEEE are established in more than 200 approved colleges, universities, and schools throughout the country. The Institute provided students with an unusual opportunity to associate educationally and socially with fellow engineering students through professional talks, group discussions, and projects. IEEE participated in the Engineers' Week Open House and the Engin Rally.

Eta Kappa Nu is the honorary fraternity for junior and senior electrical engineers. Membership was based on grades, drawing the top students from each class. This year Eta Kappa Nu had as its objectives the improving of the student lounge facilities and helping to improve student-faculty relations. They also assisted with the Open House, the State Science Fair, and provided an award to the outstanding Sophomore Electrical Engineering student this year.

'Engin' Council Plans Week, Rally

The Engineering Council is composed of elected representatives from the entire school of Engineering along with the manager and the editor of the AR-KANSAS ENGINEER. As usual, the main project of this group was the organization and execution of Engineers' Week. The entire weekend consisted of programs of interest to the Engineering school. Thursday night was the banquet featuring skits about the professors. Friday was the 'Engin Rally' and elections of St. Pat and St. Patricia. Saturday night featured a dance at which the "Romans" played. Engineering Council, in a more serious endeavor, handled magazines and services for the Engineering Library.

IFPC Encourages Greek Unity

OFFICERS: Johnny Hearnberger, President, Jan Driskill, Treasurer, Jean Woodell, Secretary, Mac McBryde, Vice President.

The Interfraternity Pledge Council is a directive and administrative body to encourage cooperation between all pledge classes. The members are composed of two pledges from each fraternity and sorority on campus. This spring, IFPC assisted the IFC and Panhellenic councils in Greek Week. At the same time, they also sponsored the IFPC dance. This year, the IFPC raised money for two $100 scholarships by selling streamers. They also selected one sorority pledge and one fraternity pledge as Ideal Pledges.

Cole, IE, Reigns as St. Pat '66-67

The American Institute of Industrial Engineers is an organization for all industrial engineers. It formed a link between student and professional industrial engineers, developed interest in industrial engineering, and worked for the betterment of student-faculty relations. The IE's sponsored monthly programs of speakers and inspection trips to industrial sites, and they also helped with the Engineers' Open House. The Arkansas chapter, sponsored by the Little Rock and Tulsa chapters of AIIE, was rated third in the nation in a quality survey of all the chapters.

Alpha Pi Mu is the honorary industrial engineering fraternity, with a membership selected from the top fifth of the junior class and the top third of the senior class. This year the fraternity had a national convention and hosted many heads from large industries to speak. Its members also served by giving guidance to freshman and sophomore students interested in Engineering. They participated in the events of Engineers' Week along with the AIIE.

OFFICERS: First Row: Laurie Emmert, Vice President, Mary Cottle, Secretary. Second Row: Vladimir Bermudez, President, Bernard Martin, Publicity Chairman, Elias Admantidis, Treasurer.

The International Club is completely sponsored by the international students themselves on the University campus. They welcomed all students and faculty members to their weekly program meetings. Functions of the club were to hold meetings and sponsor programs of dialogue concerning all the countries represented in the club. Slides and panel discussions were presented from time to time. The main event of the year was the International Night when dancing, singing, and foods of the various countries of the world were presented. The organization had as its goal the promotion of international peace and understanding.

Band Fraternity Sponsors Festival

Lambda chapter of Kappa Kappa Psi was founded on the University of Arkansas' campus in 1924. This national honorary fraternity for college bandsmen served the Razorback Band with a wide scope of projects ranging from the sponsoring of social events for the band to the handling of much of the hard work required to keep a university band on the move. Working with its sister organization, Tau Beta Sigma, the fraternity locally sponsored the Region I Festival of the Arkansas School Band and Orchestra Association as a service to the Razorback Bands and the high school bands in Northwest Arkansas. Through its work with the Marching Razorbacks and visiting college bands, Kappa Kappa Psi hoped to promote a closer relationship between the Marching Razorbacks and other college bands.

Marketing Club Functions in BA

OFFICERS: First Row: Suzanne Kitchen, Secretary. Second Row: Jack McHaney, Treasurer, Bill Vowell, President, Chuck Banks, Vice President.

The Marketing Club is an organization made up of all marketing majors in the college of Business Administration. It served as a contact point between students and business leaders. Dinner meetings were held featuring speakers from the marketing field and were highlighted by a joint meeting with the Northwest Arkansas Sales and Marketing Executives' Club. Field trips to Tulsa were also held so that participating members could have the chance to observe the mechanics of marketing in action. In their meetings, the club discussed many of the practical problems of the business world.

Loberg, ME, Is Elected St. Pat

The American Society for Mechanical Engineers was founded in 1880 as a national organization for professional engineers. On the University campus, ASME had as its purpose the broadening of familiarity between students and the practical side of mechanical engineering. It made its library facilities available to interested persons and kept students informed about engineering progress. Along with the other engineering clubs, the ME's helped in planning and organizing the events of Engineers' Week.

Pi Tau Sigma is the honorary fraternity for mechanical engineering students, drawing its membership from the top twenty percent of the junior class and the top thirty-five percent of the senior class. Inductees must have faculty approval as to their character and leadership qualities. The group aided the department by giving guidance to students and by helping the ASME and the other groups with the Engineers' Week, Rally, and Open House.

Mortar Board Taps Senior Women

Mortar Board is a national organization to honor outstanding senior women with the qualities of scholarship, leadership and service. Members of the group must have had a grade point over the Women's accumulative in addition to extra-curricular activities. Members were named in the traditional tapping ceremony at the AWS Spring Festival. This year they assisted in many ways with campus events. At the first of the fall, they gave a party for all women transfer students to acquaint them with the school and its regulations. They were called on to help with many of the campus' social functions and with the projects of other organizations, including Chimes, whom they sponsor. Most famous of their activities was the annual sale of Mortar Board Calendars. The members wrote letters to other colleges concerning the handling of 'dead week' to see if a longer time could be given UofA students for exam preparation. They also worked with ODK in the faculty and course critique that was conducted second semester.

ODK Conducts Evaluation Survey

Omicron Delta Kappa is a national honorary organization which selects its members from outstanding junior and senior men who have excelled in the fields of scholarship, leadership, athletics, publications, dramatic arts, and music. In conjunction with other honorary groups, Blue Key and Mortar Board, ODK sponsored a leadership school. The most outstanding project that was undertaken by ODK this year was the beginning of their faculty and course critique. At registration for the second semester, each student was asked to evaluate the courses he had taken the previous semester by filling out a questionnaire. These individual blanks, once surveyed and the results compiled, will provide material for a comprehensive booklet which will be available to students in the fall of next year. ODK enlisted the support of honorary groups in each college of the University in carrying out this project which caused quite a controversy among students and faculty during the last year.

PEM Promotes Interest in PE

The Physical Education Majors club is a group composed of all those students with either a major or a minor in Physical Education who have expressed a concern for the development of their field. The club served as a contact point for both the students and faculty in the department. Their purposes were to coordinate the professional and social organization in the department, broaden information about and participation in PE, and thereby encourage understanding and professional interest in the field. In their meetings, the members heard several lectures and films on new developments and theories in physical education and physical therapy.

PHS, ALD Give Banquet

Phi Eta Sigma, a national honorary fraternity for underclassmen, is composed of men who have attained a grade point average of 3.5 or better during their freshman year. They assisted this year in the orientation of the incoming freshmen and at any other time when they were asked by the administration.

Alpha Lambda Delta is the corresponding group for freshmen women who have grades of 3.5 or better. They served both their freshman and sophomore years in tutoring and in registration. The highlight for the group this year was a banquet with Phi Eta Sigma second semester.

SAE Sponsors Sports Car Rally

Membership in the Society of Automotive Engineers is open to all students in the College of Engineering who are interested in learning more about the various fields of transportation. In their meetings this year, emphasis was placed on the recent developments in the designing of aircraft. Their monthly meetings also provided the members with several interesting speakers during the course of the year. During the fall semester they sponsored the first annual Industrial Exposition. In the spring semester, the members sponsored a sports car rally.

OFFICERS: David Wagner, Secretary, Smith Reed, Vice President, J. W. Porter, Treasurer, Larry Freeman, President.

SAM Sponsors BA Bookstore

OFFICERS: Richard Marr, Vice President, Hardie Jefferies, Secretary, Larry Peterson, Treasurer, Kenneth Clark, President.

The Society for the Advancement of Management is a social organization of managers in industry, commerce, government and education. Once during each semester they sponsored banquet meetings, one of which was the banquet given on Commerce Day. They also organized field trips for their members which included plant tours. During registration for the first and second semesters, the members of SAM operated a bookstore exchange for the buying and selling of books for the students in the College of Business. In addition to these functions, they have worked to promote the aims of business on the campus by assisting BA freshmen and by bringing in guest speakers in the field of business.

SAI Promotes American Composers

Sigma Alpha Iota is a national professional music fraternity composed of all music majors or minors who are at least second semester freshmen. Candidates for membership must also have a high scholastic rating. The main objective of the group was the advancing of music by American composers. They presented many concerts throughout the year, including the Faculty Exchange Concert, a program of compositions written by faculty members, and the annual Benefit Concert. The money taken in from this last concert was given to a scholarship fund. At each of the concerts which they sponsored, the members assisted by ushering. During the district band festival, the girls sold sandwiches. The money from this and from the other projects except for the Benefit Concert was given to the improvement of the music library.

MSC Councils Freshman Men

The Men's Sophomore Council is an honorary service organization composed of men chosen during their freshman year. Qualities of leadership ability, high moral standards and an interest in serving others were the prerequisites for membership in the Council. This past year, they aided the University by helping the incoming freshman men adjust to a new college environment. Founded in 1963, their relatively new organization on campus had as its objective the improvement of relations between the freshman men and the administration. In accordance with this, they sponsored the Student-Faculty tea which was their major project for the year.

Band Women Have Many Projects

OFFICERS: Connie Wing, Secretary, Kathleen Stell, President, Linda Cloyd, Vice President, Patsy Bachman, Treasurer.

Tau Beta Sigma is the national honorary sorority open for membership to band women. Members are chosen on the basis of scholarship, musicianship, and a possession of a sincere interest in the University band. By sponsoring various money-making projects throughout the year, they helped furnish the band with doughnuts, apples and ice as refreshments on football trips and concert trips. Two such projects were the selling of pledges as slaves and the making of drum covers. They also helped the band by filing all the music and records and seeing that each band member had a complete music folder. Members of the sorority served as hostesses for visiting bands and played a major role in planning the social events such as the Halloween and Christmas parties for the Razorback band members.

Tau Beta Pi Starts Scholarship

Tau Beta Pi, an honorary engineering fraternity, draws its membership from the upper fifth of the senior class and from the upper eighth of the junior class. Members come from all branches of the College of Engineering and must meet qualifications of high scholarship, service and leadership. Last year the fraternity conducted a faculty and course evaluation within its own college. This year they assisted ODK in its University-wide evaluation of the same nature. To promote increased interest and enrollment in the college, Tau Beta Pi set up a scholarship program as an annual award to the outstanding freshman in the College of Engineering.

The Young Democrats Club is a group of University students who express an interest in knowing more about politics and the Democratic Party. It was composed of the Club itself and an Executive Council which planned the program of events for the school year. Controversial topics such as different views on government were presented this year. The Miss Young Democrats pageant and the Arkansas Democratic Convention were activities in which the members participated. Since it was an election year in Arkansas, the members of YDC campaigned for the Democratic candidates on the UofA campus.

YRC Sees Successful Election

The members of the Young Republicans Club enjoyed a good year for a club that up to this point was one without real representation among the voters of the state. The outcome of the November elections stimulated both the membership and the activities of the club. In their monthly meetings, students were given a chance to exchange ideas and views, hear leading politicians of Arkansas, and to lend support to candidates. A Miss YRC contest was held in the early part of the spring semester to elect a representative for the University in the state Miss Young Republican contest. In conjunction with the elections, many of YRC's members participated in the "Young Arkansans for Rockefeller" and in the general campaign.

Division 10

Arts

The University Theatre combined all the fine arts—art, architecture, music, dance and drama—in a universal medium: a production of "Twelfth Night."

Architecture students displayed their talents through different media, including sculpture and Archicoffee.

“ . . . Art is Long.”

The art department, offering courses in all phases of the plastic arts — painting, sculpture, and design, is combined with the architecture department in the Fine Arts building. Students may be seen working there any time of the day or night in pursuit of creativity. The department participated in the Florence Benefit Art Auction by offering faculty works for sale, and also sponsored gallery exhibitions during the year. The exhibits featured student art, photography, architecture, and special exhibits such as the Leonardo Da Vinci anniversary collection.

Steve Marquess was surrounded by a forest of plaster of paris in the sculpture room where you can usually find diligent art majors, if you're lucky.

Sir Isaac Newton (Bill Edwards) intimidated Police Inspector Voss (Bobby Wayne Hughart) with his philosophies in "The Physicists."

Ed Brown, as the old Sea Captain, offered advice to Viola (Pride Brooks) after reaching Illyria in "Twelfth Night."

Marsh Hudson, as Giuseppe Palmieri, bade a fond farewell to his wife of a few hours, Tessa (Marsha Crane) in "The Gondoliers."

Theatre—An Outstanding Season

Simeon (Bobby Wayne Hughart) and Peter (Donnie Freeman) expressed their reaction to the return of their father Ephraim Cabot (Ed Brown) and his new wife, Abbie (Ginni Martin) in "Desire Under the Eims."

The University Theatre opened the year with Shakespeare's "Twelfth Night," which ran October 17-22. The typical comic dilemma was enhanced by the rich Elizabethan costumes and stylized set.

Opera Workshop reveled in the Gilbert & Sullivan tradition by presenting "The Gondoliers" November 14-19. The double cast sang and punned its way through the problems of mixed identities and marriages.

"The Physicists" directed by Cleveland Harrison, is a play in two acts by Durrenmatt. A great physicist, Mobius (Lewis Jacks), committed to a private sanatorium and joined by two secret agents who pretend to have physicist-psychoses, found that life away from the world is much simpler.

"As You Desire Me," a Pirandello thought-provoker, was directed by Norman DeMarco. An air of mystery and suspense encircled the play as the audience tried to determine the identity of the Unknown Woman.

Nonnie Wilson, as the Unknown Woman, assumed her role as Cia before Aunt Lena (Mary Henley) and Uncle Salesio (Jim Whillock).

Theatre . . .

Eugene O'Neill's "Desire Under the Elms" was one of the dramatic highlights of the year. Directed by George Kernodle, all of the actors were outstanding in handling the high emotionality of the play, and in illustrating the timelessness of struggle in all parts of life. Preston Magruder's farmhouse set was very effective, and the ever-present elms echoed the tragic dignity of the play.

The University Theatre closed the season on a high note from "Major Barbara" and her Salvation Army band. The Shavian masterpiece was turned by an excellent cast from a long and difficult play into an evening of enjoyable theatre.

Opera Workshop concluded a successful statewide tour by presenting Gian Carlo Menotti's "The Old Maid and the Thief" April 25. The grotesque opera, directed by Elaine Cencel and Jim Fields, dealt with the plight of two old maids and a young woman and their attitudes toward men.

Miss Todd (Carol Soule) and Miss Pinkerton (Penny Garrett) suffer the embarrassment of Bob's (Lorry Thomas) singing.

Andrew Undershaft (Bill Edwards) paraded for the Army's cause as his daughter, Major Barbara (Marsha Vance), looked on, disillusioned.

Schola Cantorum posed in the open air theatre before leaving for Montreal and EXPO '67. The members of the a cappella choir are (first row): Jeanne Anne Freeman, Carol Vance, Irene Welden, Fredricka Silvey, Penny Garrett, Ann Moats, Julianne Nelson, Andrea Hill, Charlotte Kitchens, Cynthia Drake; (second row) Blanche Locke, Peggy Bookout, Vicki Schneider, Linda Scallion, Pam Walsh, Marsha

Schola Returns from European Tour

Schola Cantorum sang its way through Europe the summer of 1966 and continued to thrill audiences throughout the year. The thirty-eight member a cappella choir, under the direction of Mr. Richard Brothers, began the tour with a performance in the National Presbyterian Church in Washington, D. C. The trip through England, France, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, and Yugoslavia was highlighted with the festival in Aix-en-Provence. They were well received by critics everywhere. It has been remarked that the only picture Europe has of Arkansas is Little Rock in 1957 and the Schola concerts. The most selective vocal group on campus performs sacred and secular, antique and modern works. The spirit of the choir is well known, and was illustrated last summer in their impromptu performances for passers-by on street corners in Greenwich Village and sidewalk cafes in Paris. The group presented three concerts this year including a Florence Benefit to raise money for the restoration of a city in which they once performed.

Esprit de corps is evident in Schola's teamwork as they changed buses on the outskirts of Paris after a breakdown in the Alps.

Soloists Appear with Symphony

The University-Fayetteville Symphony Orchestra specialized in performing first-class symphonic works in the 1966-67 season. Directed by Dr. Marx Pales, the orchestra is composed of University students and area residents, and presented eleven concerts during the year. These concerts were as varied as the works performed. Playing works from Handel to Copland, the orchestra toured Northeast Arkansas, giving seven concerts. Of the four regular concerts in Fayetteville, the symphony featured outstanding international and faculty soloists. On March 17, Paul Doktor, violist, and the symphony played one of the best concerts of the year. The Orchestra also participated in the Concerto-Aria program, which features outstanding graduate and undergraduate students, providing them an opportunity to perform with the orchestra as a soloist.

Dr. Pales Conducted a concerto orchestra rehearsal in typically elegant form for Dr. John Cowell, head of the music department and noted pianist.

Uarkettes Travel Statewide

"From pop to op" might best describe the work of the Uarkettes troupe at the University. The light entertainment ensemble, led by Mr. Kenneth Ballenger, performed popular numbers as well as opera excerpts for banquets, conventions, television appearances, school programs, and Christmas parties. Although their work is mainly ensemble, soloists are also featured. The Uarkettes have never appeared on campus, but they contribute widespread publicity to the University by their performances throughout the state. The group is very much in demand by businesses for entertainment for their functions. A scholarship fund has been set up for deserving Uarkettes members from donations from their performances, since they ask no set fee.

A Contemporary Year for Band

Clarinetists usually play diligently. David Widder, of course, was an exception.

Concert Band often required a lot of effort.

The University of Arkansas Concert Band numbered seventy strong for the 1966-1967 season. The band, under the direction of Dr. Richard Worthington and assisted by Mr. David Pitman, included several contemporary works in their program, such as the Hindemith First Symphony for Band. Guest artists David Pitman and Kenneth Ballenger were featured as soloists with the band in two concerts. A total of three concerts was presented, the third being in Siloam Springs as a part of that town's Community Concert Series.

The students who make up the Concert Band are music majors, members of the Marching Razorback Band, or students who simply enjoy participating in a musical organization. They meet twice a week for a two hour rehearsal, and tour the state on alternating years. In this way, they gain publicity for themselves as well as for the music program at the University.

The Concert Band is composed of many individual musicians, such as this French horn player. Concentration was the key word.

The band performed a concert in the Fine Arts Concert Hall.

Dr. Richard Worthington conducted the Concert Band in a warm-up session.

You can tell that this is a serious organization by the intent looks on the faces of band members as they counted along with Doc and waited out the rests.

Division 11
Athletics

Arkansas athletes were at their best as they defeated the Mustangs of Southern Methodist University 22-0 in the 1966 Homecoming game.

Athletic Department Shapes Up

Sports Program

A large part of the success of the Athletic Department at the University of Arkansas is due to the foresight of John Barnhill, Director of Athletics, and the solid foundation which he has laid.

Barnhill came to Arkansas in 1946 as football coach, led the Razorbacks to a league title that year, and set about organizing Razorback Clubs around the state, as well as scholarships.

Much of that job has now been turned over to Barnhill's right hand man, George Cole, an Arkansas alum as well as a former football star and the Assistant Athletic Director. Until two seasons ago, Cole held the school field goal record.

Barnhill's program reached maturity when a young, energetic head coach came to the Ozarks. Frank Broyles, hired from Missouri after having played and graduated from Georgia Tech, is the winningest coach in school history.

Head basketball coach Duddy Waller is on his way to building a dynasty in his own right. Replacing retired Glen Rose, Waller began an ambitious recruiting program and fielded a promising team.

On top of the Razorback sports dynasty, head football coach Frank Broyles is prominent among nation's coaches.

P. T. (Duddy) Waller took over helm of Arkansas basketball fortunes last year and is building his team to SWC contender.

Coaches Handle Team Building Job

An athletic department can only be as good as its coaching staff and in that regard the University of Arkansas has always been successful.

A big loss to the coaching staff last fall, but Vanderbilt University's gain was the hiring of Bill Pace, the offensive backfield coach, as head football coach for the Commodores.

John Majors, the defensive backfield coach, was given Pace's vacated position and Hootie Ingram was hired as the replacement for Majors.

Wilson Matthews remained as the linebacker and defensive end coach and Charley Coffey had capable charge of the interior line.

Mervin Johnson coached the offensive line and Gordon Smith, who completed his first fall with the Razorbacks after leaving pro ball, had charge of the offensive ends.

Lynwood Cathey completed his first season with Duddy Waller and the Razorbacks as the assistant basketball coach, leading the freshman team to a 10-2 season.

Steed White had charge of recruiting and helped with the offense while Jack Davis and Lon Farrell coached the freshman football team.

Ab Bidwell, as track coach, fielded an SWC championship team in cross country and a strong track crew.

Trainer Bill Ferrell and assistant trainer Jim Bone kept all the athletic teams going from the training room.

Magic Mark Missed: We Only Won Eight

There is something magic about the sound of three in a row. That was the situation that faced the Arkansas Razorbacks heading into the '66 season.

It would be the final go-round for a crew of 16 seniors, unbeaten in two seasons with only a 13-7 Cotton Bowl loss marring the record.

That loss came at the hand of LSU and had been the last game in which all had competed. And as everyone faintly realized, it might hold forebodings of things to come.

The big challenge was that every Southwest conference school was coming back more powerful than the previous year. It was to be a stronger knit league with everyone a little more self-assured. And it seemed as if Arkansas was sitting square on top of a big Texas powder keg.

Now practically every team in the league had taken to the I-formation in one form or another. Even Texas, long a proponent of the power T was shifting to the tricky Arkansas-engineered backfield.

Would Arkansas be able to stop its own creation and how would a young secondary fare against the increasing pass emphasis?

Could the Porkers field a team as offensively potent as the '65 bunch which rewrote Arkansas scoring records. And maybe most important, how long would that fabulous Arkansas luck, which seemed to hold the Porkers on top, no matter what, hold out.

Heading into a warm September night, those were the questions in everyone's mind.

After a shaky start against Oklahoma State that night, Arkansas prevailed, 14-10, and then convincingly defeated Tulsa, 27-8. Spirits rose heading into the Texas Christian contest and Harry Jones broke open a hard fought game, 21-0 against the improved Frogs.

No one thought Arkansas would lose, even though Baylor offered impressive credentials such as a win over Syracuse. But the Bears did what no one else had done since SMU back in 1963. They won, 7-0.

That one was hard to take. It was a home game and it was Dad's Day.

Arkansas met a Bill Bradley and Texas challenge with a 12-7 victory, the third straight for Arkansas.

Then came a 41-0 breather over Wichita followed by a surprising 34-0 win over Texas A&M.

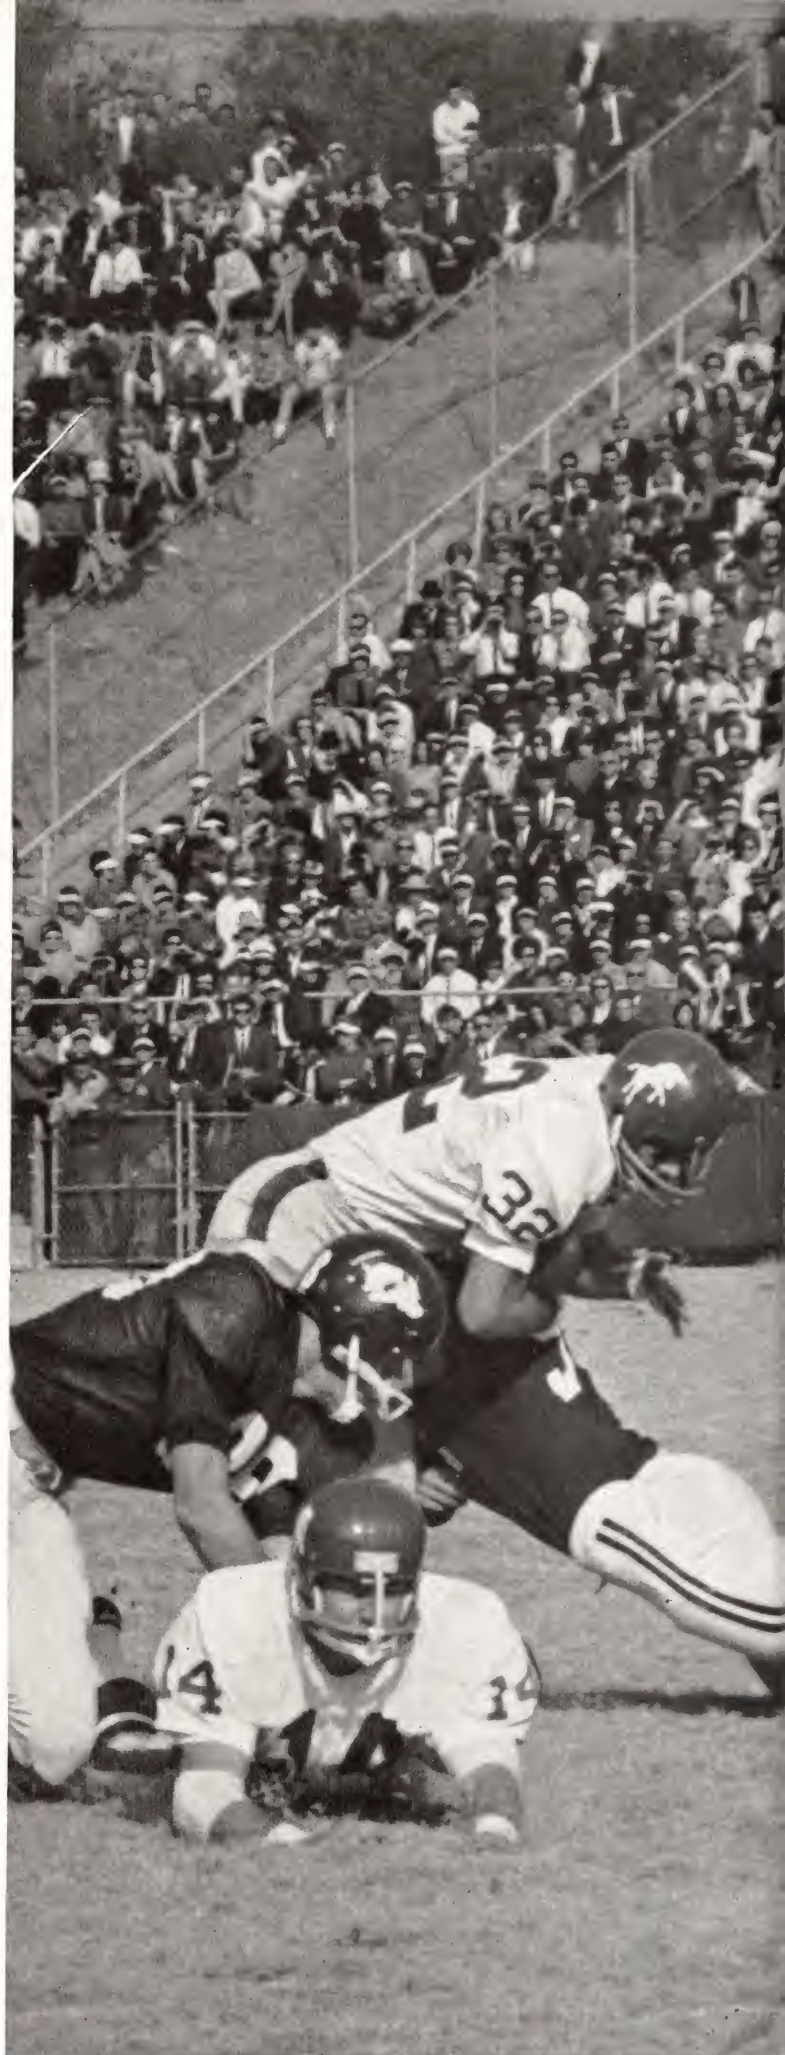

The Porkers stumped upset minded Rice, 31-20 at Little Rock in coach Jess Neely's last appearance before the Arkansas fans.

That led to the showdown of the season — Arkansas and Southern Methodist, and it was the Porkers' finest hour. Thrilling a sellout crowd, Arkansas dampened the Ponies, 22-0, assuring themselves of what they hoped would be a third berth in the Cotton Bowl — but first they had to get by Texas Tech.

It put SMU in the Cotton Bowl and left Arkansas to go shopping for a post-season contest which didn't materialize.

An 8-2 season, a banner year for most teams, was a bitter pill for Arkansas fans, but especially for the Arkansas seniors, who wanted to make their last, their best.

Harry Jones traveled goalward against the wishes of several Oklahoma State defenders, who finally tumbled him to the ground.

Hogs Halt OSU, 14-10

When the Oklahoma State Cowboys held Arkansas to a scoreless first period, the sellout crowd at the Razorback opener in Little Rock began to realize that the Porkers had a battle on their hands.

And it wasn't until midway through the second stanza that a wave of relief swept through the anxious crowd. That was when Jon Brittenum passed for ten yards to Bruce Maxwell in the end zone and Bob White's PAT sailed good.

But they didn't stay relieved long. The Cowboys rode herd for the final two minutes of the quarter and pushed across the tying score with only 14 seconds showing on the clock.

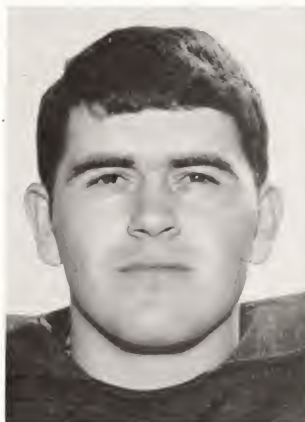

Then, with less than three minutes left in the third period, the impossible happened. A 22-yard field goal by the Cowboys put Arkansas down, 10-7 and suddenly the Porkers were scrambling for dear life.

That life didn't surge back into the Razorbacks until the defense corralled OSU within its ten late in the game and Martine Bercher returned a punt 15 yards.

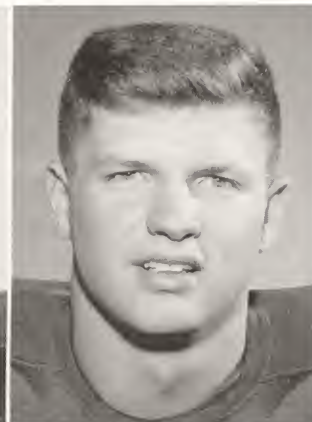

Brittenum picked up a quick first down with a pass to Eddie Woodlee and two plays later the drive was saved when the Comboys picked up an illegal hands penalty.

On the next play Brittenum kept for 11 yards around end and the touchdown with White's PAT good. Final score, Arkansas 14, OSU 10.

Razorbacks Wreck Tulsa Gale, 27-8

The close win over Oklahoma State had a decided sobering effect on the Porkers and the memory of the rugged physical battle with Tulsa the previous season further heightened that.

So it was a determined bunch of Razorbacks who set out to prove themselves in their first home outing the following weekend.

And again the crowd watched the Razorbacks grind through a scoreless first quarter. But it was Martine Bercher's patron saint day.

Two plays into the second period the Tulsa punter lofted a 49-yard punt and Bercher scooped it up. He didn't put it down until 64 yards later, a touchdown run that started a rout.

Bercher ended Tulsa's comeback try by intercepting a pass and midway through the period noseman David Cooper ended another threat by recovering a fumble. Bruce Maxwell made it 14-0 at the half by scoring from two yards out four plays later.

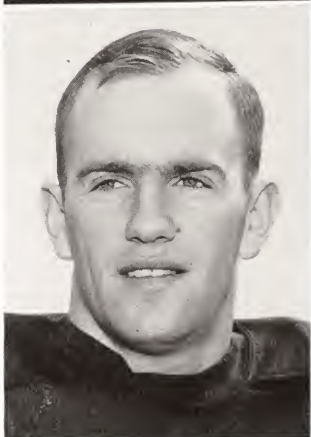

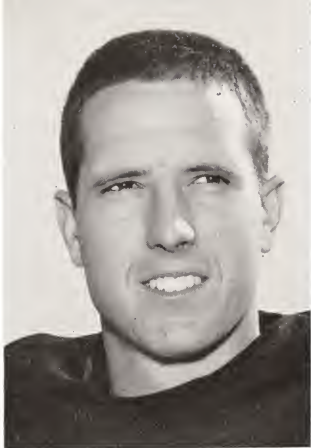

In the third period the Razorbacks rolled up more scores, first on a one-yard plunge by Maxwell, then with Brittenum passing 13 yards to Tommy Burnett.

Tulsa scored late in the game when Glenn Dobbs passed six yards to Gary McDermott and then passed for the two point conversion.

Jones Boy Jostles Frogmen, 21-0

Although nobody realized it, it was going to be Harry Jones Day at Texas Christian. Before the afternoon was through, Jones put on a one man show, leading Arkansas to a 21-0 victory in the first Southwest Conference outing.

Razorback Hartford Hamilton smacked a TCU runner early in the game, causing him to fumble and ending a drive that reached the Porker 19.

But the Razorbacks marched right back, in 16 plays and Jon Brittenum pitched out to the fleet Jones from five yards out. Two passes, one to Richard Trail and the other to Tommy Burnett kept the drive alive.

Early in the second period, Martine Bercher returned a punt 18 yards and in three plays Arkansas had moved into TCU territory. On the next play Brittenum rolled out and hit Jones, who made a fleeting one-handed grab between two TCU defenders and traveled 48 yards to the end zone. That made it 14-0 at halftime.

Going into the fourth period, TCU drove to the Arkansas five, was stopped and the Razorbacks punted out of trouble.

On the next play of the following Arkansas series, Brittenum combined with Jones for a 72-yard pass play. Bob White kicked good on all three conversions.

Pooch Punt Pops Porkers

It was a dreary day in Razorback Stadium on that early October day, even though the bright red contrasted with the brilliant green of the scattered Baylor fans.

Before the day was over, it got a lot drearier, something to the tune of 7-0 in favor of the Baylor Bears.

Baylor opened by charging to the Razorback 20-yard line but the Porkers retaliated by pushing right back down to the Baylor 18.

In the second period Arkansas mounted its biggest charge, making it to the Baylor six before a fumble which the Bears recovered, gave them a chance to stave off the attack until halftime.

The third period was a stalemate of defense and at the end, heading into the final 15 minutes the score was the same, 0-0.

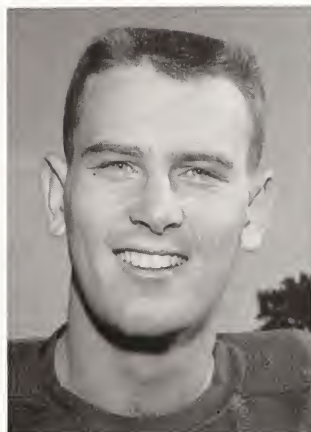

A poor snap and a hasty try at a punt had a part in ending the streak but Baylor's heads-up defense also made its presence felt.

Then, with just under five minutes left in the contest, Terry Southall dropped back and hit Bobby Green 21 yards downfield in the end zone. Southall's kick was good, and Baylor won, 7-0.

Porkers Capture Third Royal Victory

For Arkansas' recovering Razorbacks, it was a do-or-die game. With a 3-1 record heading into the Texas contest, this time on the Longhorns home ground, Arkansas needed the win to get back into the conference race.

It was an important game for the Texans too, with a 2-2 slate and aiming for an upper division finish.

It developed into a typical clash between the two longtime SWC rivals. Texas fumbled early, David Cooper of Arkansas recovering at the Longhorn 17.

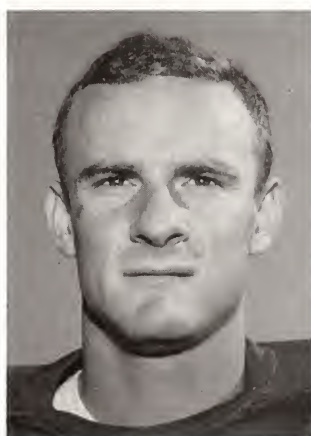

After a first down at the Texas 7, the Texas defense rallied and the Razorbacks settled for a 22-yard field goal by Bob White, putting the Hogs out front, 3-0.

A 31-yard pass from Jon Brittenum to Harry Jones set up the next Arkansas score, midway through the second period. The Razorbacks made it down to the Texas 21 where a penalty and an incomplete pass ended the drive, but White's 27-yard field goal try was good and the Porkers gained a 6-0 lead.

But the shutout was shortlived. On their next drive the Longhorns made it to paydirt, a 15-yard penalty in Arkansas territory giving them the boost needed.

Defense Chills Longhorns, 12-7

Chris Gilbert scored and David Conway's PAT was good, giving Texas a 7-6 lead as time ran out at halftime.

Martine Bercher returned Bill Bradley's punt 49 yards to the Texas 22 to put Arkansas back in the game. The return stunned the Longhorns and the next play had even more of an adverse effect.

Jon Brittenum rolled out and hit Tommy Burnett, who broke away around the ten and rambled into the end zone. Arkansas' two point try on Brittenum's running attempt was no good, but the Porkers were still out front, 12-7.

It looked as if the Longhorns were going to march right back and take the lead again as the third period ended. Bradley had just completed a pass to the Arkansas 39. And the fourth quarter was even more chilling.

The Longhorns pushed to the Hog four where two tries up the middle were thwarted. So Bradley took to the air and his pass was intercepted by Gary Adams. And it was all over, the Hogs prevailing, 12-7.

Berryhill's Big Day

This was the game that was picked to be the breather for the Razorbacks, and somehow the prediction came true.

Arkansas handily demolished the Wichita Eagles, 41-0, before a packed house in Little Rock.

It was David Dickey who set the mood for the romp. On the opening kickoff he took the ball and raced 60 yards to the Wichita 23 where it took only seven plays to score.

Bruce Maxwell got the first scoring honors by taking down an 11-yard pass from Jon Brittenum in the end zone.

The second score also went to Maxwell, who again brought down a Brittenum aerial from 11 yards out, making it 14-0 after both of Bob White's PAT attempts were good.

Fullback Eddie Woodlee ended another short drive by going over from 15 yards out to open the second period and five minutes later Harry Jones got into the scoring column by romping over from 15 yards out. That made it 27-0.

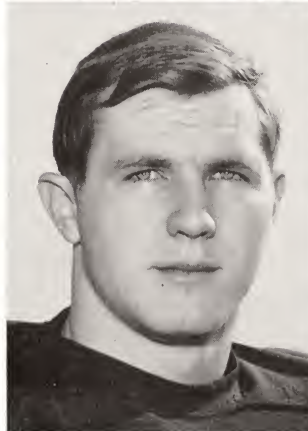

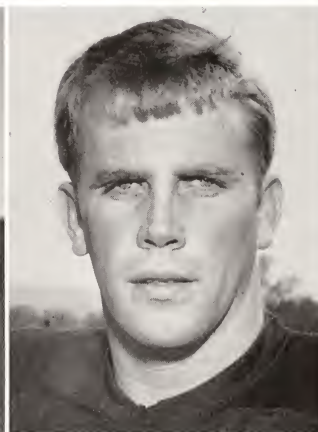

The second string came in and Gordon Norwood passed 23 yards to Tommy Dixon for a touchdown just as the half ended.

It also turned out to be Stu Berryhill's big day — not only was he a game captain but he intercepted a Wichita pass in the waning moments of the game and raced 88 yards to score, making it 41-0 for Arkansas.

David Dickey A Giant Killer Against A&M

Gene Stallings at A&M was rated to have a much improved squad over the group which had lost to Arkansas the year before.

But the Aggies let their guard down for the first period and part of the third and the result was a 34-0 Razorback victory.

David Dickey broke over right tackle after taking a handoff from Jon Brittenum for the first score and Bob White's conversion made it 7-0.

On the Razorbacks next series Dickey took another one yard plunge and the result was his second score, making it 14-0.

Gary Adams intercepted an Ed Hargett pass seconds later and four plays later Dickey picked up his third score.

It was 20-0 at halftime but the Razorbacks came out ready for more in the third period. Dickey scored from four yards out on the Hogs' first drive of the half and with 1:21 left in the third, Martine Bercher returned a punt 59 yards for the final tally, 34-0.

Harry Jones races through opening over tackle in what turned out to be one of the Razorbacks' finest team efforts. His carry set up touchdown.

Rice Rally Fizzles, Porks Prevail

The Rice Owls came to Little Rock determined to make coach Jess Neely's last trip to the state before his retirement a pleasant one, and they almost succeeded.

But Arkansas rallied in the fourth quarter and took a 31-20 victory.

The Porkers jumped ahead 3-0 on a 47-yard field goal by Bob White which set a new school record, and then picked up a touchdown with an eight yard run by Harry Jones, set up by Tommy Burnett's 56 yard pass reception. David Dickey hit at right tackle as time ran out in the first period, giving Arkansas a 17-0 lead.

Rice charged back with two scored in the second period, making it 17-12 at halftime and took a 20-17 lead with three minutes left in the third.

But Dickey put Arkansas back out front with a two-yard scoring carry making it 24-20 and David Cooper added insurance by intercepting a Rice pass and returning it 37 yards to score. The Hogs came out on top, 31-20.

SMU Falls, By 22

Only Baylor had been able to mar the Razorbacks thus far during the season but everyone was talking about powerful SMU's Mustangs.

So it developed that this was the game which should decide the Cotton Bowl team and the SWC champ. In addition it was Arkansas's homecoming and the game was a sellout.

And the 42,000 fans weren't disappointed. Arkansas took home a 22-0 victory, blunting the Ponies touted offense.

Bob White started things off with a 39-yard field goal early in the first quarter and Martine Bercher kept up the steam in the second period.

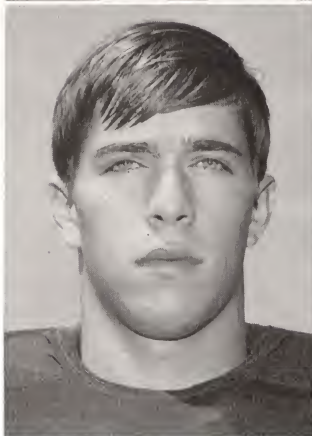

With 9:48 showing he scooped up a Mustang punt and raced 69 yards to paydirt, making it 9-0, the way it lasted until halftime.

SMU made it into Arkansas territory only one time in the third period but Arkansas found the going a little rougher, too.

But with 9:43 left in the game, David Dickey crossed over from one yard out ending a 65 yard drive that took ten plays.

Defense Corrals Up Potent Ponies

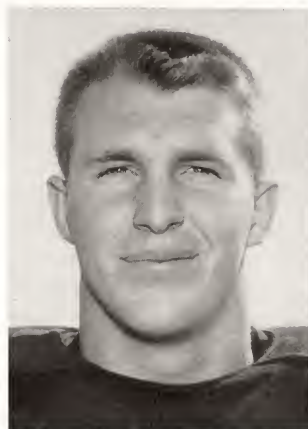

A gamble by the Ponies on a fake punt pass play gave Arkansas the ball on SMU's 26 and it took the Porkers 10 plays to score again. Dickey went over left tackle two yards for the score, giving Arkansas a 22-0 shutout.

The win virtually assured Arkansas of its third straight trip to the Cotton Bowl with only one obstacle left, Texas Tech.

Tech Tumbles Bowl Dreams, 21-16

Only days before the Razorbacks had lost a good friend in Claud Smithey and the seniors had dedicated their last game to him.

That's why the 21-16 loss at the hands of the Red Raiders was a heartbreaker in more ways than one.

It cost the Razorbacks a chance at the SWC title, a third straight Cotton Bowl appearance and ended a fabulous career by a hardy bunch of seniors on a disappointing note.

Arkansas jumped to a 10-0 lead in the first period on Bob White's 21-yard field goal and a nine-yard carry around end by Jim Whisenhunt.

But Tech retaliated early in the second with a score of its own, closing it to 10-7.

Arkansas almost widened the gap on the next series but Jon Brittenum was stopped at the goal in a play that will be disputed for years.

Tech scored twice in the third, making it 21-10 and although the Razorbacks fought back they could only manage one score — on Brittenum's five yard run — which wasn't enough, and Arkansas lost, 21-16.

Hogs Spend Year Learning The Ropes

An ambitious recruiting program started Duddy Waller off on the right foot when he took over from Glen Rose as head basketball coach last year.

But going into his first season, the outstanding Shoat crew that Waller recruited wouldn't be able to help him. Waller, two seniors, a junior and a host of untried talent would have to go it alone in his first initial season.

Waller faced several problems as the first outing on Dec. 1 rolled around. Not only were his players for the most part inexperienced, he also fielded one of the shorter teams in college ball and he was opening against two of the best basketball powers in the Midwest.

Senior Tommy Rowland returned as the sparkplug of the squad with help from steady Wally Freeman, also in his final season. David Self, an improving junior and a host of sophomores filled in the rest of the gaps.

Waller built his offense around Rowland, a deceptive 6-4 ballhandler who specialized in working under the goal. He had plans for what he hoped would be a quicker offense that was always on the go, and noted once that if his team didn't win all the time, maybe they would at least run somebody to death.

After opening with the two Midwest powers — Kansas and Missouri, Waller found that his fears were running true. He discovered just how much damage a big man could be and also found his young crew needed a little more work on their fast break.

Kansas took the opener, 73-57, before a home crowd and then the Razorbacks traveled to Missouri only to become the victims of a 73-65 loss that was actually closer than the score indicated.

At the end of the first week, things were looking dim for Waller. His team was 0-2 and facing Oklahoma State, a powerhouse of defensive ball.

But suddenly the Porkers gained cohesion and put together a 51-46 victory over the Cowboys in what Waller termed one of the Razorbacks' most perfect games. Freeman pumped in 19 and Rowland 14 in that contest.

A few days later Arkansas blew a 14-point half-time lead over the Centenary Gents and a magnificent scoring performance by Rowland went down the drain by one point.

Centenary defeated the Razorbacks, 81-80, in the final nine seconds of the game with Rowland gunning in 35 points.

Sophomore Benton Cone went high for two points against Centenary as teammate David Self watched and Tommy Rowland hurried downcourt.

Rowland Honored At LA Tournament

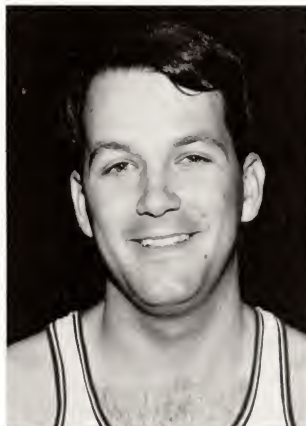

That led to the first of two tournaments for the Hogs. First came the Memphis State Tourney, which developed into a father-son revenge for OSU and Memphis State.

Arkansas lost to Memphis State, 43-16, coached by Henry Iba, son of Hank Iba, the OSU coach. Then OSU turned around and defeated Arkansas, 50-43, getting revenge for the earlier loss at the hands of the Razorbacks. Rowland put in 16 in the Memphis State loss and Self had a 15-point night against OSU.

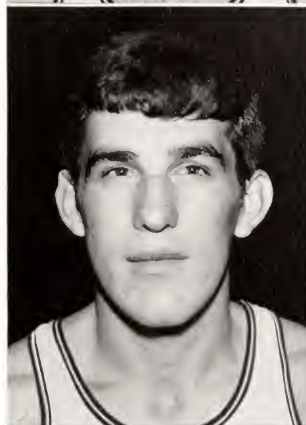

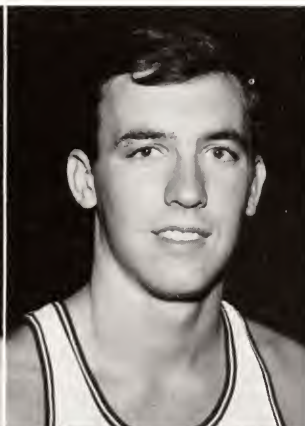

In Arkansas' first Little Rock appearance the Phillips 66ers came out on top, 73-67, with Rowland scoring 29. Although the game didn't figure in with the regular season standings, it seemed real enough to the Razorbacks.

The Los Angeles Holiday Classic marks the highlight more than likely in Tommy Rowland's basketball career. Although Arkansas only won one game, the Porkers became the favorite of the tourney by almost upsetting Southern Cal, only to lose 70-67 in the waning moments. Then Michigan handed the Razorbacks a disappointing loss but the Hogs downed Arizona, 65-61.

First Home SWC Game Nets Win

Rowland was unstoppable during the tournament. He poured in 76 points during the three games and was the leading scorer in the tournament. He even beat UCLA touted Lou Alcindor, who personally congratulated the Little Rock senior for his play.

And suddenly, it was time for Southwest Conference play. The Razorbacks opened with Texas, suffering a 71-62 defeat in Austin.

But returning to the home court, the Hogs came to life with a superb night of marksmanship and dumped the Texas Tech Red Raiders, 70-65. Arkansas hit 62 per cent from the field to take the victory.

Baylor's Bears were picked to be one of the upper division teams in the league, battling it out with defending champ SMU and the Bruins were without pity when they met the Razorbacks in Waco.

Led by Darrell Hardy and a well organized fast break, Baylor defeated Arkansas, 65-53, with Freeman taking the Hog scoring honors with 16 as Rowland followed with 10.

Benton Cone cut across court as Billy Tapp and Dave Olsen of the Texas Red Raiders defense him. Gary Stephens waited in rear.

Hogs Slide By A&M At Little Rock

Arkansas' second trip to Little Rock was a little more pleasant, mainly because of a close 47-46 victory over Texas A&M, which the Porkers preserved in the final minutes. Rowland put in 16 points in that triumph and Self helped with 12.

Early in the season starter Jacky Kimbrell turned his ankle and the Porkers had to start breaking in Benton Cone at his position. But Cone learned fast and fell in as a regular the rest of the season.

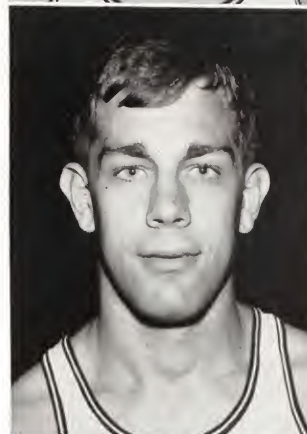

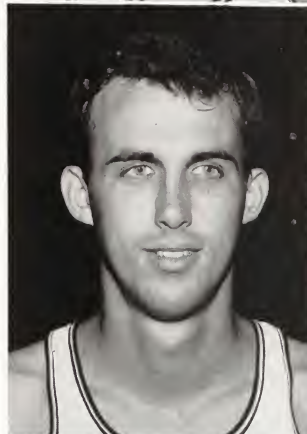

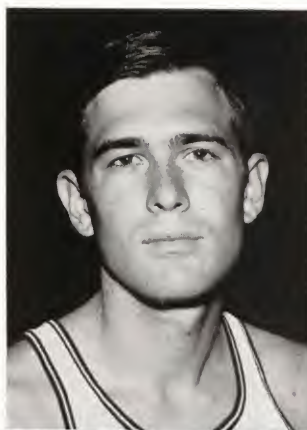

A two-game road trip into Texas late in January netted two losses, first to Texas Christian and then to the Rice Owls. Freeman scored 23 and Rowland tallied 15 in the losing effort to TCU and Freeman led the scoring again against Rice. He totaled 15.

Although three Razorbacks scored in double figures when Texas paid a visit to the Arkansas camp, the Longhorns still came out on top, 67-61. Cone topped scoring with 17, Rowland had 15 and Self 15.

One half of the SWC league play had been finished and the Razorbacks discovered that more and more the league opponents were concentrating on bottling up Rowland. So Waller and his charges began an effort toward a more balanced scoring attack.

A&M got revenge on the Razorbacks from the free throw line and downed the Pigs, 60-53 on charity shots.

Arkansas coach Frank Broyles presented Razorback Athletic trainer Bill Ferrell with Helms All-American Award in halftime ceremony.

Rowland Honored As All-Southwest

A solid scoring attack against the Rice Owls gave Arkansas another home win, this one by 66-63. Rowland came alive and poured in 22 points while Kenny Bailey tallied 13, Freeman got 12 and Cone scored 10.

But an ill-fated road trip to Dallas saw the Pigs come home 69-66 losers for the second time to SMU.

Maybe Tommy Rowland realized he stood a good chance to break the 400-mark for one season but at any rate he paced the Porkers to an 83-78 win over Texas Christian at home and topped the magic mark to boot.

He put in 29 points, backed by Freeman's 24 and Self came through with 14 while Cone got 10.

Texas Tech tumbled Arkansas' hopes only days later with a 73-59 win over the Pigs and free throws cost Arkansas its final game of the season against Baylor, 68-55.

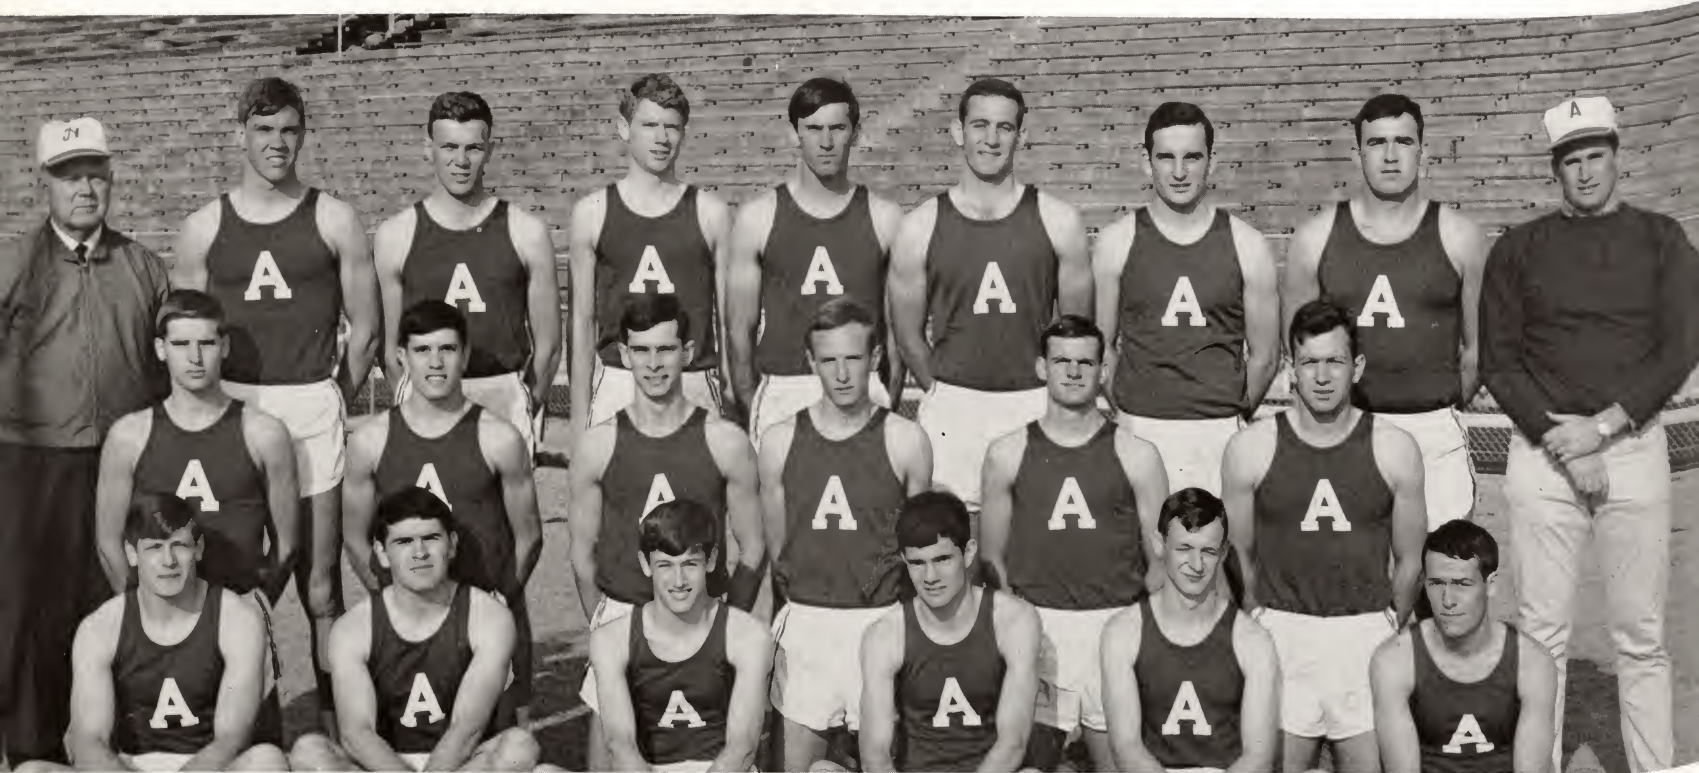

Rowland scored 13 to bring his total to 433 for the season and finish as the second highest scorer in one season in Arkansas history. He was honored on the All-SWC team, the only Razorback to make the grade.

Waller's first season ended with his crew taking a 6-17 mark and a 4-10 slate in SWC play, but with all but two performers returning next season, a banner year could be in store for the Razorbacks.

Tommy Rowland astounded Owls with bounding layup attempt.

Wally Freeman was surrounded by Baylor Bears, especially Darrell Hardy (55) as he received a pass.

Trackmen Break Records

A Southwest Conference Championship in cross country, school records in the four mile relay and the sprint medley highlighted the busy year of Arkansas tracksters.

Coached by Ad Bidwell and assistant Wallace Martin, the Razorbacks made a successful bid for the three-mile fall event, winning the SWC title handily.

Several of the top relay carnivals around the nation were a part of the Razorback's schedule. Indoor meets included the Memphis Indoor and the Kansas State Invitational, with the Arkansas Relays, held in Razorback Stadium marking the start of the outdoor festivals.

The Porkers broke the school four mile relay record at the Texas Relays and the following week lowered the school mark in the sprint medley at the Civitan Relays in Memphis.

Arkansas also fared well at the Kansas Relays and the Drake Relays and took full squads in both the freshman and varsity divisions to the conference meet.

Although the freshmen can only compete in five meets, a strong crew will help fill out a varsity which will be depleted next season by the graduation of several key performers.

John Auffet, Randy Taylor, Jerry Flanagan, Bige Wray, Byron Fisher, Jim Morrison and Chuck Elder comprised the SWC championship team.

Distanceman Chuck Elder was second in SWC cross country.

Baseball Team Posts Improved Year

Razorbacks tested Tulsa at Washington Fairgrounds.

Baseball coach Wayne Robbins saw the successful conclusion of the Porkers first winning baseball season since 1962, thanks to an improved lot of returnees from last year, plus a hustling bunch of junior college transfers.

A schedule of 30 games, twelve of them planned for the Razorbacks' home field, faced the Porkers with outstanding teams such as Wisconsin, Indiana, Pan American, Kansas State, Memphis State and Trinity studded the schedule.

A pitching staff of John Tyra, Butch Hopkins, Butch Edwards, Wally Freeman and Steve Reagan carried most of the load of the 15-14 season.

The highlight of the season was a nine game road trip during the Easter Break to San Antonio where the Porkers participated in a loose round-robin tourney with top teams from around the nation.

That was followed by six straight home games, testing Southwest Missouri, William Jewell and Pittsburgh State.

Transfers included Bill Brill, Archie Jennings, Cotton Nye and Steve Reagan, all of whom saw competition.

Hopkins was the leading pitcher with Bill Brill and Bill Standley the leading hitters.

Golfers Use Depth For Fine Season

An untimely loss at the hands of the new SWC golf champ Texas A&M cost the Razorbacks a chance at a portion of the conference crown but coach Danny Mason still saw his golfers turn in a creditable winning season.

Only the A&M loss marred the Razorbacks' conference slate late in the season, although a loss to Texas early in the running got the Porkers off to a slow start. Mason is looking for another banner year next season, too.

Tommy Howard, Sammy Brown, Mike McCutcheon and David McCauley comprised the top foursome and McCutcheon will be the only one of the quartet lost to graduation. McCauley is a junior while Howard and Brown are both sophomores.

In addition to the conference slate Arkansas took on Tulsa, Western Illinois, Northeast Oklahoma State, Memphis State and competed in two of the nation's top tournaments — the New Mexico State Tournament and the All-American Tournament.

Tennis Team Has Winning Season

After losing four men off the tennis squad, the Razorbacks made a strong comeback with a core of five competitors and put together a winning tennis season.

Competing in a ten meet schedule, the Razorbacks faced area powers such as Memphis State, Tulsa, Southwest Missouri, Central Missouri and Northeast Oklahoma State.

Ben Barry, Murray Harding, and David Reding ranked as three top performers with strong help in the doubles from Jack McNulty and Steve Duffel.

The Porkers will lose only one netter to graduation and should be improved for next season with a quartet of experienced hands. Dr. Rodney Ryan served as tennis coach.

Shoat Teams Cap Successful Season

Ben Barry led netters against tough schedule.

It was a strong season for the Arkansas Shoats in all sports — football, basketball, track, baseball and swimming.

During the football season the frosh opened by losing two straight, but each only by a touchdown. However, after losing to SMU and Texas Tech, the Shoats finished with three straight, downing North Texas, Tulsa and Oklahoma State.

The Tulsa game turned out to be a 60-8 rout and freshman Mike Hendren made it an all-round successful year by breaking the Shoat ball-carrying records of Jackie Brasuell.

Arkansas' basketball frosh, ripping off several straight wins finished with an impressive 10-2 record, including a 115-97 victory over Beebe JC.

The Shoats were led by Rick Tannenberger, Danny Keeter, Mack McAllister, Bobby Vint and Robert McKenzie, who set new Shoat scoring records.

Freshman tracksters competed in five meets during the season and did well at the SWC Meet and the baseball frosh will make positions hard to keep on the varsity by moving up next season.

Shoat swimmers, who couldn't compete with the varsity, had better times in several events, especially swimmer Don Baker.

Swimmers Swamp SW Conference

It was the first year that the Razorbacks have fielded a swimming team which met a full slate of competition and coach Mel Patterson was pleased with the initial results.

As a newcomer to the Southwest swimming circles the Porkers were babes in the water, so to speak, but Patterson is looking for a possible chance at competition in the Nationals next year.

In the first season Arkansas placed fifth in the Southwest Conference meet, beating the Rice Owls, another SWC newcomer. Earlier in a meet in Texas the Owls had outpointed the Pigs and Patterson and his charges were out to get even.

Gary Richardson and Kampon Tansacha paced the Razorbacks to a new school record in the 200-yard breaststroke and backstroke. Richardson got the backstroke mark and Tansacha the breaststroke and he also erased the school mark in the 100-yard breaststroke.

A strong relay team composed of Tansacha, Richardson, Alan Wray and Frank Browne helped the Porkers in the medley events.

Next season, with an increased scholarship allotment and expanded schedule, Patterson hopes the new marks will be lowered.

Swimmer brings it home in butterfly event.

Intramurals Offer Increased Slate

With increasing participation in intramural athletics this past year, estimated at well over 1,500, the Intramural Department has offered a wide range of activities.

The competition was divided into four divisions — Triple A, Double A, Dorm League and Independent League.

Sigma Nu won the AAA football title, defeating Lambda Chi, 24-18, while the Ski Bees took the AA title, the Sabers won the Independent play and Holcombe No. One took the Dorm League crown.

Phi Delta Theta and Alpha Gamma Rho came out on top in basketball play.

Other sports offered during the year were volleyball, softball, tennis, golf, pool, horseshoes, handball, snooker, ping pong, swimming, track and bowling.

Although there were so many participants in outdoor sports, such as football and baseball that new facilities had to be found, next season the Intramural Office hopes to have that solved.

Dr. Rodney Ryan and Danny Mason were in charge of the program with help from graduate students.

Yocum Fifth Floor battled it out with Droke House team.

Phi Delts scrapped with AGR's for intramural basketball championship. Alpha Gamma Rho finally won.

Volleyball play drew hundreds of enthusiasts during winter months. Two dorm teams fight for win.

Volleyball ranked as top participant sport in women's intramurals.

Swimming meet was in second year as intramural function.

WRA Offers Varied Sport Program

Sigma Chi and Lambda Chi battled, also in football.

Women's intramurals, handled by the Women's Recreation Association, enjoyed an increased number of participants during the past year.

Over 300 women with about 15 teams competed for the Sweepstakes Award, given annually by the WRA for the top intramural women's team.

Other activities which were sponsored by the WRA included a diving meet, speed ball, swimming, dance, badminton, and table tennis.

Cheerleaders, showing tendency to lean toward right, drew mixed sounds from student crowd packed into Greek Theater for rally.

Cheerleaders Draw Porker Spirit

The 1966-67 year turned out to be an exciting one for the Arkansas cheerleaders, who were evident at practically every major sports function at the University.

Bright new cheerleader uniforms were part of the picture as the football season rolled around. Although many might believe that the job of a college cheerleader is easy, limited only to showing up for sporting events.

Along with arranging the pep rallies during football season and working with the Arkansas Boosters Clubs, the cheerleaders must arrange for rally announcers and plan special pep rallies, such as the ones held for the basketball season.

Not only that, the cheerleaders serve as a reflection of the University. For example, 40,000 fans, including students gather in Razorback Stadium on Saturday afternoons and call the Hogs at the beckon of the cheerleaders.

Cheerleaders are selected in the Spring. Joe Sing served as captain of the cheerleaders.

Majorettes, Twirlers Work For Team

A lot of work goes into being a majorette, a drum major or a member of the Marching Razorbacks, who provide part of the excitement and glamor of the Arkansas sports scene.

Julie Ellis and Rick Lowery served as the feature twirlers for the past season and Linda Rowland was line captain of the majorettes.

Bill Wooley was the head drum major for the Marching Razorbacks and John Richardson served as the Assistant Drum Major.

Tryouts are held in the Spring for majorettes, drum major and feature twirler. This year three new girls were chosen as feature twirlers and a new assistant drum major was picked.

The Marching Razorbacks, numbering 150 strong, the feature twirlers, drum majors and the majorettes practice three days a week for two hours a day and on home or Little Rock games practice the morning of the game. For out of town games they practice for about an hour before game time.

Marching Razorbacks

Cheryl Crites, band veteran, shows typical Razorback nonchalance while approaching the field.

The Marching Razorbacks, easily identified in their distinctive red, white, and midnight blue uniforms or their Marching Razorback sweatshirts, added spirit to the football games and pep to the pep rallies all year long. The Band also paraded through the streets of Fayetteville on such occasions as torchlight parades to Wilson Sharp and Homecoming parades. Assisted by talented twirlers, the Band performed pre-game and half-time shows in Razorback and War Memorial Stadiums, and traveled to out-of-town games. The Marching Razorbacks are nationally famous, and always present excellent precision and pageantry shows for the fans. Members are selected after studying the marching style and trying out. The Marching Razorbacks sponsor Band Day, on which they host visiting high school bands. This provides a very colorful spectacle for the crowd.

The Band has a full schedule creating spirit, and lets the team know that they are behind them all the way — especially with their unique cheers. Dr. Richard Worthington is the director, and many of the half-time shows are arranged for the Marching Razorbacks by Dr. Lawrence Meyer.

Doc sees all, knows all, from his wobbly vantage point.

The Bandsmen strode onto the field, thrilling the Razorback ROOTERS.

Enthusiastic bandsmen raced to the field for the big half-time shows.

"We Have Pocketed One More Experience..."

Now I can become more casual, drop the editorial "we" and begin the editor's traditional chat. I will try to give you my opinion of the RAZORBACK, its staff, and the memories that have affected it.

This year has been the most profitable year that the RAZORBACK or I can remember. I proposed to the Board of Publications that we expand the budget from $52,000 to approximately $67,000. Our goal was to break even, and at this point, it looks as if we have made it. We have done what we proposed to do, but it really doesn't really matter now. You have the book in your hands and you should be the one to measure how well we have done.

Mike Barkley

As for me, being RAZORBACK editor wasn't a job that I just decided one day that I wanted. Actually, I didn't plan to be editor at all. Anyway I didn't plan to until after I had applied to work on the staff as a typist for three years in a row. Each time I was turned down for reasons known only to those editors and probably forgotten by now. Well, I finally got tired of applying for a typing job, so last year I decided to go for the top. I want to thank some of the people who helped me get there. Nan Allmon, a past editor and friend, Rosemary Todd, Doc Wright of Taylor Publishing Company, and Jim Lee Morgan — each helped in a big way.

Despite protests from those who said I had never worked on the book, I was selected editor by the Board of Publications in a 4-3 vote. Soon afterwards, Mr. R. C. Walker, President of Southwestern Engraving Company, Mr. Tom Walker of the Hurley Company, the S. K. Smith Company, and Delma Studios contacted me to begin making plans for this book.

Since one of my proposals was to have no advertising in the book, Lesse Castleberry and I hit the road at the beginning of the summer in an attempt to sell extra copies of the RAZORBACK. Around the state, Dan Johnson, Judy Elliott, Celestine Leding, Jimmy Coffield, and others were peddling the books under Lesse's direction. Between our efforts to sell over $4,000 worth of books, I spent a great deal of time in Tulsa working with Miss Gene McRae of Southwestern Engraving Company. I learned a great deal from her and am truly appreciative for her efforts. For tee-totalers, she and R. C. Walker are fine folks.

Judy Johnson

One of the biggest breaks for the book came when Mike Barkley offered to serve as photographer again this year. Mike spent so much of his time (and our money) that the pictures had to be good. Mike was never satisfied with anything short of perfection in his pictures. He was patient with many uncooperative people, trying situations and pressing deadlines.

Tom Rakes, my successor as DIRECTORY editor and an old friend, took time to assist Mike by proofing over 9,000 frames of film. Tom was also publications editor for the book and found that publications people, who have to meet deadlines all of the time, couldn't find time to meet his deadlines.

Printing and binding the RAZORBACK is a tremendous task. Mr. Hurley screamed for copy in the Spring and I still feel bad about procrastinating as long as we did. We now realize our mistake and will attempt to improve the situation next year. However, Mr. Hurley, Mr. Tom Walker, and Mr. Walter Campbell remained calm on the surface and came through just as they had promised. Walter Campbell is the best co-editor I have ever worked with.

Before we began working on the book, a decision had to be made as to whether we should continue to use cuts under the pictures or to drop the idea. Our grading service, Associated Collegiate Press, suggested that we drop the technique, but student opinion strongly favored continuing our tradition. However, the cuts used in this book are intended to be humorous and entertaining to U of A students. Since college students are supposedly mature enough to take a joke, we unmaliciously submit these for your laughter and enjoyment.

Now that we have gotten all of this out of the way, I want to start telling you about my inexperienced, under-paid, and jovial staff. Judy Johnson, ChiO from Springfield, Missouri, applied to serve as a typist on staff and was immediately selected as associate editor. Judy spent four afternoons a week working on the RAZORBACK, but her Friday afternoons were reserved for Jug's or the Deluxe. However, when there was a deadline to meet, she never failed to show up to do her part and more. Although she wasn't running for Chimes, Mortar Board or Who's Who, she's my choice for most dependable girl in the senior class. She started working in the summer and gave me the blunt opinions that I had requested in order to make the decisions that had to be made by someone.

Catherine Matthews

Through a hot phone tip, I learned that T. J. Patterson loved to type and cherished the idea of living in the RAZORBACK office. It seems that at one time or another, T. J. had typed every page of the book at least once. I'm afraid to mention the sections she edited for fear that I might leave one out.

Then there's Catherine Matthews, that petite North Little Rock girl who started working on the staff as a painter. Then she became organizations editor and a month later, retired after having done an outstanding job. Her cheerfulness and efficiency contributed to the atmosphere of the office, not mentioning the fact that she was the first person to finish a section.

Penny Brannon served as feature editor until she left at semester to become a practice teacher in Fort Smith. Second semester, her assistants, Donna Kay Cochran and Donna Dudney moved up as editors. They held parties in my apartment with some of the brightest wits on campus, including John Sloan, Beth Washburn, and Allen Lee, to write some pretty sharp cuts. Although Dudney and Cochran never appeared organized to me, I suppose that I didn't seem too organized to them. Of course, during elections, nothing was accomplished, because Donna Kay stopped to work for what's-his-name and I did a little campaigning for the candidate of my choice. After winning, we started working again in the same haphazard manner.

T. J. Patterson

In the midst of this disorganization, the feature editors had forgotten that a description of what had happened during the year had to be written for their section. In desperation, they turned to Sue Walk, who had been hanging around the office trying to appear busy. Although none of us believed it, she actually devoted her weekends to meeting the deadlines. She became copy editor and wrote some copy that others, including myself, didn't want to take the time to do. Just for laughs, go back to page 100 and read her copy.

The classes section was edited by Ellen McSpadden, Jan Ellis, Nancy Blake, and Tommie Kay Ebbert, my sister. They spent many hours filing pictures with cards and typing 8,000 names to get their copy to the printer by the deadline. All did, except Jan, who had to take time out to be a RAZORBACK Beauty. After telling me time and time again that she would do it, she finally had to cut her Spring break short to come back to Fayetteville and finish the job. I must comment Tommie Kay, because she has been so much help to me all year. She has run all my errands, cleaned my apartment, and taken part of the blame for some of the stunts that I've pulled this year. What more can I say, but — thank you.

Tommie Kay Ebbert

David Reutzel was one of the editors of the administration section. I didn't know David until he started working on the book and serving as my tutor in statistics. I made a C-, but I understand that some people actually pay him for his services.

Chuck Hemingway seemed to have his heart in the TRAVELER office most of the year. He finally met his December deadline in May, and then we missed the bus. I had to drive to Fort Smith in order to have the material to the printer the next morning. Chuck and I have had our misunderstandings, but he's a great guy, and I wish him the best. I think the misunderstandings have been cleared up.

The introduction of the RAZORBACK was compiled by Kathryn Price, Carole Harris, and Barbara Lyons. The copy was written by Jennifer Jones, one of my favorite people, when she's in the mood. I think her copy is great and especially like the part on competition; I think I understand it best.

I leaned on Pat Brown, secretary to the Dean of Students, a lot this year. She's been here for several years, understands the situation as well as anyone, and always seems to make things look better than they actually are. Some days would have been miserable without having the opportunity to watch her type. (It's a private joke.)

Mr. Farmer, Hill Hall's custodian, kept the place in as good a shape as could be expected. He has been given the impossible task of making Hill Hall look presentable to the public eye.

The bus leaves in an hour, but I must comment on our next-door neighbors, the TRAVELER staff. Sylvia and I, too, have had our differences, just like the difference in opinion as to the largest TRAVELER ever printed. Today, I read the last issue of the TRAVELER where she took credit again for her 20-page issue, printed at the beginning of the year, being the largest on record. I remember, although she doesn't think anyone else does, that in 1960 they published a 24-page TRAVELER. I think that this incident is typical of our misunderstandings throughout the year.

I must now comment on Hank Weaver, our business manager. In our presentations, I proposed a balanced budget while Hank proposed a $2,000 deficit. Our differences have continued all year until this week when he reported to the Board that the RAZORBACK budget would balance. The question remains — is it because Hank spent so little time in the office or despite the little time that he did spend there?

Last year's editor, Johnny Shelby, had promised to remain neutral in the editor's selection. I appreciated his neutrality as well as his sincerity, when he offered to help in any way that he could in the production of this year's book. But, as the saying goes, "thanks, but no thanks."

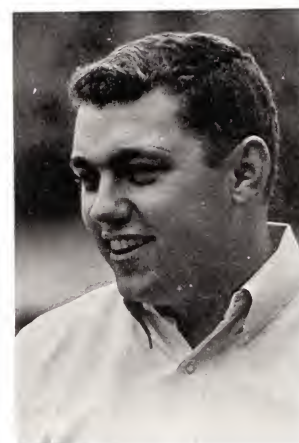

We waited all year to include Gaebale and the Supremes in the book. Gaebale arrived and we covered it. Cal, we'd like to wait another day for the Supremes, but the book must go to press.

At this point, I will say no more about those who tried, in one way or another, to present a problem. Most of the problems were eventually overcome, in one way or another, anyway.

One group that continued to be most helpful to me during my term is the Board of Publications. Kent Burnett, chairman, Carolyn Hall, Darrell Rippey, Charles Mary Webb, Dr. Covington, Mr. Bill Hughes, and Dr. Rudolph have all worked much harder than most students realize to solve the problems that seem to pop up in student publications. This year, they have stood behind me in several critical situations and I have certainly appreciated it.

I cannot close without mentioning another group that has contributed to me this year. This, of course, would be the rest of my family. My parents and Mike, my brother, have been tolerant and understanding. I remained in Fayetteville most of the Christmas and Spring breaks and on numerous weekends to work on the book. After this job is completely finished, I look forward to returning to Jonesboro and spending a little time with the rest of the family.

Until last year it had been customary for the editor to wish the newly-elected editor well in achieving his goal for the next issue of the RAZORBACK. I know that I have made mistakes in this issue of the book, but am extremely grateful and fortunate to have been given the opportunity to serve as editor and business manager of the 1963 RAZORBACK. I will do my best to improve your book.
